Richard Scott, 1992 Meyer and Scott are among the leading proponents of the environmental view of organizational theory which sees organizational structures as primarily determined by environment as opposed to technology The authors view and their approach is demonstrated here in a collection of essays that consider the place of organizations within a wider institutional structure paying particular attention to educational systems and medical services With reference to America's devolved federal power structure and powerful autonomous bodies they conclude that centralization and organization processes are made to operate for the sake of efficiency      Organizational Environments John W. DiMaggio, 2012-09-21 Long a fruitful area of scrutiny for students of organizations the study of institutions is undergoing a renaissance in contemporary social science This volume offers for the first time both often cited foundation works and the latest writings of scholars associated with the institutional approach to organization analysis In their introduction the editors discuss points of convergence and disagreement with institutionally oriented research in economics and political science and locate the institutional approach in relation to major developments in contemporary sociological theory Several chapters consolidate the theoretical advances of the past decade identify and clarify the paradigm's key ambiguities and push the theoretical agenda in novel ways by developing sophisticated arguments about the linkage between institutional patterns and forms of social structure The empirical studies that follow involving such diverse topics as mental health clinics art museums large corporations civil service systems and national politics illustrate

Organizing for Collective Action David Knoke, 2019-01-15 Organizing for Collective Action investigates the political and economic behaviors of national associations including trade associations professional societies labor unions and public interest groups It focuses upon the ways that these organizations acquire resources and allocate them to various collective actions particularly for member services public relations and political action This analysis is structured around three broad theoretical paradigms for collective action 1 the problem of societal integration which concerns the ways that people are tied to organizations and the ways that organizations connect their members with the larger society 2 the problem of organizational governance which considers how individuals become unified collectivities capable of acting in a coordinated manner and 3 the problem of public policy influence which involves interactions among public and private interest groups to formulate the binding decisions under which we all must live

Managing Institutions Ying Wang, 2013-12-12 Minban schools have established their position in China's education system This book applies the theories of new institutionalism to the minban school as an organization and as a party in relationships with other institutions It explores the features of the evolving institutional environment of education and the strategies that minban schools have adopted to manage the institutions in this environment There are four types of minban schools the international minban school the privately funded minban school the publicly affiliated minban school and the converted minban school A qualitative research methodology in the form of a multiple case study was used for the analysis Eight minban secondary schools in Taiyuan and Shenzhen were chosen to represent the various types of minban schools The study shows that the re emergence of free market principles the decentralization of government and the accompanying segmentation of power and authority bureaucratic and consumerist expectations of teachers and the commodification of education have engendered an increasingly fragmented institutional environment which allowed minban schools to thrive The book reveals that the institutional environment is multi faceted and ambiguous during China's controlled decentralization organizations and institutions have shaped each other Minban schools adopt various strategies to cope with institutional pressure This study provides a systematic understanding of the operation of minban schools by locating the schools in a differential order which determines their choice of strategy international schools choose isolation privately funded schools avoidance affiliated schools advocacy and converted schools capitalization It also illustrates how the bureaucracy functions in China's local governments The various case studies confirm that the government still maintains substantial control over minban schools through the power granted by the bureaucratic structure which allows them to direct the institutional environment by introducing new regulations and forms of governance
