Reading Lives:

Reading Texts, Reading Lives Daniel Morris, Helen Maxson, 2012-06-14 Our culture attempts to separate competing ideological factions by denying relationships between multiple perspectives and influences outside of one s own narrow interpretive community The distinguished essayists in this volume find Daniel R Schwarz's pluralistic self questioning approach to what he calls reading texts and reading lives guite relevant to the current historical moment and political situation A legendary scholar of modernist literature Schwarz's critical principles are a healthy corrective to cultural hubris The essayists treat works ranging from fictions by Joyce Conrad Morrison and Woolf to the poetry of Yeats to Holocaust literature to the environmental writings of Wendell Berry to the photographs of Lee Friedlander The authors focus on different works but they follow Schwarz in stressing formal elements most often associated with traditional realism while keeping an eye on historical and author centered approaches The essayists also follow Schwarz in their emphasis on narrative cohesion and in how they look for signs of agency among characters who possess the will to alter their fate even in a seemingly random universe such as the one depicted by Conrad Readers with eyes to ethics and aesthetics they follow Schwarz in encouraging a values centered approach that leaves room for the reader to address the ways in which reading a text correlates to the reader's ability to find meaning and value in experience outside the text Like Schwarz the essays look for intentionality of authorial meaning rather than something called an author function as well as for the relationship between lived experience and the imagined world of the literary work rather than the endless semiotic play of an ultimately The Reading Lives of Teens Chin Ee Loh, 2024-11-04 In these changing times of global flows of media indecipherable text and technologies and reports of declining reading enjoyment researchers policymakers and educators need to engage anew with essential issues of what counts as reading what kinds of reading matter and how to support teen reading engagement in school and out of school settings Bringing together contributions from well known and emerging adolescent literacy researchers from different disciplinary perspectives this edited collection consolidates contemporary research on teens volitional print and digital reading whether in school or out of school contexts The first part of the book offers overviews of what teens are reading followed by chapters on community support on reading and new ways of researching teen reading With chapters from North America Europe Australia Asia and the Middle East the collection will offer multifaceted and complex insights into what how and why teens read in different contexts Reflection questions at the end of each chapter encourage readers to consider how the research can be applied in their own research policy and practice contexts This book will be of interest to researchers policymakers and educators who are invested in supporting adolescent engaged reading with evidence based policies and strategies Reading Our Lives William L. Randall, Elizabeth McKim, 2008-06-03 Against the background of Socrates insight that the unexamined life is not worth living Reading Our Lives The Poetics of Growing Old investigates the often overlooked inside dimensions of aging Despite popular portrayals of mid and later life as entailing inevitable decline this book looks at aging as potentially a process of poiesis a creative endeavor of fashioning meaning from the ever accumulating texts memories and reflections that constitute our inner worlds At its center is the conviction that although we are constantly reading our lives to some degree anyway doing so in a mindful matter is critical to our development in the second half of life Drawing on research in numerous disciplines affected by the so called narrative turn including cognitive psychology neuroscience and the psychology of aging authors Randall and McKim articulate a vision of aging that promises to accommodate such time honored concepts as wisdom and spirituality one that understands aging as a matter not merely of getting old but of consciously growing old Reading for Our Lives Maya Payne Smart, 2022-08-02 An award winning journalist and literacy advocate provides a clear step by step guide to helping your child thrive as a reader and a learner When her child went off to school Maya Smart was shocked to discover that a good education in America is a long shot in ways that few parents fully appreciate Our current approach to literacy offers too little too late and attempting to play catch up when our kids get to kindergarten can no longer be our default strategy We have to start at the top The brain architecture for reading develops rapidly during infancy and early language experiences are critical to building it That means parents work as children's first teachers begins from day one too and we need deeper knowledge to play our positions Reading for Our Lives challenges the bath book bed mantra and the idea that reading aloud to our kids is enough to ensure school readiness Instead it gives parents easy immediate and accessible ways to nurture language and literacy development from the start Through personal stories historical accounts scholarly research and practical tips this book presents the life and death urgency of literacy investigates inequity in reading achievement and illuminates a path to a true transformative education for all The Role of Reading in Nine Famous Lives Donald E. Howard, 2015-09-11 According to the end of millennium Arts and Entertainment Television Network survey the single most influential person of the last thousand years was Johann Gutenberg the inventor of the printing press The revolutionary advent of moveable metal type made possible the diffusion of books to people around the world profoundly influencing the lives of many famous historical figures thereafter This book attempts to demonstrate the role that reading has played throughout the course of history It documents the lives of nine individuals of outstanding achievement whose efforts were molded by the books they read The subjects are presented in chronological order according to birth Respective chapters contain brief biographies of the subjects and discuss the ways in which each used books as a principal aid in the development of his or her exceptional talents Subjects include Benjamin Franklin who was in 1724 an active connoisseur in the rapidly growing printing trade Thomas Jefferson Abraham Lincoln Frederick Douglass Susan B Anthony Booker T Washington Pearl S Buck Louis L Amour and Nelson Mandela The book maintains that while these historical figures represent a wide range of talents and influences to each is attributed invaluable contributions to society Each was a dedicated reader inspired to greatness by the power of the written word Reading as if for Life David Dickinson, 2025-01-01 Creaking open the pages of a heavy hardback or bending the spine of a poetry book

It argues that missionary children were doubly shaped by parents concerns and institutional policy responses At the same time children saw their own lives as both ordinary and complicated Literary representations boosted adult narratives Empire provided a complex space in which these children navigated their way between the expectations of two if not three different cultures. The focus is on a range of settings and on the early twentieth century Therefore the book offers a complex and comparative picture of missionary children's lives Becomes a Necessity of Life William J.
