Readings And Reflections About Death And Grief:

Readings and Reflections about Death and Grief Henry E. Roberts, 2000 Reflections on Death and Grief Albert J. D. Walsh, 1986 Handbook of the Sociology of Death, Grief, and Bereavement Neil Thompson, Gerry R. Cox, 2017-04-28

The Handbook of the Sociology of Death Grief and Bereavement sets issues of death and dying in a broad and holistic social context. Its three parts explore classical sociology, developments in sociological thought, and the ways that sociological insights can be useful across a broad spectrum of grief-related topics and concerns. Guidance is given in each chapter to help spur readers to examine other topics in thanatology through a sociological lens. Scholars, students, and professionals will come away from the handbook with a nuanced understanding of the social context, cultural differences, power relations, the role of social processes and institutions, and various other sociological factors that shape grief experiences.

Wrestling with the Angel Kent Koppelman, Dale Lund, 2017-07-05

Wrestling with the Angel addresses the human struggle to cope with death, dying, grief, and bereavement. The book includes essays, a one-act play, a short story, and poetry, including shape poems, rhyming, structured verse, and free verse. In the one-act play, an angel of death comes for a man who has lived an unexamined life and wants to explain why he is not prepared to leave. The short story offers a humorous look at a man who resists aging by continuing to view himself as the young man he once was. The diverse genres allow for different ways of exploring these issues, but all are intended to engage the reader's emotions as well as intellect. The writings incorporate reflections and quotations addressing common human issues related to our mortality and explore reactions to the loss of a loved one, whether expected such as the death of an aging parent or someone with a terminal illness, or unexpected such as accidental death. The final chapters examine how aging causes us to assess our lives and why preparing ourselves for death can enhance the quality of our life. This is a book with many more questions than answers, but the reader is invited to share in the process of finding answers. It is a book that requires the reader to be comfortable with ambiguity because the reality it describes is often ambiguous, a reality that presents us with many choices but few certainties.

Intended Audience: Scholars, hospice workers, funeral home directors, hospital chaplains, ministers, and others who work with bereavement issues, classes in death education, and classes for mental health professionals in death and grief, general readers who have suffered the loss of a loved one.

Death, Loss, and Grief in Literature for Youth Alice Crosetto, Rajinder Garcha, 2012-11-21

It is therefore important for children and adolescents to understand that such events are inevitable and to learn how to accept loss and cope with their emotions. In order to help children through their pain, parents and caregivers need access to the proper resources that will help them discuss these topics, and educational professionals need reliable resources for creating courses of study on these subjects.

Death, Dying, and Bereavement Judith M. Stillion, Thomas Attig, PhD, 2014-11-07 Print CourseSmart

Reflections on Death and Grief Albert J.D. Walsh, 2010-01-07 When we are called to minister to the dying and or bereaved many of us who count ourselves as servants of God too easily prejudge the matter and rush in with words and a trite formula Words have become our trade jargon our bane and verbiage our downfall Bert Walsh knows this all too well Only in the last of five chapters does he get around to the things which we are to say in the presence of crisis But those are words we have long ago learned from reading the New Testament or heard time and again from well meaning consolers What is crucial is that which comes before those words are spoken and surrounds them from the Foreword by G Clarke Chapman Jr Believing that death and bereavement present pastors and believers with the most extreme challenges to faith Bert Walsh carefully examines the potential for new discoveries greater personal growth and maturity in faith offered to those who minister to the dying and bereaved With his uncommon insight and measured simple purposeful style the author helps those who minister to the grieving to develop a new sensitivity to both spoken and unspoken needs He expertly demonstrates that there is a time for words of solace and consolation there is also a time for silence a time for touching a time to share tears Periods of silence no longer need to be awkward or uncomfortable Rather they can become productive moments of quiet reflection and prayer

Dying for the nation

Lucy Noakes, 2020-02-05 Death in war matters It matters to the individual threatened with their own death or the death of loved ones It matters to groups and communities who have to find ways to manage death to support the bereaved and to dispose of bodies amidst the confusion of conflict It matters to the state which has to find ways of coping with mass death that convey a sense of gratitude and respect for the sacrifice of both the victims of war and those that mourn in their wake This social and cultural history of Britain in the Second World War places death at the heart of our understanding of the British experience of conflict Drawing on a range of material Dying for the nation demonstrates just how much death matters in wartime and examines the experience management and memory of death The book will appeal to anyone with an interest in the social and cultural history of Britain in the Second World War

Encyclopedia of Death and Dying Glennys Howarth, Oliver Leaman, 2003-12-16 In recent years there has been a massive upsurge in academic professional and lay interest in mortality This is reflected in academic and professional literature in the popular media and in the proliferation of professional roles and training courses associated with aspects of death and dying Until now the majority of reference material on death and dying has been designed for particular disciplinary audiences and has addressed only specific academic or professional concerns There has been an urgent need for an authoritative but accessible reference work reflecting the multidisciplinary nature of the field This Encyclopedia answers that need The Encyclopedia of Death and Dying consolidates and contextualizes the disparate research that has been carried out to date The phenomena of death and dying and its related concepts are explored and explained in depth from the approaches of varied disciplines and related professions in the arts social sciences humanities medicine and the sciences In addition to scholars and students in the field from anthropologists and sociologists to art and social historians the Encyclopedia will be of interest to other professionals and practitioners whose work brings them into contact with dying dead and bereaved people It will be welcomed as the definitive death and dying reference source and an essential tool for teaching research and independent study

Death, Grief and Poverty in Britain, 1870-1914 Julie-Marie Strange, 2005-07-25 With high mortality rates it has been assumed that the poor in Victorian and Edwardian Britain did not mourn their dead Contesting this approach Julie Marie Strange studies the expression of grief among the working class demonstrating that poverty increased rather than deadened it She illustrates the mourning practices of the working classes through chapters addressing care of the corpse the funeral the cemetery commemoration and high infant mortality rates The book draws on a broad range of sources to analyse the feelings and behaviours of the labouring poor using not only personal testimony but also fiction journalism and official reports It concludes that poor people did not only use spoken or written words to express their grief but also complex symbols actions and significantly silence This book will be an invaluable contribution to an important and neglected area of social and cultural history

The Revival of Death Tony Walter, 2002-01-31 The current revival of interest in death seeks ultimate authority in the individual self This is the first book to comprehensively examine this revival and relate it to theories of modernity and postmodernity

The Power of Death Maria-José Blanco, Ricarda Vidal, 2014-10-01 The social and cultural changes of the last century have transformed death from an everyday fact to something hidden from view Shifting between the practical and the theoretical the professional and the intimate the real and the fictitious this collection of essays explores the continued power of death over our lives It examines the idea and experience of death from an interdisciplinary perspective including studies of changing burial customs throughout Europe an account of a dying party in the Netherlands examinations of the fascination with violent death in crime fiction and the phenomenon of serial killer art analyses of death and bereavement in poetry fiction and autobiography and a look at audience reactions to depictions of death on screen By studying and considering how death is thought about in the contemporary era we might restore the natural place it has in our lives Researching Death, Dying and Bereavement Erica Borgstrom, Julie Ellis, Kate

Woodthorpe, 2018-10-22 This book examines research on death dying and bereavement and how our approaches perceptions and expectations shapes what we can know about the end of life The contributions include personal and professional reflections and practical suggestions for conducting research in this field The volume stems from the resurgence of the international and interdisciplinary study of death in the last 20 years Within this empirical research is often viewed as sensitive but little has been written about the experience of conducting research in this area There has thus been little reflection on the opportunities and challenges faced in undertaking research as the field of death studies grows including the accommodation and recognition of cultural differences This volume seeks to in part address this gap The chapters in this book were originally published in the Mortality journal and the Death Studies journal Funeral and Memorial Service

Readings, Poems and Tributes Rachel R. Baum, 2007-11-28 Words can fail even the most articulate when called upon to speak at a loved one's funeral or memorial occasion The bereaved desires to say something meaningful yet services are often held so quickly that there is little time to find something appropriate at the library or bookstore This book is a collection of poetry and prose appropriate for reading at a funeral or memorial service To assist the reader in finding a suitable passage the book is divided into eleven chapters There are tributes for mothers fathers children spouses and soulmates friends siblings and other close relatives soldiers and victims of war or violence pets and general readings appropriate for men women or any loved one These selections will also prove helpful for clergy counselors and hospice hospital and funeral professionals Appendices list resources and support organizations and each selection is indexed by author title and first line A special additional index references pieces by famous uses such as in a film novel or celebrity's funeral so readers can locate a passage they remember from its context Death, Dying and Bereavement Cecilia Lai Wan Chan, Amy Yin Man
