Modern Europe Place Culture And Identity:

Modern Europe Brian J. Graham, 1998 The geography of modern Europe is the result of the interaction of many different and often violent historical processes which have combined to produce a diverse patterning of people and place Despite the radical project of political and economic integration the subject of cultural political and economic diversity is nevertheless of importance throughout the continent Rather EU policies make the patterns even more perplexing as peoples and places interact in different ways with the processes of integration

Modern Europe Brian Graham, 1998 This book examines the apparent paradox between Europe's ongoing plans for integration and the continent's enduring cultural political and economic diversity Looking at contemporary issues and setting them in a historical context the contributors show how this diversity has always been a principle characteristic of European society and discuss the ways in which nationalism and the nation state emerged as one means of controlling that heterogeneity They go on to argue that identity in modern Europe is again becoming multi faceted proposing that the continent's geographies can be defined only through inclusivist multiculturalism

Culture and Identity Politics in Northern Ireland Máiréad Nic Craith, 2003-05-02 Civilization and culture have traditionally been regarded as mutually exclusive concepts In this comparative case study of Northern Ireland M ir ad Nic Craith explores the commitment of unionists to a civic culture blind British state contrasting this with nationalist demands for official recognition of Irish culture The cultural turn in Northern Irish politics and the development of a bicultural infrastructure is examined here in the context of differing interpretations of equality and increasing demands for intercultural communication within as well as between communities

Art History and Visual Studies in Europe , 2012-06-22 Reflection on the history and practice of art history has long been a major topic of research and scholarship and this volume builds on this tradition by offering a critical survey of many of the major developments in the contemporary discipline such as the impact of digital technologies the rise of visual studies or new initiatives in conservation theory and practice Alongside these methodological issues this book addresses the mostly neglected question of the impact of national contexts on the development of the discipline Taking a wide range of case studies this book examines the impact of the specific national political institutional and ideological demands on the practice of art history The result is an account that both draws out common features and also highlights the differences and the plurality of practices that together constitute art history as a discipline

Dissonant Heritages and Memories in Contemporary Europe Tuuli Lähdesmäki, Luisa Passerini, Sigrd Kaasik-Krogerus, Iris van Huis, 2019-08-13 This open access book discusses political economic social and humanitarian challenges that influence both how people deal with their past and how they build their identities in contemporary Europe Ongoing debates on migration on local national inter and transnational levels prove that it is a divisive issue with regards to understanding European integration and identity At the same time the European Union increasingly invests in projects related to European heritage museums and cultural memory networks while having to take dissonant heritages into account

These processes in their combination offer an interesting dynamic and form the complex puzzle that poses challenging questions for anyone involved in academic research heritage practices and policy debates With this puzzle at its core this book explicitly focuses on slippery and transforming notions of Europe and critically discusses ongoing and transforming power structures of heritage and memory in today s Europe The book combines theoretical and methodological contributions to the debates on European heritage and memory studies and in depth analyses of empirical case studies Its main aim is to bring research fields concerning memory and heritage into a closer dialogue and thus explore the cultural and political dynamics of contemporary Europe

Landscape, Tourism, and Meaning Michelle M. Metro-Roland, Daniel C.

Knudsen, Charles E. Greer, 2016-04-22 How do we re theorize tourism By drawing less on the Foucauldian notion of tourism as gazing and instead focusing on the social construction of meaning in the landscape this insightful book provides an innovative and compelling new approach to tourist studies Arguing that in any view of the landscape and in tourism generally there is a multiplicity of insider and outsider meanings the book grounds tourism studies within the framework of social theory and particularly in the social theoretic approaches to landscape Bringing together specialists in tourism and landscape studies to discuss the relationships between the two it finds that issues of identity are a common thread and are raised with regard to the social construction of landscape and its portrayal through tourism The international studies range in scale from regional to national personal to political and from local residents to international tourists highlighting the multiplicity of interpretations and meanings between these scales

Theory and Practice in Heritage and Sustainability Elizabeth

Auclair, Graham Fairclough, 2015-04-22 This book explores cultural sustainability and its relationships to heritage from a wide interdisciplinary perspective By examining the interactions between people and communities in the places where they live it exemplifies the diverse ways in which a people centred heritage builds identities and supports individual and collective memories It encourages a view of heritage as a process that contributes through cultural sustainability to human well being and socially and culturally sensitive policy With theoretically informed case studies from leading researchers the book addresses both concepts and practice in a range of places and contexts including landscape townscape museums industrial sites every day heritage ordinary places and the local scene and even UNESCO designated sites The contributors most of whom like the editors were members of the COST Action Investigating Cultural Sustainability demonstrate in a cohesive way how the cultural values that people attach to place are enmeshed with issues of memory identity and aspiration and how they therefore stand at the centre of sustainability discourse and practice The cases are drawn from many parts of Europe but notably from the Baltic and central and south eastern Europe regions with distinctive recent histories and cultural approaches and heritage discourses that offer less well known but transferable insights They all illustrate the contribution that dealing with the inheritance of the past can make to a full cultural engagement with sustainable development The book provides an introductory framework to guide readers and a concluding section that draws on the case studies to emphasise their transferability and specificity and to outline the potential contribution of the examples to future research practice and policy in cultural sustainability This is a unique offering for postgraduate students researchers and professionals interested in heritage management governance and community participation and cultural sustainability Handbook of Religion and the Asian City Peter van der Veer, 2015-05-19 Handbook of Religion and the Asian City highlights the creative and innovative role of urban aspirations in Asian world cities It points out that urban politics and governance are often about religious boundaries and processions in short that public religion is politics The essays show how projects of secularism come up against projects and ambitions of a religious nature a particular form of contestation that takes the city as its public arena Asian cities are sites of speculation not only for those who invest in real estate but also for those who look for housing for employment and for salvation In its potential and actual mobility the sacred creates social space in which they all can meet Handbook of Religion and the Asian City makes the comparative case that one cannot study the historical patterns of urbanization in Asia without paying attention to the role of religion in urban aspirations Provided by publisher Europe and the Politics of Language Máiréad Nic Craith, 2005-12-14 Do political boundaries impact on concepts of language How significant is language for citizenship in contemporary Europe Can disputed languages acquire full status Should non European languages receive recognition from the EU These are among the many questions explored in this new study of official regional and disputed languages in an ever changing European context Broad policy issues and the performance of the range of instruments of policy at local national and European levels are illustrated with reference to case studies across Europe The Oxford Handbook of Postwar European History Dan Stone, 2012-05-17 The postwar period is no longer current affairs but is becoming the recent past As such it is increasingly attracting the attentions of historians Whilst the Cold War has long been a mainstay of political science and contemporary history recent research approaches postwar Europe in many different ways all of which are represented in the thirty five chapters of this book As well as diplomatic political institutional economic and social history The Oxford Handbook of Postwar European History contains chapters which approach the past through the lenses of gender espionage art and architecture technology agriculture heritage postcolonialism memory and generational change and shows how the history of postwar Europe can be enriched by looking to disciplines such as anthropology and philosophy The Handbook covers all of Europe with a notable focus on Eastern Europe Including subjects as diverse as the meaning of Europe and European identity southern Europe after dictatorship the cultural meanings of the bomb the 1968 student uprisings immigration Americanization welfare leisure decolonization the Wars of Yugoslav Succession and coming to terms with the Nazi past the essays in this Handbook offer an unparalleled coverage of postwar European history that offers far more than the standard Cold War framework Readers will find self contained state of the art analyses of major subjects each written by an acknowledged expert as well as stimulating and novel approaches to newer topics Combining empirical rigour and adventurous conceptual analysis this Handbook offers in one
