Rhythm and Metre Marlein van Raalte, 1986

Towards a Typology of Poetic Forms Jean-Louis Aroui, Andy Arleo, 2009 Metrics is often defined as a discipline that concerns itself with the study of meters In this volume the term is used in a broader sense that more or less coincides with the traditional notion of versification Understood this way metrics is an eminently complex object that displays variation over time and in space that concerns forms of a great variety and with different statuses meters rhymes stanzas prescribed forms syllabification rules nursery rhymes slogans musical textsetting ablaut reduplication etc and that as a cultural manifestation is performed in a variety of ways sung chanted spoken read that can have direct consequences on how it is structured This profusion of forms is thought to correspond at the level of perception to a limited number of cognitive mechanisms that allow us to perceive and to represent regularly iterating forms This volume proposes a relatively coherent overall vision by distinguishing four main families of metrical forms each clearly independent of the others and amenable to separate typologies

Hellenica M. L. West, 2013-12 Hellenica is a three volume selection of ninety or so of M L West s most notable papers relating to Greek literature and thought This third volume contains thirty three pieces chosen from over four decades of publication and one hitherto unpublished Eleven items fall under the heading of philosophy and ten under that of music and metre Most of the remainder are on literary texts and topics The volume is rounded off with a provocative collection of Obiter Dicta culled from the whole body of the author s output The first volume is devoted to early epic and the second to the lyric poets and tragedy Each volume contains a preface indexes and a full list of the author s other writings relating to the areas in question

The Cambridge Companion to Greek Lyric Felix Budelmann, 2009-04-30 Introduction to this wide ranging body of poetry which includes work by such famous poets as Sappho and Pindar Hephaestion on Metre J.M. van Ophuijsen, 2018-07-17 Hephaestion's Encheiridion is the most influential text in the history of metrical scholarship. It has been superseded for some genres of Greek verse but remains basic to the description of others. Its terminology continues to be applied to most of the verse written in Western literary traditions. The present volume offers a translation of the elliptic Greek text and of a parallel account of metre included in Aristides Quintilianus On Music with a commentary, an introduction analyzing the approach of ancient metricians in terms of their own practical aims, an index of all significant words in the Greek texts and an English index. The book is designed to be equally accessible to Greekless students of metre and to Greek scholars. It should enable them to take clear stand with regard to the ancient heritage in this field and to define more unequivocally than has been possible any terms they choose to retain thereby contributing towards greater coherence and consistency in discussion of poetic metre.

The Trajectory of Archaic Greek Trimeters Ippokratis Kantzios, 2017-07-31 This volume makes clear that even within the short period of their floruit archaic Greek trimeters underwent profound changes. The shift in thematology, use of person and vocabulary reveals that iambic verse is a complex definable genre with all the dynamism that implies and with a traceable development. The various chapters examine the subject matter, morphology and diction of the trimeters both within the genre in a diachronic fashion and in relation to elegy. The metrical inscriptions and later iambic poetry are also considered as the author ponders the rise of tragedy and the disappearance of serious iambus. This work is of interest not only to scholars of archaic lyric poetry but also of tragedy and sympotic practices.

Theodoros Prodromos: Miscellaneous Poems Nikos Zagklas, 2023 This book comprises the first critical edition and study of a group of poems by Theodoros Prodromos, a leading poet of 12th century Byzantium accompanied by English translations and commentaries. It adds to a nuanced picture of Prodromos' profile providing insights into his activity at different settings of Constantinopolitan intellectual life.

Ancient Greek Dialects and Early Authors D. Gary Miller, 2013-12-12 Epic is dialectally mixed but Ionic at its core. The proper dialect for elegy was Ionic even when composed by Tyrtaeus in Sparta or Theognis in Megara, both Doric areas. Choral lyric poets represent the major dialect areas: Aeolic (Sappho, Alcaeus), Ionic (Anacreon, Archilochus, Simonides) and Doric (Alcman, Ibycus, Stesichorus, Pindar). Most distinctive are the Aeolic poets. The rest may have a preference for their own dialect, some more than others, but in their Lesbian veneer and mixture of Doric and Ionic forms are to some extent dialectally indistinguishable. All of the ancient authors use a literary language that is artificial from the point of view of any individual dialect. Homer has the most forms that occur in no actual dialect. In this volume, by means of dialectally and chronologically arranged illustrative texts translated and provided with running commentary, some of the early Greek authors are compared against epigraphic records where available from the same period and locality in order to provide an appreciation of the internal history of the Ancient Greek language and its dialects, the evolution of the multilectal artificial poetic language that characterizes the main genres of the most ancient Greek literature especially Homer epic with notes on choral lyric and even the literary language of the prose historian Herodotus the formulaic properties of ancient poetry especially epic genres the development of more complex meters colometric structure and poetic conventions and the basis for decisions about text editing and the selection of a manuscript alternant or emendation that was plausibly used by a given author
