Rewriting The Sacred Text:

Rewriting the Sacred Text Kristin De Troyer, 2003-01-01 Readers may be surprised at the complex course that many biblical texts traveled between original composition and inclusion in the Jewish or Christian canons of Scripture Four different patterns of development are examined and evaluated in this study Forgotten Scriptures Lee Martin McDonald, 2009-01-01 The early Christian church had a variety of Scriptures and other source material that informed their faith and shaped their thinking But after a few centuries the church decided to keep the twenty seven books of our present New Testament and to treat them as a canonical in faith and practice But what of the other books Many of them have survived and remain valuable for understanding the diversity of the early Christian church and the astounding claims of faith on which it was founded Learning about these ancient documents need not threaten the church's current orthodoxy and authority in fact learning about these texts can help today's Christians form a deeper understanding of the early church

Rewriting Maimonides Igor H. De Souza, 2018-09-10 The series Jewish Thought Philosophy and Religion aims to present a wide spectrum of studies and texts related to Jewish thought philosophy and religion from antiquity to the present It seeks to highlight the multiplicity of approaches within Judaism and to shed light on the interaction between Jewish and non Jewish thought JTPR is edited on behalf of the Maimonides Centre for Advanced Studies at the University of Hamburg Further book series of the Maimonides Centre for Advanced Studies are Studies and Texts in Scepticism and the Yearbook of the Maimonides Centre for Advanced Studies The Yearbook 2016 was published as volume 1 of the series Jewish Thought Philosophy and Religion From 2017 onwards the Yearbook is published as a separate series Textual Criticism and Sacred Texts Signe Cohen, 2023-03-20 In Textual Criticism and Sacred Texts Signe Cohen looks at the text critical scholarship on sacred texts across disciplines She traces the development of the genealogical method and discusses its role in textual criticism today The book examines the applicability of traditional text critical methods to oral texts as well as the roles of translations and commentaries in textual criticism Cohen then turns to the under theorized question of the relationship between religion and text critical scholarship and outlines ethics of textual criticism applied to religious texts She then discusses how new digital technologies will change the textual scholarship of the future and proposes new ways that scholars can collaborate across sub disciplines Rewriting Moses Brian Britt, 2004-08-01 Exalted for centuries as a hero and author of the Bible Moses is inseparable from biblical tradition itself Moses is also an inherently ambiguous figure and a perennial focus of controversy from ancient disputes of priestly rivalry to modern issues of class gender and race In Rewriting Moses Brian Britt analyses elements of polemic and ideology in the Moses of the Bible of film novel visual art and scholarship He argues that the biblical Moses lives within writing while the post biblical Moses lives more often in biography Yet later rewritings of Moses refract biblical traditions of writing in surprising ways Rewriting Moses provides an original account of the Freudian insight that traditions preserve what they repress This is volume 14 in the Gender Culture Theory series and is volume 402 in the Journal for the Study of the Old Testament Supplements series

The Formation of the Biblical Canon: Volume 1 Lee Martin McDonald, 2017-01-26 Lee Martin McDonald provides a magisterial overview of the development of the biblical canon the emergence of the list of individual texts that constitutes the Christian bible In these two volumes in sum more than double the length of his previous works McDonald presents his most in depth overview to date McDonald shows students and researchers how the list of texts that constitute the bible was once far more fluid than it is today and guides readers through the minefield of different texts different versions and the different lists of texts considered canonical that abounded in antiquity Questions of the origin and transmission of texts are introduced as well as consideration of innovations in the presentation of texts collections of documents archaeological finds and Church councils In this first volume McDonald reexamines issues of canon formation once considered settled and sets the range of texts that make up the Hebrew Bible or Old Testament in their broader context Each individual text is discussed as are the cultural political and historical situations surrounding them The second volume considers the New Testament and the range of so called apocryphal gospels that were written in early centuries and used by many Christian groups before the canon was closed Also included are comprehensive appendices which show various canon lists for both Old and New Testaments and for the bible as a whole

Forbidden Texts on the Western Frontier Tony Burke, 2016-01-28 North American study of the Christian Apocrypha is known principally for its interest in using noncanonical texts to reconstruct the life and teachings of Jesus and for its support of Walter Bauer s theory on the development of early Christianity The papers in this volume presented in September 2013 at York University in Toronto challenge that simplistic assessment by demonstrating that U S and Canadian scholarship on the Christian Apocrypha is rich and diverse The topics covered in the papers include new developments in the study of canon formation the interplay of Christian Apocrypha and texts from the Nag Hammadi library digital humanities resources for reconstructing apocryphal texts and the value of studying late antique apocrypha Among the highlights of the collection are papers from a panel by three celebrated New Testament scholars reassessing the significance of the Christian Apocrypha for the study of the historical Jesus Forbidden Texts on the Western Frontier demonstrates the depth and breadth of Christian Apocrypha studies in North America and offers a glimpse at the achievements that lie ahead in the field

The Book of Revelation and Early Jewish Textual Culture Garrick V. Allen, 2017-07-03 The Book of Revelation and Early Jewish Textual Culture explores the relationship between the writing of Revelation and its early audience especially its interaction with Jewish Scripture It touches on several areas of scholarly inquiry in biblical studies including modes of literary production the use of allusions practices of exegesis and early engagements with the Book of Revelation Garrick Allen brings the Book of Revelation into the broader context of early Jewish literature including the Dead Sea Scrolls and other important works Arguing that the author of the New Testament Apocalypse was a scribal expert someone who was well versed in the content of Jewish Scripture and its interpretation he demonstrates that John was not only a seer and prophet but also an erudite reader of scripture The Parabiblical Texts Daniel K. Falk, 2007-05-03 This book introduces the reader to a fascinating genre of writings that retell biblical narratives in various ways They reflect the concerns and methods of early Jewish interpreters of Scripture Daniel Falk surveys the content and major scholarly issues of three key examples Genesis Apocryphon 1QapGen Reworked Pentateuch 4Q158 364 5 and Commentary to Genesis 4Q252 4 Particular attention is paid to exploring why and how the authors interpret the Scriptural text in their distinctive ways The book traces continuity and discontinuity with other Jewish and Christian traditions and reflects on the significance of these texts for the status of Scripture and the boundary between Scripture and interpretation Drawing on the latest research and reconstructions of the texts and with extensive bibliographies this is an authoritative guide for the student or the non specialist scholar Erasing and Rewriting in Manuscript Cultures Michele Cammarosano, 2025-11-13 Across the most diverse societies the reuse of writing surfaces in contexts such as learning to write note taking literary creation and bookkeeping has been not only desirable but essential to optimising resources In these contexts it has been typical to use erasable media of various kinds a practice which in turn has had important implications for palaeography literary creation and virtually every aspect related to writing Manuscript cultures addressed the quest for rewritability through using permanently recyclable materials such as clay and wax tablets special technologies such as erasable coatings and ingenious strategies for reusing papyrus parchment paper wood and more This volume systematically explores the fascinating intersection between the potential ephemerality of the written word and the reusability of its supports It combines a theoretical framework on rewritability with case studies on materials related technologies and their interplay with competing techniques spanning from ancient Mesopotamia to present day Nigeria from Egypt to Japan from Greece and Rome to the Arab world In doing so the volume illuminates a crucial aspect of cultural history relevant to anyone studying the written word
