Scotland In Film:

Scotland in Film Forsyth Hardy, 1990-01 From Whisky Galore and Edge of the World to Local Hero and Highlander Scotland has been presented on film in various degrees of reality by both Hollywood and British film makers This book gives an illustrated analysis of the myth and reality in Scottish films over the last 60 years It surveys and summarizes each film in chronological order and places it in historical context Production details of the more important films are discussed and the difficulties of funding in Britain are outlined The book also examines the whole problem of presenting a realistic and recognizable picture of national life and achievement in Scotland

Directory of World Cinema: Scotland Bob Nowlan, Zach Finch, 2015-05-29 Scotland its people and its history have long been a source of considerable fascination and inspiration for filmmakers film scholars and film audiences worldwide A significant number of critically acclaimed films made in the last twenty five years have ignited passionate conversations and debates about Scottish national cinema Its historical industrial and cultural complexities and contradictions have made it all the more a focus of attention and interest for both popular audiences and scholarly critics Directory of World Cinema Scotland provides an introduction to many of Scottish cinema s most important and influential themes and issues films and filmmakers while adding to the ongoing discussion concerning how to make sense of Scotland s cinematic traditions and contributions Chapters on filmmakers range from Murray Grigor to Ken Loach and Gaelic filmmaking radical and engaged cinema production finance and documentary are just a few of the topics explored Film reviews range from popular box office hits such as Braveheart and Trainspotting to lesser known but equally engaging independent and lower budget productions such as Shell and Orphans This book is both a stimulating and accessible resource for a wide range of readers interested in Scottish film

Scotland in feature film Sandra-Elisabeth Haider, 2002-11-22 Inhaltsangabe Abstract At Glasgow s University Library I discovered a book about Scotland on film Scotch Reels Originally Scotch Reels is the title of a research carried out in 1982 about the depiction of Scotland on screen It was revealed then that the predominant image of Scotland was very much engaged with stereotypes defined as the heather and haggis image by one of the book s critics and had obviously nothing to do with the contemporary reality of Scotland Not surprisingly that radical view has found a lot of stern critics On superficial examination when I think of all the recent films set in Scotland ranging from the historical epos Braveheart to the contemporary fast paced drug story Trainspotting to mention two of the more popular examples it seems to me that contemporary films set in Scotland show a wider spectrum of Scottish life than they apparently did before the 1980s when the stories were mostly with a few exceptions only set in the Highlands or on an island in a community far away from contemporary modern and industrial life As a classic example of those films one can mention the musical Brigadoon by Vicente Minnelli from the year 1954 However in my thesis I want to concentrate on films set in the City of Glasgow since there would be far too much material concerned if I considered every single available recent film set in Scotland I would like to find out whether the image of Glasgow has improved or widened in its conception through the release of recent films compared to its depiction in older movies As I could not analyse all recent feature films set in Glasgow in this context I decided to concentrate on a few examples By taking a closer look at these films I hope to be able to demonstrate how varied or one sided as will be determined the contemporary portrayal of the city is I do not want to omit mentioning my awareness of the fact that my selection is very subjective Had I selected other movies the result would naturally have been a different one Also I have not taken into account television films or series set in the Glasgow area Especially in recent years a whole range of series has been produced and broadcasted for instance the surreal hospital drama Psychos starring Douglas Henshall the controversial Tinsel Town set in Glasgow s lively clubbing scene or Glasgow Kiss which portrays the city as a modern airy place inhabited by sympathetic educated middle class people

Saving Cinema Caroline Frick, 2011-01-01 The importance of media preservation has in recent years achieved much broader public recognition From the vaults of Hollywood and the halls of Congress to the cash strapped museums of developing nations people are working to safeguard film from physical harm But the forces at work aren't just physical The endeavor is also inherently political What gets saved and why What remains ignored Who makes these decisions and what criteria do they use Saving Cinema narrates the development of the preservation movement and lays bare the factors that have influenced its direction Archivists do more than preserve movie history they actively produce and codify cinematic heritage At the same time digital technologies have produced an entirely new reality one that resists the material artifact driven approach that is the gold standard of preservation in the Western world As it has become increasingly easy to capture and access moving images increasing evidence of something many archivists have known for years has emerged industrial and training films amateur travel diaries and even family videos are critical public resources It has also raised question about the role of the profession Is access equivalent to preservation and if it is how should archivists alter their activities The time is ripe for a reconsideration of the politics and practices of preservation Saving Cinema is the book to guide that conversation

The Routledge Companion to European Cinema Gábor Gergely, Susan Hayward, 2021-12-29 Presenting new and diverse scholarship this wide ranging collection of 43 original chapters asks what European cinema tells us about Europe The book engages with European cinema that attends to questions of European colonial racialized and gendered power seeks to decentre Europe itself not merely its putative centres and interrogate Europe's various conceptualizations from a variety of viewpoints. It explores the broad complex and heterogeneous communities produced in and by European films taking in Kurdish Hollywood and Singapore cinema as comfortably as the cinema of Poland, Spanish colonial films or the European gangster genre. Chapters cover numerous topics including individual films, film movements, filmmakers, stars, scholarship, representations and identities, audiences, production practices, genres and more, all analysed in their contexts so as to construct an image of Europe as it emerges from Europe's film corpus. The Companion opens the study of European cinema to a broad readership and is ideal for students and scholars in film, European studies, queer studies and cultural studies as well as historians with an interest in audio-visual culture, nationalism and transnationalism and those working in language-based area studies. The Education of the Filmmaker in Europe, Australia, and Asia M. Hjort, 2013-07-17. Practice-based film education is a crucial element in the institutional landscape of film. This book fills the gap in understanding practice-based film scholarship focusing on Europe, Asia and Australia.
