Rhetoric Reason And Society Vol 1 Rationality As Dialogue:

Epistolary Community in Print, 1580-1664 Diana G. Barnes, 2016-05-13 Epistolary Community in Print contends that the printed letter is an inherently sociable genre ideally suited to the theorisation of community in early modern England In manual prose or poetic form printed letter collections make private matters public and in so doing reveal first how tenuous is the divide between these two realms in the early modern period and second how each collection helps to constitute particular communities of readers Consequently as Epistolary Community details epistolary visions of community were gendered This book provides a genealogy of epistolary discourse beginning with an introductory discussion of Gabriel Harvey and Edmund Spenser s Wise and Wittie Letters 1580 and opening into chapters on six printed letter collections generated at times of political change Among the authors whose letters are examined are Angel Day Michael Drayton Jacques du Bosque and Margaret Cavendish Epistolary Community identifies broad patterns that were taking shape and constantly morphing in English printed letters from 1580 to 1664 and then considers how the six examples of printed letters selected for discussion manipulate this generic tradition to articulate ideas of community under specific historical and political circumstances This study makes a substantial contribution to the rapidly growing field of early modern letters and demonstrates how the field impacts our understanding of political discourses in circulation between 1580 and 1664 early modern women s writing print culture and rhetoric

Rhetoric, Reason and Society George Myerson, 1994 This text considers the ambiguous identity of reason in contemporary social and cultural thought Grounded in modern rhetoric it develops and evaluates the link between reason and dialogue using the central concept of dialogic rationalism

Pragmatism and Political Theory Matthew Festenstein, 1997-12-22 Pragmatism has enjoyed a considerable revival in the latter part of the twentieth century but what precisely constitutes pragmatism remains a matter of dispute In reconstructing the pragmatic tradition in political philosophy Matthew Festenstein rejects the idea that it is a single cohesive doctrine His incisive analysis brings out the commonalities and shared concerns among contemporary pragmatists while making clear their differences in how they would resolve those concerns His study begins with the work of John Dewey and the moral and psychological conceptions that shaped his philosophy Here Festenstein lays out the major philosophic issues with which first Dewey and then his heirs would grapple The book s second part traces how Dewey s approach has been differently developed especially in the work of three contemporary pragmatic thinkers Richard Rorty Jurgen Habermas and Hilary Putnam This first full length critical study of the relationship between the pragmatist tradition and political philosophy fills a significant gap in contemporary thought

India, Habermas and the Normative Structure of Public Sphere Muzaffar Ali, 2023-05-19 This book examines how the contemporary Indian situation poses a strict theoretical challenge to Habermas's theorization of the public sphere and employs the method of samvada to critically analyse and dissect its universalist claims It invites the reader to consider the possibility of imagining a normative Indian public sphere that is embedded in the Indian context in a native and not nativist sense to get past the derivative language of philosophical and political discourses prevalent within Indian academia The book proposes that the dynamic cooperative space between Indian political theory and contemporary Indian philosophy is effectively suited to theorize the native idea of the Indian public sphere It underlines the normative need for a natively theorized Indian public sphere to further the multilayered democratization of public spheres within diverse communities that constitute Indian society The book will be a key read for contemporary studies in philosophy political theory sociology postcolonial theory history and media and communication studies
