Education Futures for School Leadership J-C Couture, Stephen Murgatroyd, 2024-10-21 Education Futures for School Leadership is a comprehensive resource to support school leaders as they encounter the growing complexity and uncertainties that characterize life in schools today Moving beyond conventional change management literature this book invites current and aspiring school leaders to apply the interdisciplinary tools of futures studies and strategic foresight to their work. Given our shared global challenges, young people deserve schools that are agile, adaptive, and responsive to many possible futures. Driven by the imperatives of equity and inclusion, the authors provide practical evidence-informed strategies, real-world examples, and use cases of futures thinking applied to school staff development and change strategies. Each chapter engages with key educational realities, differentiating instructional planning and assessment, the impacts of artificial intelligence and other technologies, the growing psycho-social issues young people are facing, and more. Informed by years of international collaboration with forward-thinking school leaders and scholars, this book is both a field guide and a call to action for navigating the influence of the future on our present moment and the challenges and promises shaping school life today.

Voices of the Field Antione D. Tomlin, Sherella Cupid, 2023-07-01. This book, Voices of the Field: DEIA Champions in Higher Education, will explore the experiences and stories of Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Anti-racist DEIA champions and leaders within higher education. There is no doubt that in response to the United States' current racial climate, higher education institutions have DEIA at the forefront of their operations. Consequently, as a Black academic or Blackademic educator and DEIA champion, I am not sure I always see institutions and organizations walking the walk and doing the work it takes to live up to those missions, visions, and strategic plans. Tomlin (2022, para. 1) writes, "From our experience, this is partly because institutions do not know how to support and encourage all higher education professionals, no matter working area, gender, or race, to become more DEIA-minded." So, this book will share stories of champions of DEIA along with how other higher education professionals jump in. Like some of our other projects, we approach this book from an asset-based approach where chapter authors are taking more of an anti-deficit approach. So, while each chapter author will explore the challenges and opportunities that come with being a DEIA champion within higher education, we will not focus entirely on what higher education institutions are doing wrong; rather, how the tools, tips, and strategies provided can help support current and potential champions of the work and field. One especially important contribution of this book is that authors come from many different spaces, departments, and divisions within higher education, including admissions, student life, curriculum and instruction, service learning, alumni relations, career services, intercultural affairs, and many others. Additionally, chapter authors' demographics make up a wide range of ages, ethnicities, abilities, and expertise. Given the breadth of experiences, each chapter will provide poignant suggestions for DEIA champions across the nation, as well as for institutions who are looking to better understand, advocate for, and support their own DEIA champions. The work of DEI practitioners is a work that often goes unnoticed. The long days, nights, exhaustion, and lack of mental capacity due to constant going and potential burnout is the price practitioners pay to fight the fight of creating more equitable spaces. Griffin (2021) noted, "The DEI practitioner is becoming a household name in some industries like education, an emerging staple." (p. xxv) We agree with Griffin; moreover, these household names are not getting the attention, respect, or resources they need to continue being successful in their roles.

Additionally we add anti racist to DEI as being anti racist is an action We argue it is the action that brings all the other pieces of the work together Its the demonstration and active practice of fighting against racism that helps to shift and change a culture This book will aid in showing all higher education professionals some approaches to being more effective DEIA champions while also taking action and moving more toward anti racism as a mindset and way of being Thus Voices of the Field DEIA Champions in Higher Education is positioned to be a must read for all higher education professionals and institutions who are looking for strategies to support promote and encourage the growth and development of DEIA champions Breaking the Mold Lotte Bailyn,1993 Discusses the balance between career and private life and considers how organizations can respond to the needs of employees with family responsibilities

Organizational Behaviour Reassessed Elisabeth M Wilson,2001-03-22 Most books on Organizational Behaviour are still gender free zones This book however treats gender as it needs to be treated as a fundamental organizing principle of organization Professor Paul Iles of Liverpool Business School Liverpool John Moores University Challenging mainstream accounts of organizational behaviour and management which treat gender as an optional extra this book demonstrates how it can be an essential organizing principle Each chapter covers one or more of the principal mainstream topics before deconstructing and critiquing these and suggesting other ways of understanding these issues

Dynamics of Organizational Change and Learning Jaap Boonstra,2008-04-15 This handbook focuses on the complex processes and problems of organizational change and relates current knowledge of individual and group psychology to the understanding of the dynamics of change Complementary and competing insights are presented as overviews of theory and research Offers helpful insights about choosing models and methods in specific situations Chapters by international authors of the highest quality
