Rhetoric Of The Gospel:

The Rhetoric of the Gospel, Second Edition C. Clifton Black, 2013-07-29 While most books on biblical rhetoric focus primarily on the epistles this volume from prominent scholar C Clifton Black considers the variety of rhetorical critical approaches now being applied to the Gospels including Luke Acts This updated edition takes into account recent research since the first volume was published in 2001 and features two brand new chapters Black provides an overview of the different forms of rhetorical criticism with examples from the Gospel of John studies of characterization in Matthew and Luke an analysis of classical rhetorical criteria found in Mark and Luke Acts and an analysis of the rhetoric of the parables with implications for contemporary preaching Early Christian Rhetoric Amos N. Wilder, 2014-05-06 An illuminating New Testament study depicts the power and beauty of language that speaks with the words of God and man Words call man to battle or summon him to prayer More and more today man is analyzing his language and asking What is the purpose of language What do the words we speak mean What is their religious significance Dr Wilder s extraordinary work attempts to answer these questions and in particular to study the qualities of the language that ushered in a new religion the early Christian faith

Rhetoric and Reference in the Fourth Gospel Margaret Davies, 1992-10-01 This innovative study attempts a comprehensive reading of the Fourth Gospel so as to make sense of its theology anthropology and history The most valuable insights of structuralism and reader response criticism have been taken up without ignoring what those methods ignore namely questions intrinsically related to the Fourth Gospel itself Moreover a just appreciation of the text requires the reader to recognize that particular historical situations affect the nature of any narrative

Jesus, Rhetoric and Law Ian H. Henderson, 1996 This book uses Greco Roman theories and practice of gnomic speech to elaborate a rhetorical critical model of the interaction of memory performance and composition in the public discourse of Jesus and of both his oral and gospel writing interpreters

The Rhetoric of Jesus in the Gospel of Mark Michael Strickland, David M. Young, 2017-11-15 Young and Strickland analyze the four largest discourses of Jesus in Mark in the context of Greco Roman rhetoric in an attempt to hear them as a first century audience would have heard them The authors demonstrate that contrary to what some historical critics have suggested first century audiences of Mark would have found the discourses of Jesus unified well integrated and persuasive They also show how these speeches of the Markan Jesus contribute to Mark s overall narrative accomplishments

The Rhetoric of Characterization of God, Jesus and Jesus' Disciples in the Gospel of Mark Paul L. Danove, 2005-03-28 This study develops a method for analyzing the semantic and narrative rhetoric of repetition and the narrative rhetoric and function of characterization and applies this method in studies of the characterization of God Jesus and Jesus disciples in the Gospel of Mark The studies of characterization distinguish beliefs that are assumed for the audience from beliefs that the narration cultivates for the audience identifies the rhetorical relationships and organization of cultivated beliefs and clarifies the contribution of each character s portrayal to the overall narrative development of Mark

The study then considers the contribution of the characterization of the women at the tomb to the portrayal of Jesus disciples and narrative developments A concluding inquiry investigates the possible applications of the studies of characterization for determining the rhetorical exigency of the narration and for formulating statements of Mark s proposed theology

The Gospel of John in Cultural and Rhetorical Perspective Jerome H. Neyrey, 2009-11-10 Johns Gospel has been studied and evaluated and interpreted constantly by theologians throughout the ages Can anything more possibly be said Jerome Neyrey says it can indeed by interpreting it in two fresh ways by means of ancient rhetoric and by viewing it in its cultural context In order to find patterns and concepts that have a bearing on how to read John Neyrey examines the rhetoric of praise and blame described in the ancient encomium the Greek commonplace on noble death rules for rhetorical conclusions and Jewish background materials He then uses materials from cultural anthropology such as the effects of limited good and envy secrecy and brokerage Even innocent topics such as time and space have much to say about interpreting the figure of Jesus In viewing John through these two lenses The Gospel of John in Cultural and Rhetorical Perspective brings the book into clear focus as a truly maverick gospel

Follow Me! Whitney Taylor Shiner, 1995 This work applies narrative and rhetorical analysis to an interpretation of Mark and specifically the rhetorical role portrayed by the disciples The rhetorical function of the disciples in the call stories the misunderstanding of the parables and miracles and Peter s reaction to the first passion prediction are examined in light of how students were depicted in Greek philosophical biographies and the presentation of the teacher of Wisdom in Ben Sira The author succeeds in demonstrating how Mark is structured more according to rhetorical coherence than to narrative logic

New Testament Interpretation Through Rhetorical Criticism George A. Kennedy, 2014-02-01 New Testament Interpretation through Rhetorical Criticism provides readers of the Bible with an important tool for understanding the Scriptures Based on the theory and practice of Greek rhetoric in the New Testament George Kennedy s approach acknowledges that New Testament writers wrote to persuade an audience of the truth of their messages These writers employed rhetorical conventions that were widely known and imitated in the society of the times Sometimes confirming but often challenging common interpretations of texts this is the first systematic study of the rhetorical composition of the New Testament As a complement to form criticism historical criticism and other methods of biblical analysis rhetorical criticism focuses on the text as we have it and seeks to discover the basis of its powerful appeal and the intent of its authors Kennedy shows that biblical writers employed both external modes of persuasion such as scriptural authority the evidence of miracles and the testimony of witnesses and internal methods such as ethos authority and character of the speaker pathos emotional appeal to the audience and logos deductive and inductive argument in the text In the opening chapter Kennedy presents a survey of how rhetoric was taught in the New Testament period and outlines a rigorous method of rhetorical criticism that involves a series of steps He provides in succeeding chapters examples of rhetorical analysis looking closely at the Sermon on the Mount the Sermon on the Plain Jesus farewell to the disciples in John
