A multidisciplinary approach to E-commerce, reflecting the latest research* ,1999 Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce II Alexandros Moukas,Carlos Sierra,Fredrik Ygge,2014-03-12 The Internet is spawning many new markets and electronic commerce is changing many market conventions Not only are old commercial practices being adapted to the new conditions of immediacy brought forth by the global networks but new products and services as well as new practices are beginning to appear There is already ample evidence that agent based technologies will be crucial for these developments. However, many theoretical, technological, sociological, and legal aspects will need to be addressed before such opportunities become a significant reality. In addition to streamlining traditional transactions, agents enable new types of transactions. For example, the elusive one-to-one marketing becomes more of a reality when consumer agents capture and share or sell consumer demographics. Prices and other transaction dimensions need no longer to be fixed; selling agents can dynamically tailor merchant offerings to each consumer. Economies of scale become feasible in new markets when agents negotiate on special arbitration contracts. Dynamic business relationships will give rise to more competitively agile organizations. It is these new opportunities combined with substantial reduction in transaction costs that will revolutionize electronic commerce.
