Narratives Of The Discovery Of America:

Narratives of the Discovery of America Christopher Columbus,1931 Narratives of the discovery of america, ed. by a.w. lawrence A. w. (editor) Lawrence,1931 Historical Narratives Mariana Imaz-Sheinbaum,2023-10-27 This book explains some of the psychological processes that go into narrative construction and why it is that we have so much variability of historical accounts about a single historical event A central focus of this book is how historians go from having unconnected units of data to having a coherent structured and organized flow of experiences The author argues that the way these connections are established responds to certain Gestalt psychological principles that allow us to understand not only how histories are constructed but also how this construction can be rather different depending on how these principles are applied To illustrate how these principles are present in histories the author analyzes classic historical writers such as Burckhardt Huizinga Vico and Marx As well as an explanation of why historical multiplicity happens the book also offers a way to evaluate different historical narratives about the same historical event To illustrate how the evaluative framework is at play the author analyzes two views about the so called discovery of America The first one explains what happens in 1492 by using the term discovery The second one uses the notion of invention to talk about the same set of circumstances The book provides an important epistemic tool to evaluate these different accounts one that can be applied not only to this case but also others This book appeals to scholars graduate students and upper level undergraduate students of history and philosophy In addition the book may also attract intellectuals generally considered who are interested in how philosophy can inform and question historical practice Narrative and Critical History of America Justin Winsor,1886 Indian Narratives Henry Trumbull,Mrs. Johnson (Susannah Willard),Zadock Steele,1854 Narrative and Critical History of America: French explorations and settlements in North America, and those of the Portuguese, Dutch, and Swedes, 1500-1700. [c1884] Justin Winsor,1884 Narrative and Critical History of America: Spanish explorations and settlements in America from the fifteenth to the seventeenth century. [c1886] Justin Winsor,1886 Narrative and Critical History of America: French Explorations and Settlements in North America and Those of the Portuguese, Dutch, and Swedes 1500-1700 Various Authors,2020-09-28 THE continents of the earth have two distinct types of form the one regular symmetrical triangular in outline the other without these regularities of shape To the first of these groups belong the continents of Africa and Australia of the Old World and the two Americas of the New to the second the massive continent of Europe and Asia Some have sought to reduce the continent of Asia to the same type as that of the other continents but a glance at a map of the hemispheres will show how different is this Indo European continent from the other land masses These general features of the continents are not only of scientific interest they are of the utmost importance to the history of man s development upon these several lands It is not without meaning that while man has existed for a great length of time upon all the continents the only original civilizations that have been developed have been on the lands of the Indo European continent Working on several different lines of advance several diverse races Aryan Semitic Chinese and perhaps others have risen from the common plane of barbarism and have created complicated social systems languages literatures and arts while on the four other continents despite their great area greater fertility and wider range of physical conditions no race has ever had a native development to be compared with that undergone by the several successful races of Asia and Europe In this great Old World continent there are many highly individualized areas each separated from the rest of the continent by strong geographical barriers it has a dozen or so of great peninsulas upon its seaboard many great islands off its shores and the interior of the land is divided into many separated regions by mountain ridges or by deserts It is a land where man necessarily fell into variety because of the isolation that the geography gave If we look at the other continents namely the Americas Africa and Australia we find that they want this varied and detailed structure They each consist of a great triangular mass with scanty subordinate divisions In all of them put together there are not so many great peninsulas as there are in Europe If we exclude those that are within the Arctic Circle there are but few on the four regular continents none of which compare in size or usefulness to man with the greater peninsulas of the Old World The only one of value is that of Nova Scotia in North America Narratives of the Discovery of America. Edited by A. W. Lawrence and J. Young Arnold Walter Lawrence,1931 Narratives of the Rites and Laws of the Yncas Clements Robert Markham,1873

Narrative and Critical History of America: The English and French in North America, 1689-1763. 1887 Justin Winsor,1887 Christopher Columbus and the New World of His Discovery; a Narrative, with a Note on the Navigation of Columbus's First Voyage by the Earl of Dunraven Filson i.e. Alexander Bell Filson Young,1906 Narrative and Critical History of America: Spanish Explorations and Settlements in America from the Fifteenth to the Seventeenth Century Various Authors,2020-09-28 BEYOND his birth of poor and respectable parents we know nothing positively about the earliest years of Columbus His father was probably a wool comber The boy had the ordinary schooling of his time and a touch of university life during a few months passed at Pavia then at fourteen he chose to become a sailor A seaman's career in those days implied adventures more or less of a piratical kind There are intimations however that in the intervals of this exciting life he followed the more humanizing occupation of selling books in Genoa and perhaps got some employment in the making of charts for he had a deft hand at design We know his brother Bartholomew was earning his living in this way when Columbus joined him in Lisbon in 1470 Previous to this there seems to be some degree of certainty in connecting him with voyages made by a celebrated admiral of his time bearing the same family name Colombo he is also said to have joined the naval expedition of John of Anjou against Naples in 1459 Again he may have been the companion of another notorious corsair a nephew of the one already mentioned as is sometimes maintained but this sea rover's proper name seems to have been more likely Caseneuve though he was sometimes called Coulon or Colon Columbus spent the years 1470 1484 in Portugal It was a time when the air was filled with tales of discovery The captains of Prince Henry of Portugal had been gradually pushing their ships down the African coast and in some of these voyages Columbus was a participant To one of his navigators Prince Henry had given the governorship of the Island of Porto Santo of the Madeira group To the daughter of this man Perestrelo Columbus was married and with his widow Columbus lived and derived what advantage he could from the papers and charts of the old navigator There was a tie between his own and his wife s family in the fact that Perestrelo was an Italian and seems to have been of good family but to have left little or no inheritance for his daughter beyond some property in Porto Santo which Columbus went to enjoy On this island Columbus son Diego was born in 1474

Narratives of Low Countries History and Culture Jane Fenoulhet, Lesley Gilbert, Ulrich Tiedau, 2016-11-07 This edited collection explores the ways in which our understanding of the past in Dutch history and culture can be rethought to consider not only how it forms part of the present but how it can relate also to the future Divided into three parts The Uses of Myth and History The Past as Illumination of Cultural Context and Historiography in Focus this book seeks to demonstrate the importance of the past by investigating the transmission of culture and its transformations It reflects on the history of historiography and looks critically at the products of the historiographic process such as Dutch and Afrikaans literary history The chapters cover a range of disciplines and approaches some authors offer a broad view of a particular period such as Jonathan Israel s contribution on myth and history in the ideological politics of the Dutch Golden Age while others zoom in on specific genres texts or historical moments such as Benjamin Schmidt s study of the doolhof a word that today means labyrinth but once described a 17th century educational amusement park This volume enlightening and home to multiple paths of enquiry leading in different directions is an excellent example of what a past present doolhof might look like

Henry Eduard Legler, 1906 Narratives and Imaginings of Citizenship in Latin America Cristina Rojas, Judy Metzler, 2016-01-08 This book looks at how citizenship has been imagined and transformed in Latin America through the twentieth and early twenty first centuries from different disciplinary perspectives including anthropology history urban planning geography and political studies It looks beyond citizenship as a formal legal status to explore how ideas about citizenship have shaped political and historical landscapes in different ways through the region It shows how conceptions of citizenship are intertwined with understandings of natural spaces and environments how indigenous politics are de colonizing western liberal conceptions of citizenship and how citizenship is being transformed through local level politics and projects for development In addition to showcasing some of the novel emerging forms of citizenship in the region the book also traces the ways in which historical narratives of citizenship and national belonging persist within present day politics Collectively the chapters show that citizenship remains an important entry point for understanding politics projects of reform and struggles for transformation in Latin America This book was published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies

American Beginnings Emerson W. Baker, 1994-01-01 This illustrated collection of essays examines early Native American contact with European explorers fishermen and traders in Norumbega the sixteenth century name of the Atlantic coast of New England near the Penobscot River in Maine This coast was the focus of several French and English voyagers seeking a northwest passage and other avenues to riches and treasure A tacit division gradually emerged the French concentrated on the region north of the Penobscot and the English on the lands to the south The 100 illustrations in this book come largely from the Osher Map Library at the University of Southern Maine and include many rare early maps 1500 1800 Ten are reproduced in full color
