Models And Reality In Economics Advances In Economic Methodology:

Models and Reality in Economics Steven Rappaport, 1998 Models and Reality in Economics is an important contribution to the philosophy of economics and the conduct of inquiry in economics. It examines what economists do and what economics is about. The book opens with a critical discussion of the work of McCloskey and the rhetorical approach to understanding economics. It then goes on to address the question of whether economics is a science. In answering this question, the author examines three main concepts: first, whether economics meets a methodological standard, concluding that if the standard is not reached, then it is a non-science; secondly, whether economics has a certain kind of content, such as a body of fundamental laws; and finally, whether it includes ideal theories or hypotheses which omit certain real-world complications. From this discussion, the author suggests that the rhetorical approach and the question of whether economics is a science should be replaced with the idea that models are the central foundation of economic inquiry. He goes on to discuss the character of economic models and the idea that much economic thinking is concerned with the construction of models to resolve conceptual problems and explain real-world economic phenomena. The book sheds new light on existing methodology and proposes new areas for future research. Models and Reality in Economics will be welcomed by those interested in the developments in economic methodology and philosophy and those concerned with the progress and prospects of economics in general.

Handbook of Research Methods in Behavioural Economics Morris Altman, 2023-03-02 This comprehensive Handbook addresses a wide variety of methodological approaches adopted and developed by behavioural economists, exploring the implications of such innovations for analysis and policy.

Artificial Intelligence: Methodology, Systems, and Applications Petia Koprinkova-Hristova, Nikola Kasabov, 2025-01-31 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 19th International Conference on Artificial Intelligence Methodology Systems and Applications AIMSAS 2024 held in Varna, Bulgaria, during September 18-20, 2024. The 18 revised full papers presented in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 23 submissions. They cover a wide range of topics in AI and its applications: natural language processing, sentiment analysis, image processing, optimization, reinforcement learning, from deep ANNs to spike-timing NNs, applications in economics, medicine, and process control.

Economics and Reality Tony Lawson, 1997 Discusses and critiques the current practice of economics.

The Nature and Method of Economic Sciences Ricardo F. Crespo, 2020-03-04 The Nature and Method of Economic Sciences: Evidence, Causality, and Ends argues that economic phenomena can be examined from five analytical levels: a statistical descriptive approach, a causal explanatory approach, a teleological explicative approach, a normative approach, and finally, the level of application. The above viewpoints are undertaken by different but related economic sciences, including statistics and economic history, positive economics, normative economics, and the art of political economy. Typically, positive economics has analysed economic phenomena using the second approach, causally explaining and often trying to predict the future evolution of the economy. It has not been concerned with the ends selected.

by the individual or society taking them as given However various new economic currents have emerged during the last 40 years and some of these do assign a fundamental role to ends within economics This book argues that the field of positive economics should adapt to deal with the issues that arise from this The text attempts to discern the nature of economic phenomena introducing the different approaches and corresponding economic sciences It goes on to analyse the epistemological characteristics of these in the subsequent chapters as well as their disciplinary interrelations This book is a valuable resource for students and scholars of the social sciences philosophy and the philosophy of economics It will also be of interest to those researching political economy and the development of economic thought A Model-Theoretic Realist

Interpretation of Science E.B. Ruttkamp, 2013-03-14 In this book Emma Ruttkamp demonstrates the power of the full blown employment of the model theoretic paradigm in the philosophy of science Within this paradigm she gives an account of sciences as process and product She expounds the received statement and the non statement views of science and shows how the model theoretic approach resolves the spurious tension between these views In this endeavour she also engages the views of a number of contemporary philosophers of science with affinity to model theory This text can be read by specialists working in philosophy of science or formal semantics by logicians working on the structure of theories and by students in philosophy of science this text offers a thorough introduction to non statement accounts of sciences as well as a discussion of the traditional statement account of science Recent Developments in Economic Methodology John Bryan Davis, 2006

Producing Prosperity Randall Holcombe, 2013-01-03 The substantial prosperity that characterizes market economies at the beginning of the twenty first century is relatively recent in human history Prior to the Industrial Revolution economic progress was so slow that people would not have been able to recognize it in their lifetimes whereas today economic progress is so much a part of people's lives that they take it for granted In this new volume Randall G Holcombe argues that economic analysis as it developed through the twentieth century relies heavily on concepts of economic equilibrium and is not descriptive of the dynamic real world economy that is characterized by economic progress Even in dynamic settings economic models focus on income growth leaving out the entrepreneurial forces that generate economic progress resulting in the introduction of new goods and services and new production processes Economic analysis focuses on the forces that lead to an economic equilibrium not the forces that produce prosperity This characterization of economic analysis describes a substantial component of economics as it has developed over the past century However there are also economists who have analyzed the factors that lead to an entrepreneurial and innovative economy generating progress rather than equilibrium This volume does not question the value of past research but argues that looking ahead economics should build on its past to focus on factors that create an entrepreneurial and innovative economy that is characterized by progress and prosperity This would make economic analysis more consistent with the remarkable progress and prosperity that characterizes the modern economy This volume lays out a framework for economic analysis that consistently incorporates the real world factors that produce prosperity Essays in Honour of Victoria Chick: Methodology, microeconomics, and Keynes Victoria Chick, 2002 This volume a companion to Money Macroeconomics and Keynes represents both consolidation and the breaking of new ground in Keynesian methodology and microeconomics by leading figures in these fields Developments in the Methodology of Social Science W. Leinfellner, Eckehart Köhler, 2012-12-06 Philosophy of Science deals with the problem What is science It seems that the answer to this question can only be found if we have an answer to the question How does science function Thus the study of the methodology of social sciences is a prominent factor in any analysis of these sciences The history of philosophy shows clearly that the answer to the question How does science function was the conditio sine qua non of any kind of philosophy of science epistemology and even of logic Aristotle Hume Kant Mill Russell to mention a few classical authors clearly emphasized the primacy of methodology of science for any kind of philosophy of science One may even state that analyses of the presuppositions the foundations the aims goals and purposes of science are nothing else than analyses of their general and specific formal as well as practical and empirical methods Thus the whole program of any philosophy of science is dependent on the analysis of the methods of sciences and the establishment of their criteria If the study of scientific method is the predominant factor in the philosophy of science then all the other problems will depend on the outcome of such a study For example the old question of a possible unity of all social sciences will be brought to a solution by the study of the presuppositions the methods as well as of the criteria germane to all social sciences Disasters and the Networked Economy J.M. Albala-Bertrand, 2013-05-02 Mainstream quantitative analysis and simulations are fraught with difficulties and are intrinsically unable to deal appropriately with long term macroeconomic effects of disasters In this new book J M Albala Bertrand develops the themes introduced in his past book The Political Economy of Large Natural Disasters Clarendon Press 1993 to show that societal networking and disaster localization constitute part of an essential framework to understand disaster effects and responses The author's last book argued that disasters were a problem of development rather than a problem for development This volume takes the argument forward both in terms of the macroeconomic effects of disaster and development policy arguing that economy and society are not inert objects but living organisms Using a framework based on societal networking and the economic localization of disasters the author shows that societal functionality defined as the capacity of a system to survive reproduce and develop is unlikely to be impaired by natural disasters This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners involved in disaster analysis and response policy and will also be relevant to students of development economics Human and Technological Progress Towards the Socio-Economic Paradigm of the Future Elena G. Popkova, Marina Alpidovskaya, 2020-08-24 This book develops a socio economic paradigm of the future in the context of digital transformation The challenge of economic openness is considered through the globalization of the world economic system by the example of modern Russia The tendency of archaization of socio economic relations is explored which is connected with the gradual disappearance of ineffective institutes and their

replacement by new institutes Attention is paid to the regional aspect of the digital economy perspectives of development of the ethno economy in the context of integration of regional economic systems are determined The problem of preserving social identity and supporting the uniqueness of competitive advantages of the region s economy in the conditions of digitization is actualized and its perspective solutions based on a region s globalization management are offered Also the problem of national and regional food security is considered Increased social significance of the agro industrial complex and the necessity for its de economization on the platform of the digital economy are substantiated A new concept of the market economy in the conditions of digitization and the Fourth industrial revolution is developed economic power of technological progress and possibilities of managing and re directing this power are determined The authors substantiate the transition to the Sixth technological mode and the related transformation processes in the economy Also the authors dwell on the problem of the shadow economy and corruption and consider the perspectives of its overcoming based on the possibilities of digital technologies The idea of de regulation based on the possibilities of automatization and AI is opposed to the idea of increase of state regulation based on ubiquitous computing and digital monitoring of economic activities The perspectives of increasing the economy s transparency in the digital age are proved The alternatives to the current model of development of the digital economy are given and scenario analysis of consequences of observing these models based on the cognitive approach is performed New opportunities for development of the integration processes in entrepreneurship in the conditions of the digital economy are shown in particular in the aspect of inter regional and transnational sectorial clustering Clusters are considered as growth points of the Russian economy and the new Russian experience of formation and development of clusters in the sphere of higher education in the context of region s economy is studied The authors determine the contribution of key technological events in the development of entrepreneurship through the example of modern Russia They come to the conclusion that despite the unique possibilities digital technologies do not necessarily create additional value for entrepreneurship and their application could be ineffective due to additional capital expenditures in case of complexity of return of long term venture investments The needs of entrepreneurship for innovative infrastructural provision in the context of the digital economy are determined and barriers on the path of its creation and practical application due to necessity for applying new forms of business organization are shown Specific features of state management of a region s economy in the conditions of digital modernization are shown and the modern Russian practice of e government as a response to the modern challenges is studied The authors outline new perspectives of development of public private partnership as an effective direction of industrial and cluster policy of a modern region

The Synergy Theory on Economic Growth: Comparative Study Between China and Developed Countries Jianhua Liu,Zhaohua Jiang,2018-09-21 The book constructs the Synergy Theory a new theory of economic growth and calculation methodology The book involves empirical comparative study on economic growth between China and the 14 developed countries and on the basis of the synergy theory divides GDP into labor compensation capital income and synergistic benefits further establishes the new empirical model including the major determined factors of economic growth such as growth of physical capital stock growth of investment in physical capital improvement of science and technology improvement of human capital quality labor force growth institutional innovation and economic externalities Subsequently it uses the method of Data Envelopment Analysis to calculate the contribution of institutional innovation to economic growth and it also focuses on the analysis of the determining factors of economic growth Based on the analysis above the new theory has been tested and the countermeasures and suggestions involving China's innovation driven economy have been proposed

The Methodology of Economic Model Building (Routledge Revivals) Lawrence A. Boland, 2014-05-01 The major methodological task for modern economists has been to establish the testability of models Too often however methodological assumptions can make a model virtually impossible to test even under ideal conditions yet few theorists have examined the requirements and problems of assuring testability in economics In The Methodology of Economic Model Building first published in 1989 Lawrence Boland presents the results of a research project that spanned more than twenty years He examines how economists have applied the philosophy of Karl Popper relating methodological debates about falsifiability to wider discussions about the truth status of models in natural and social sciences He concludes that model building in economics reflects more the methodological prescriptions of the economist Paul Samuelson than Popper's falsificationism This title will prove invaluable to both students and researchers and represents a substantial contribution to debates about the scientific status of economics
