Nutrition And Behavior:

Nutrition and Behavior Robin B. Kanarek, 2014-07-29 Within the past decade there has been a veritable explosion of interest in the relationship between food and human behavior. It seems that there is an insatiable desire to find connections between what we eat and what we do. A clear example of this is the proliferation of books, magazine and newspaper articles and television and radio programs devoted to the topic. More important however is the increased attention the scientific community is giving to the study of nutrition and behavior as evidenced by the growth of research, the development of undergraduate and graduate programs and the number of scientific conferences addressing the problems in this area. The burgeoning scientific interest in this field makes it a very appropriate time for this book. The principal goal of Nutrition and Behavior: New Perspectives is to provide a comprehensive examination of the scientific evidence dealing with relationships between nutritional variables and behavior. Although findings in research using experimental animals will be introduced, the primary emphasis will be on investigating the nutrition-behavior relationship in our own species. The first chapter provides a historical introduction to the area and examines the techniques used in the scientific assessment of nutrition and behavior. This material gives the reader the necessary background to place recent research on nutrition and behavior within a wider perspective and to evaluate its reliability and validity.

Nutrition and Behavior J.R. Galler, 2013-06-29 After the appearance of the four book series Human Nutrition: A Comprehensive Treatise it became apparent to the editors that an important area of nutrition had been overlooked, namely behavioral aspects of nutrition. There are two areas in which nutrition and behavior interact. On the one hand, malnutrition may play a major role in determining behavior; alternatively, often aspects of behavior influence the eating habits of populations and individuals and thus affect their nutritional status. Volume 5 of this series speaks eloquently to both features of this important topic. Various aspects of the influence of behavior modification and nutrition have been explored by a number of qualified investigators. It is hoped that this volume will prove a valuable addition to the subjects covered in the other volumes. Roslyn B. Alfin Slater, David Kritchevsky, Los Angeles and Philadelphia. ix Contents: Introduction: The Challenge of Nutrition and Environment as Determinants of Behavioral Development; Janina R. Galler. Nutrition and Behavior, 2nd Edition John Worobey, Beverly J. Tepper, Robin Kanarek, 2015-08-14 The relationship between nutrition and behaviour is bidirectional in nature with nutritional factors able to affect activity and disposition and behavior impacting diet and food intake. This book reviews these links starting with their complex neurobiological basis such as in the case of folate deficiency and cognitive decline. It also illustrates how behaviour may determine nutritional choices or status through peer modelling and poor dietary habits Micronutrients and eating disorders are then critically addressed with a review of current research methods and results before extra nutritional influencers on behaviour such as caffeine herbal supplements and alcohol are discussed in the final section

Cancer, Nutrition, and Eating Behavior Thomas G. Burish, Sandra M. Levy, Beth E. Meyerowitz, 2021-06-23 The majority of cancer related deaths are associated with nutritional problems The major role that nutrition and diet play in the development and course of cancer had only been recently appreciated and relatively little had been written on the topic in general A critical component of nutrition and diet is eating behavior Originally published in 1985 the purpose of this book was to meet the needs of both the clinician and the researcher by bringing together data and theory about nutrition and cancer from several disciplines as considered from a biobehavioral perspective The first chapter of the book provides an overview of the purposes and organization of the volume The rest is divided into 3 parts Part 1 focuses on basic research concerned with the nature and development of taste aversions and taste preferences in human and animals Part 2 applies the basic processes reviews in the first part to the cancer area focusing on eating and nutritional problems related to both tumor development and to learned processes that develop as a result of being exposed to radiotherapy and chemotherapy treatments Part 3 focuses on identifying and evaluating intervention strategies for improving the nutritional status of people with cancer or at high risk for developing cancer
