university admission From the Foreword by Charles Bazerman Gevirtz Graduate School of Education University of California Santa Barbara This is a book about opening doors about demystifying writing tasks that can keep many students on the outside The authors take on a major writing challenge the college application essay and through careful instruction help students use their real life stories to master it It is teaching at its best and democracy at its best Thomas Newkirk University of New Hampshire This groundbreaking book has the best qualities of an exemplary research study while also providing us with a handbook of practical wisdom and engaging lessons for teaching writing to a diverse population of secondary students It is certain to inspire and instruct all English teachers and composition researchers who care about helping traditionally marginalized and underprepared students discover and demonstrate that they are qualified to enter college Sheridan Blau Teachers College Columbia University

Building Writing Center Assessments That Matter Ellen Schendel, William J. Macauley, 2012-10-16 No less than other divisions of the college or university contemporary writing centers find themselves within a galaxy of competing questions and demands that relate to assessment questions and demands that usually embed priorities from outside the purview of the writing center itself Writing centers are used to certain kinds of assessment both quantitative and qualitative but are often unprepared to address larger institutional or societal issues In Building Writing Center Assessments that Matter Schendel and Macauley start from the kinds of assessment strengths already in place in writing centers and they build a framework that can help writing centers satisfy local needs and put them in useful dialogue with the larger needs of their institutions while staying rooted in writing assessment theory The authors begin from the position that tutoring writers is already an assessment activity and that good assessment practice rooted in the work of Adler Kassner O'Neill Moore and Huot already reflects the values of writing center theory and practice They offer examples of assessments developed in local contexts and of how assessment data built within those contexts can powerfully inform decisions and shape the futures of local writing centers With additional contributions by Neal Lerner Brian Huot and Nicole Caswell and with a strong commitment to honoring on site local needs the volume does not advocate a one size fits all answer But like the modeling often used in a writing consultation examples here illustrate how important assessment principles have been applied in a range of local contexts Ultimately Building Writing Assessments that Matter describes a theory stance toward assessment for writing centers that honors the uniqueness of the writing center context and examples of assessment in action that are concrete manageable portable and adaptable

English/language Arts Curriculum Resource Handbook, 1992 Equity by Design Mirko Chardin, Katie Novak, 2020-07-20 Our calling is to drop our egos commit to removing barriers and treat our learners with the unequivocal respect and dignity they deserve Mirko Chardin and Katie Novak When it comes to the hard work of reconstructing our schools into places where every student has the opportunity to succeed Mirko Chardin and Katie Novak are absolutely convinced that teachers should serve as our primary architects And by teachers they mean legions of teachers working in close collaboration After all it's teachers who design students learning
