Gender and Power in Indonesian Islam Bianca J. Smith, Mark Woodward, 2013-09-23 The traditional Islamic boarding schools known as pesantren are crucial centres of Muslim learning and culture within Indonesia but their cultural significance has been underexplored This book is the first to explore understandings of gender and Islam in pesantren and Sufi orders in Indonesia By considering these distinct but related Muslim gender cultures in Java Lombok and Aceh the book examines the broader function of pesantren as a force for both redefining existing modes of Muslim subjectivity and cultivating new ones It demonstrates how as Muslim women rise to positions of power and authority in this patriarchal domain they challenge and negotiate normative Muslim patriarchy while establishing their own Muslim authenticity The book goes on to question the comparison of Indonesian Islam with the Arab Middle East challenging the adoption of expatriate and diasporic Middle Eastern Muslim feminist discourses and secular western feminist analyses in Indonesian contexts Based on extensive fieldwork the book explores configurations of female leadership power feminisms and sexuality to reveal multiple Muslim selves in pesantren and Sufi orders not only as centres of learning but also as social spaces in which the interplay of gender politics status power and piety shape the course of life

Southeast Asia in a New Era Rodolfo C Severino, Elspeth Thomson, Mark Hong, 2010 This book is about Southeast Asia in a new era This new era began with a new century and a new millennium posing great challenges to the region and to each country in it It has a chapter on each of the ten countries in the region covering both the politics and the economic aspects It has one on the region as a whole and one on the Association of Southeast Asian Nations It has a thoughtful afterword that is a summary of its contents but is more than the sum of the individual chapters Many books and chapters of books have been written on Southeast Asia usually by external observers Aside from being up to date this book is different from most of them in several ways Most of the chapters are written by Southeast Asians indeed most of the country chapters are written by natives of those countries This means that the perspectives are based on local insights which provide nuance and sensitivity

The book is addressed primarily to the young people of Southeast Asia so that they can get to know their neighbours better. Each chapter has a guide to further reading and a series of questions to provoke further research and deeper inquiry.

Islam and the Making of the Nation Chiara Formichi, 2012-06-30 A testament to the relevance of historical research in understanding contemporary politics. Islam and the Making of the Nation guides the reader through the contingencies of the past that have led to the transformation of a nationalist leader into a separatist rebel and a martyr while at the same time shaping the public perception of political Islam and strengthening the position of the Pancasila in contemporary Indonesia.

Modern Trends in Islamic Theological Discourse in 20th Century Indonesia Fauzan Saleh, 2001-12-01 Aiming to trace the development of Islamic theological discourse in Indonesia from the early 1900s to the end of the 20th century, the author focusses on how modernist Muslims have constructed their theological thought throughout the century which in turn reflects their religious understanding in response to the particular demands of their age. The theological thought constructed so far signifies a continuum of progress developing from one stage to the next. Implicitly, this progress also indicates the improvement of Indonesian Muslims' understanding of their own religion which may suggest the betterment of their commitment to doctrinal beliefs and religious practices. Therefore, this study will also examine the ways in which Indonesian Islam noticeably grows more orthodox through these forms of religious commitment. Drawing upon an Indonesian term, the growth of orthodox Islam is known as the santri cultural expansion which has been characterized by the vertical and horizontal mobility of devout Muslims in political, cultural and economic enterprises. A discussion of the theological thought underlying that santri cultural expansion is also included.

Negotiating Malay Identities in Singapore Rizwana Abdul Azeez, 2016-03-01 Singapore Malays subscribe to mostly traditional rather than modern interpretations of Islam. Singapore state officials, however, wish to curb the challenges such interpretations bring to the country's political, social, educational and economic domains. Thus, these officials launched a programme to socially engineer modern Muslim identities amongst Singapore Malays in 2003, which is ongoing. Negotiating Muslim Identities documents a variety of ethnographic encounters that point to the power struggles surrounding two basic and very different ways of living. While the Singapore state has gained some successes for its project, it has also faced significant and multiple setbacks. Amongst them, state officials have had to contend with traditional Islamic authority that Malay elders carry and who cannot be ignored because these elders are time-entrenched authority figures in their community. One of the book's significant contributions is that it documents how Singapore, an avowedly secular state, has now turned to Islam as a tool for governance Just as significant are the insights the study provides on another aspect of Singapore state governance one usually described as authoritarian The book demonstrates that even authoritarian states can face serious obstacles in the face of religion s influence over its followers The academic literature on Singapore Malays is sparse this work not only fills gaps in the existing academic literature but provides new and original research data Its data rich ethnographic and anthropological approach show the complexities of Malay and Muslim social contexts and complements other works that examine Southeast Asian states management of Islam which has attracted much scholarship given the global interest in Islam based politics and social organisation

Islam and Political Legitimacy Shahram

Akbarzadeh,Abdullah Saeed,2003-09-02 Akbarzadeh and Saeed explore one of the most challenging issues facing the Muslim world the Islamisation of political power They present a comparative analysis of Muslim societies in West South Central and South East Asia and highlight the immediacy of the challenge for the political leadership in those societies Islam and Political Legitimacy contends that the growing reliance on Islamic symbolism across the Muslim world even in states that have had a strained relationship with Islam has contributed to the evolution of Islam as a social and cultural factor to an entrenched political force The geographic breadth of this book offers readers a nuanced appraisal of political Islam that transcends parochial eccentricities Contributors to this volume examine the evolving relationship between Islam and political power in Bangladesh Indonesia Iran Malaysia Pakistan Saudi Arabia and Uzbekistan Researchers and students of political Islam and radicalism in the Muslim world will find Islam and Political Legitimacy of special interest This is a welcome addition to the rich literature on the politics of the contemporary Muslim world

National Security Seminar: Outlines and Reading Lists

Law and Development and the Global Discourses of Legal Transfers John Gillespie,Pip Nicholson,2012-06-28 This volume of essays contributes to the understanding of global law reform by questioning the assumption in law and development theory that laws fail to transfer because of shortcomings in project design and implementation It brings together leading scholars who demonstrate that a synthesis of law and development comparative law and regulatory perspectives disciplines which to date have remained intellectually isolated from each other can produce a more nuanced understanding about development failures Arguing for a refocusing of the analysis onto the social demand for legal transfers and drawing on empirically rich case studies contributors explore what recipients in developing countries think about global legal reforms This analytical focus generates insights into how key actors in developing countries understand global law reforms and how to better predict how legal reforms are likely to play out in recipient countries

Islamic Law in Southeast Asia Kamaruzzaman

Bustamam-Ahmad,2009 In both Kelantan and Aceh Islamic law was first developed in the thirteenth century with the coming of Islam to the region but was later replaced by colonial legal systems and then by the jurisprudence of national governments following independence Reinstating Islamic law has become a dominant political issue in both countries
