Horn of Darkness Carol Cunningham, Joel Berger, 2000 The black rhino is nature's tank feared by all animals Even lions will break off a hunt to detour around one And yet the black rhino is on the edge of extinction its numbers dwindling from 100 000 at the turn of the century to less than 2 500 today The reason is that in places like Yemen China Korea Taiwan and Thailand the rhino's horn is more valuable than gold so valuable that people will risk their lives to harvest it To deter rhino poachers African governments have spent millions on helicopters paramilitary operations fences and guard dogs even relocation to protected areas Finally Namibia decided to dehorn its rhino population in a last ditch effort to stop the slaughter In 1991 Carol Cunningham and Joel Berger and their eighteen month old daughter Sonja went to Namibia to weigh the effects of dehorning on rhinos In Horn of Darkness they tell the story of three years in the Namib Desert studying Africa's last sizable population of free roaming black rhinos This is the closest most readers will come to experiencing life in the remaining wilds of Africa Cunningham and Berger writing nine chapters capture what it is like to leave the comforts of civilization to camp for months at a time in a land filled with deadly predators to study an animal that is reclusive unpredictable and highly dangerous The authors describe staking out water holes in the dead of the night creeping to within twenty seven meters of rhinos to photograph them all the while keeping a lookout for hyenas elephants and lions They recount many heart pounding escapes one rhino forces Carol Cunningham up a tree an unseen lion in hot pursuit of hyenas races right past a frozen Joel Berger and capture the adrenaline rush of inching closer to a rhino that might flee or charge at any moment They also give readers a clear sense of the careful patient work involved in studying animals the frustration of long days without finding rhinos or seeing other people coping with heat and thirst the Namib desert is one of the driest on Earth with dirt and insects driving hundreds of kilometers in a Land Rover packed to capacity slowing amassing records on one hundred individual rhinos over the course of several years And perhaps most important the authors

reveal that the data they collected suggests that the de horning project might backfire that in the four years after de horning began calf survival was down the evidence suggests that hyenas might be preying on calves and the horn less mothers couldn't defend their offspring They also describe the dark side of scientific work from the petty jealousy of other scientists outside researchers were often seen as ecological imperialists to the controversy that erupted after the authors published their findings as furious officials of the Namibian conservation program denounced their findings and through delays and other tactics effectively withheld a permit to allow the couple to continue their study Weaving together the historical accounts of other naturalists a vividly detailed look at life in the wild and a behind the scenes glimpse of scientific work and the dark side of the conservation movement Horn of Darkness is destined to be a classic work on the natural world After They're Gone Peter Marren, 2022-05-05 Wise challenging and offering some unexpected laughter in the dark this is a rational and insightful account of the sixth great extinction event Peter Marren is a brilliant writer and a national treasure PATRICK BARKHAM Thoughtful fascinating and very timely STEPHEN MOSS Important and thought provoking CAROLINE LUCAS GREEN PARTY MP Essential reading Marren makes a page turner out of Armageddon SIMON BARNES In his characteristic style Peter Marren has humanised the story of wildlife losses with humour and wit but also with his enormous knowledge and deep love for the living world MARK COCKER We are in the midst of an extinction event the sixth mass extinction on earth and one entirely caused by mankind All species become extinct sooner or later but we have accelerated that natural process several hundredfold and now it is happening right in front of our eyes Extinction has a terrifying finality to it And many species have already been lost to us forever there is little we can do about that What we can do however is reflect remember and ultimately acknowledge the unvarnished truth We must see the natural world as it is and not as we might want it to be Our trajectory is one that has benefited one species alone humankind For all other beings from mammals to fish from birds to insects and coral from plants to lichens and fungi the future for better or worse is in our hands Running with Rhinos Ed Warner, 2016-03-01 Running with rhinos is not a euphemism not when you're ground support for the International Rhino Foundation's Rhino Conservancy Project Edward M Warner a self proclaimed radical conservationist presents his outrageous adventures from more than a decade of collaboration with the veterinarians and biologists who care for endangered rhinos in Africa Few if any laymen like Warner have been invited to do what amounts to some of the most dangerous volunteer fieldwork around Fewer than five thousand black rhinos remain in the wilds of sub Saharan Africa About five hundred live on private conservancies in Zimbabwe For Warner working on the frontlines of rhino conservation not only allowed him to help rhinos it gave him the opportunity to pursue and refine his emerging philosophy of radical conservationism to cultivate partnerships between local communities and private landowners in Africa and to export the lessons about land and wildlife management back home to the United States In Running with Rhinos Stories from a Radical Conservationist Warner takes readers along as he weasels his way into becoming volunteer ground support for the International Rhino Foundation's Rhino

Conservancy Project or Rhino Ops in Zimbabwe It is gritty sweaty sometimes scary and exhilarating work Warner succeeds in telling a remarkable story of the extraordinary bonds between humans and their dedication to protecting endangered animals all while weaving eye opening stories about the flora fauna geology geography and politics of sub Saharan Africa Tiger Bone & Rhino Horn Richard Ellis,2013-02-22 In parts of Korea and China moon bears black but for the crescent shaped patch of white on their chests are captured in the wild and brought to bear farms where they are imprisoned in squeeze cages and a steel catheter is inserted into their gall bladders The dripping bile is collected as a cure for ailments ranging from an upset stomach to skin burns The bear may live as long as fifteen years in this state Rhinos are being illegally poached for their horns as are tigers for their bones thought to improve virility Booming economies and growing wealth in parts of Asia are increasing demand for these precious medicinals Already endangered species are being sacrificed for temporary treatments for nausea and erectile dysfunction Richard Ellis one of the world s foremost experts in wildlife extinction brings his alarm to the pages of Tiger Bone Rhino Horn in the hope that through an exposure of this drug trade something can be done to save the animals most direly threatened Trade in animal parts for traditional Chinese medicine is a leading cause of species endangerment in Asia and poaching is increasing at an alarming rate Most of traditional Chinese medicine relies on herbs and other plants and is not a cause for concern Ellis illuminates those aspects of traditional medicine but as wildlife habitats are shrinking for the hunted large species the situation is becoming ever more critical One hundred years ago there were probably 100 000 tigers in India South China Sumatra Bali Java and the Russian Far East The South Chinese Caspian Balinese and Javan species are extinct There are now fewer than 5 000 tigers in all of India and the numbers are dropping fast There are five species of rhinoceros three in Asia and two in Africa and all have been hunted to near extinction so their horns can be ground into powder not for aphrodisiacs as commonly thought but for ailments ranging from arthritis to depression In 1930 there were 80 000 black rhinos in Africa Now there are fewer than 2 500 Tigers bears and rhinos are not the only animals pursued for the sake of alleviating human ills the list includes musk deer sharks saiga antelope seahorses porcupines monkeys beavers and sea lions but the dwindling numbers of those rare species call us to attention Ellis tells us what has been done successfully and contemplates what can and must be done to save these animals or sadly our children will witness the extinction of tigers rhinos and moon bears in their lifetime King Lonely Lion Looks at Letters Aileen M. Nature Crime Rosaleen Duffy, 2010-08-31 The perilous state of endangered species such as tigers and rhinos and the worldwide illegal trade in ivory diamonds bushmeat and many other rare and valuable commodities are familiar issues in the West The heroes in these narratives are those who work to create protected areas for wildlife the villains the shadowy poachers and smugglers who destroy endangered animals and their habitats for the sake of profit In this groundbreaking book Rosaleen Duffy argues that the story is much more complex than this She analyses the workings of the black market wildlife industry pointing out that illegal trading is often the direct result of Western consumer desires from coltan for mobile phones to caviar for the global elite She looks at how tourists contribute often unwittingly to the destruction of natural environments Most strikingly she argues that the imperatives of Western style conservation often result in serious injustice to local people who are at risk of losing not only heir land but sometimes even their lives The result of many years of first hand research this book is essential reading for anyone who wants to understand the complex realities of nature conservation Jacket

An Arid Eden Garth Owen-Smith, 2011-02-02 Two remarkable tales woven together the story of the Kaokoveld an arid eden in the remote north west of Namibia so nearly lost but regained to become one of Africa s iconic wildlife tourism destinations and also the story of a young man s search for an African way to do conservation in Africa Garth Owen Smith first visited the Kaokoveld in 1967 It was a life changing experience His unconventional ideas challenged both the conservation establishment and the former South African regime Despite this community based conservation was pioneered in the Kaokoveld and today Namibia is a world leader in this field But the early years when the foundation for this ground breaking approach to conservation was laid are largely forgotten and untold An Arid Eden A Personal Account of Conservation in the Kaokoveld brings those years alive through the eyes of Owen Smith spanning four and a half decades of extraordinary dedication passion and achievement The author and his partner Dr Margaret Jacobsohn have won some of the world s most prestigious conservation awards for their work in Namibia which has always challenged conventional wisdom The NGO they founded continues to break conservation agricultural and rural development paradigms      Somewhere East of Eden Michael McKeown,2017-11-07 From the author of Half Way Down an African Moon comes an evocative account of random journeys undertaken in Africa over the last thirty years Written at a time when the natural world everywhere is being heedlessly plundered and exploited as never before these recollections impassioned comic ironic and critical by turn are a reminder that in everything but multi national corporate cupidity the damage may well be irreparable Whether drifting in a fishing boat among lurking pods of unpredictable hippos down the Zambezi tracing the demise of the hapless Dodo in Mauritius trekking for lowland gorillas in the rainforests of south east Nigeria in the company of a wryly erudite local parks ranger or pondering the Stone Age mind set of wealthy trophy hunters the author s exhilaration for wildlife and nature glows through the prism of a gradually darkening lens The current state of our natural world may look bleak but giving up on it as he reminds us is not an option      Megaherbivores R.
