The Female Pen Bridget G. Young* Chiara Briganti,Kathy Mezei,2016-12-05 Domestic Modernism the Interwar Novel and E H Young provides a valuable analytical model for reading a large body of modernist works by women who have suffered not only from a lack of critical attention but from the assumption that experimental modernist techniques are the only expression of the modern In the process of documenting the publication and reception history of E H Young's novels the authors suggest a paradigm for analyzing the situation of women writers during the interwar years Their discussion of Young in the context of both canonical and noncanonical writers challenges the generic label and literary status of the domestic novel as well as facile assumptions about popular and middlebrow fiction canon formation aesthetic value and modernity The authors also make a significant contribution to discussions of the everyday and to the burgeoning field of homeculture as they show that the fictional embodiment and inscription of home by writers such as Young Virginia Woolf Elizabeth Bowen Ivy Compton Burnett Lettice Cooper E M Delafield Stella Gibbons Storm Jameson and E Arnot Robertson epitomize the long standing symbiosis between architecture and literature or more specifically between the house and the novel The Age of Liberation Paul Henderson Scott,2008 British Book News ,1990 The Outside Thing Hannah Roche,2019-05-28 In a lecture delivered before the University of Oxford's Anglo French Society in 1936 Gertrude Stein described romance as the outside thing that is always a thing to be felt inside Hannah Roche takes Stein's definition as a principle for the reinterpretation of three major modernist lesbian writers showing how literary and affective romance played a crucial yet overlooked role in the works of Stein Radclyffe Hall and Djuna Barnes The Outside Thing offers original readings of both canonical and peripheral texts including Stein's first novel Q E D Things As They Are Hall's Adam's Breed and The Well of Loneliness and Barnes's early writing alongside Nightwood Is there an inside space for lesbian writing or must it always seek refuge elsewhere Crossing established lines of demarcation between the in and the out the real and the romantic and the Victorian and the modernist

The Outside Thing presents romance as a heterosexual plot upon which lesbian writers willfully set up camp. These writers boldly adopted and adapted the romance genre Roche argues as a means of staking a queer claim on a heteronormative institution. Refusing to submit or surrender to the straight traditions of the romance plot, they turned the rules to their advantage. Drawing upon extensive archival research, The Outside Thing is a significant rethinking of the interconnections between queer writing, lesbian living, and literary modernism. Books in Series, 1876-1949 R.R. Bowker Company, 1982

The Private Rod Marlene Tromp, 2000. Sensation novels, a genre characterized by scandalous narratives and emotionally and socially provocative dialogue and plots, had their heyday in England in the 1860s and 1870s in the midst of growing concern about codes of behavior in marriage. Exploring the central metaphor of marital violence in these novels, Marlene Tromp uncovers the relationship between the representations of such violence in fiction and in the law. Her investigation demonstrates that sensational constructions of gender, marriage, brutal relationships, and even murder were gradually incorporated into legal debates and realist fiction as the Victorian understanding of what was real changed from publisher description. British Boarding Houses in Interwar Women's Literature Terri Mullholland, 2016-10-04. Embraced for the dramatic opportunities afforded by a house full of strangers, the British boarding house emerged as a setting for novels published during the interwar period by a diverse range of women writers, from Stella Gibbons to Virginia Woolf. To use the single room in the boarding house or bedsit, Terri Mullholland argues, is to foreground a particular experience. While the single room represents the freedoms of independent living available to women in the early twentieth century, it also marks the precariousness of unmarried women's lives. By placing their characters in this transient space, women writers could explore women's changing social roles and complex experiences: amateur prostitution, lesbian relationships, extra-marital affairs, and abortion. Outside traditional domestic narrative concerns, Mullholland presents new readings of works by canonical and non-canonical writers, including Stella Gibbons, Winifred Holtby, Storm Jameson, Rosamond Lehmann, Dorothy Richardson, Jean Rhys, and Virginia Woolf. A hybrid of the modernist and realist domestic fiction, written and read by women, the literature of the single room merges modernism's interest in interior psychological states with the realism of precisely documented exterior spaces, offering a new mode of engagement with the two forms of interiority. Orientalism and the Reception of Powerful Women from the Ancient World Filippo Carlà-Uhink, Anja Wieber, 2020-02-06. Why is Cleopatra a descendent of Alexander the Great, a Ptolemy from a Greek Macedonian family, in popular imagination, an Oriental woman? True, she assumed some aspects of pharaonic imagery in order to rule Egypt, but her Orientalism mostly derives from ancient Roman and modern stereotypes. Both the Orient and the idea of a woman in power are signs in the Western tradition of otherness, and in this sense they can easily overlap and interchange. This volume investigates how ancient women, and particularly powerful women such as queens and empresses, have been reimagined in Western and not only Western arts. It highlights how this reimagining and revisualization is more often than not the product of Orientalist stereotypes, even when dealing with women.

who had nothing to do with Eastern regions and compares these images with examples of Eastern gaze on the same women Through the chapters in this volume readers will discover the similarities and differences in the ways in which women in power were and still are described and decried by their opponents At Mrs Lippincote's Elizabeth Taylor,2011-09-29 The debut novel from Elizabeth Taylor shortlisted for the Booker Prize Mrs Lippincote's house with its mahogany furniture and yellowing photographs stands as a reminder of all the certainties that have vanished with the advent of war Temporarily this is home for Julia who has joined her husband Roddy at the behest of the RAF Although she can accept the pomposities of service life Julia's honesty and sense of humour prevent her from taking her role as seriously as her husband that leader of men might wish for Roddy merely love cannot suffice he needs homage as well as admiration And Julia while she may be a most unsatisfactory officer's wife is certainly no hypocrite Her stories remain with one indelibly as though they had been some turning point in one's own experience Elizabeth Bowen No writer has described the English middle classes with more gently devastating accuracy Rebecca Abrams Spectator A Game of Hide and Seek showcases much of what makes Taylor a great novelist piercing insight a keen wit and a genuine sense of feeling for her characters Elizabeth Day Guardian

Janeites Deidre Lynch,2020-07-21 Over the last decade as Jane Austen has moved center stage in our culture onto best seller lists and into movie houses another figure has slipped into the spotlight alongside her This is the Janeite the zealous reader and fan whose devotion to the novels has been frequently invoked and often derided by the critical establishment Jane Austen has long been considered part of a great literary tradition even legitimizing the academic study of novels However the Janeite phenomenon has not until now aroused the curiosity of scholars interested in the politics of culture Rather than lament the fact that Austen today shares the headlines with her readers the contributors to this collection inquire into why this is the case ask what Janeites do and explore the myriad appropriations of Austen adaptations reviews rewritings and appreciations that have been produced since her lifetime The articles move from the nineteenth century lending library to the modern cineplex and discuss how novelists as diverse as Cooper Woolf James and Kipling have claimed or repudiated their Austenian inheritance As case studies in reception history they pose new questions of long loved novels as well as new questions about Austen's relation to Englishness about the boundaries between elite and popular cultures and amateur and professional readerships and about the cultural work performed by the realist novel and the marriage plot The contributors are Barbara M Benedict Mary A Favret Susan Fraiman William Galperin Claudia L Johnson Deidre Lynch Mary Ann O Farrell Roger Sales Katie Trumpener and Clara Tuite Miss Mole E.H. Young,2020-10-01 Young is a sharp and funny writer with a brilliant eye for moral fudging and verbal hypocrisy and she has a splendid foil in Miss Mole Sally Beauman WINNER OF THE JAMES TAIT BLACK MEMORIAL PRIZE Who would suspect her sense of fun and irony of a passionate love for beauty and the power to drag it from its hidden places Who would imagine that Miss Mole had pictured herself at different times as an explorer in strange lands as a lady wrapped in luxury and delicate garments Miss Hannah Mole has for twenty years earned her living precariously as a governess or companion to a succession of difficult old women Now aged forty a thin and shabby figure she returns to Radstowe the lovely city of her youth Here she is if not exactly welcomed at least employed as housekeeper by the pompous Reverend Robert Corder whose daughters are sorely in need of guidance But even the dreariest situation can be transformed into an adventure by the indomitable Miss Mole Blessed with imagination wit and intelligence she wins the affection of Ethel and her nervous sister Ruth But her past holds a secret that if brought to life would jeopardise everything

The Yellow Wallpaper And Selected Writings Charlotte Perkins Gilman,2009-05-07 INTRODUCED BY MAGGIE O FARRELL A great work of literature the product of a questing burning intellect MAGGIE O FARRELL Even if the themes being explored might seem irrelevant that this is not the case GUARDIAN I loved the unnerving sarcastic tone the creepy ending PARIS REVIEW It is stripped off the paper in great patches The colour is repellent In the places where it isn't faded and where the sun is just so I can see a strange provoking formless sort of figure that seems to skulk about Based on the author's own experiences The Yellow Wallpaper is the chilling tale of a woman driven to the brink of insanity by the rest cure prescribed after the birth of her child Isolated in a crumbling colonial mansion in a room with bars on the windows the tortuous pattern of the yellow wallpaper winds its way into the recesses of her mind Charlotte Perkins Gilman was America's leading feminist intellectual of the early twentieth century In addition to her masterpiece The Yellow Wallpaper this edition includes a selection of her best short fiction and extracts from her autobiography

Suburban Space, the Novel and Australian Modernity Brigid Rooney,2018-11-15 Suburban Space the Novel and Australian Modernity investigates the interaction between suburbs and suburbia in a century long series of Australian novels It puts the often trenchantly anti suburban rhetoric of fiction in dialogue with its evocative and imaginative rendering of suburban place and time Suburban Space the Novel and Australian Modernity rethinks existing cultural debates about suburbia in Australia and elsewhere by putting novelistic representations of suburbs suburban interiors homes streets forms and lives over time in dialogue with the often negative idea of suburbia in fiction as an amnesic and conformist cultural wasteland Suburban space the novel and Australian modernity shows in other words how Australian novels dramatize the collision between the sensory terrain of the remembered suburb and the cultural critique of suburbia It is through such contradictions that novels create resonant mental maps of place and time Australian novels are a prism through which suburbs as sites of everyday colonization defined by successive waves of urban development are able to be glimpsed sidelong
