

An illustration of a bald eagle in flight, its wings spread wide, flying over a nest of eaglets. The nest is built on a rocky cliff edge. The background features a dramatic sky with purple and yellow clouds, and a bright sun or moon. The overall scene is one of a parent eagle returning to its young.

Organizations Dan Covell, Sharianne Walker, 2024-08-07 Now in a fully revised and updated fifth edition Managing Sport Organizations introduces the fundamentals of sport management across every industry sector from youth and intercollegiate sport to professional leagues and from community level sport to international sport Bridging the gap between theory and practice this book covers the key topics issues and concepts in contemporary sport management and introduces the key skills needed to thrive as a successful sport management practitioner It explores themes including strategy decision making leadership human resource management managing change facility management and sport media and technology as well as career pathways in sport management This new edition contains expanded coverage of women s sport esports artificial intelligence AI in sport sustainability and the structure and governance of international sport Each chapter includes a full range of useful features such as case studies career insights management exercises study questions and definitions of key terms and concepts No other textbook combines the rigor of the business school with the creativity and dynamism of modern sport business making this the perfect foundation for any course in sport management sport administration or sport business This book is accompanied by ancillary materials including a test bank presentation slides and chapter outlines

Information Systems Outsourcing Rudy Hirschheim, Armin Heinzl, Jens Dibbern, 2007-06-13 Four years have been passed away since the first edition of this book has been published While certain key issues on IS sourcing like determinants and application service provision have become more mature from an academic and industry perspective additional topics have arisen on the horizon In particular offshoring and business process outsourcing have led to numerous insightful publications which offer a valuable and indispensable holistic sourcing perspective Thus the second edition of our outsourcing book deals with enduring themes new perspectives and global challenges In addition to classical themes like Sourcing Determinants Part I Relationship Aspects Part II and Experiences Part III we felt it worthwhile to add three new parts They cover information systems outsourcing from a Vendor and Individual Perspective Part IV Application Service Providing Part V as well as Offshoring and Global Outsourcing Part VI Again we have thoughtfully tried to arrange a compilation of contemporary outsourcing research as a primer and a platform for scientific discourse In contrast to the first edition this book is not the outcome of an International Conference but rather an update of important and relevant perspectives Since the Third International Conference on Outsourcing of Information Services will take place 2007 in Heidelberg Germany it may be considered as an epilogue for further interactions and discussions

Learning to Liberate Vajra Watson, 2012-03-29 Few problems in education are as pressing as the severe crisis in urban schools Though educators have tried a wide range of remedies dismal results persist This is especially true for low income youth of color who drop out of school and into incarceration at extremely high rates The dual calamity of underachievement in schools and violence in many communities across the country is often met with blame and cynicism and with a host of hurtful and unproductive quick fixes blaming educators pitting schools against each other turning solely to the private sector and ratcheting up the pressure on teachers and students But real change will not be possible until we shift our focus from finding fault to developing partnerships from documenting problems to discovering solutions Learning to Liberate does just that by presenting true and compelling community based approaches to school reform Drawing on over three years of ethnographic research Vajra Watson explores the complicated process of reaching and teaching today s students She reveals how four nontraditional educators successfully empower young people who have repeatedly been left behind Using portraiture a methodology rooted in vivid storytelling Watson analyzes each educator s specific teaching tactics Uncovering four distinct pedagogies of communication community compassion and commitment she then pulls together their key strategies to create a theoretically grounded framework that is both useful and effective A poignant insightful and practical analysis Learning to Liberate is a timely resource for all educators and youth serving practitioners who are committed to transforming at risk youth into at promise individuals who put their agency and potential into action in their schools and neighborhoods Commercial Poultry ,1909

Remembering D. Pollock,2017-02-28 Drawing on the work of scholars and practitioners such as Augusto Boal Gloria Anzaldúa and Trinh Minh ha these essays advocate oral history and oral history based performance as means to challenge and expand upon traditional ways of transmitting historical knowledge The contributors central concerns are performative aspects of oral history itself and the theatrical or classroom re performance of oral history The essays detail classroom and public pedagogies community based interventions processes of developing interview based performances and the ethical and political implications of oral history as an embodied form of representation The essays collected in this volume present the most current scholarship straddling the rich intersection between oral history and performance and together suggest ways for scholars and performers to use oral history to challenge more traditional modes of knowledge Princeton Alumni
