Conscription and the Search for Modern Russian Jewry Olga Litvak,2006-12-06 Olga Litvak has written a book of astonishing originality and intellectual force In vivid prose she takes the reader on a journey through the Russian Jewish literary imagination Benjamin Nathans Russian Jews were first conscripted into the Imperial Russian army during the reign of Nicholas I in an effort to integrate them into the population of the Russian Empire Conscribed minors were to serve in practical terms for life Although this system was abandoned by his successor the conscription experience remained traumatic in the popular memory and gave rise to a large and continuing literature that often depicted Jewish soldiers as heroes This imaginative and intellectually ambitious book traces the conscription theme in novels and stories by some of the best known Russian Jewish writers such as Osip Rabinovich Judah Leib Gordon and Mendele Mokher Seforim as well as by relatively unknown writers Published with the generous support of the Koret Foundation

Run Away with My Heart Suzette Carluccio,2014-04-22

Theres no doubt that every mother would like to think that she has been the perfect mother providing tender love and care and going to dance recitals brownie meetings and endless cheering events But how should a mother feel when she must face life with a daughter who is a defiant drug abusing chronic teenage runaway Run Away with My Heart shares the emotional journey that author Suzette Carluccio took to get her daughter the help she needed in order to turn her life around This memoir presents the perspective of a mother whose daughter Brie has been a chronic runaway for more than three years Carluccio only learned how deadly Bries drug and alcohol abuse really was when Brie was picked up by the police and taken to a psychiatric ward From there through natures healing power Carluccio learned to let go of the strong bond she has with her daughter After spending forty nine days in the wilderness and ten months in a therapeutic boarding school Brie finally began to take hold of her life and stopped running away from her inner demons Run Away with My Heart is a story of rebuilding and renewal demonstrating what happened when trust found its way back into Bries family The Anthropology of Marriage in Lowland South America Paul Valentine, Stephen Beckerman, Catherine Alès, 2017-05-09 Foremost scholars of indigenous Amazonia explore the vast and interesting gap between rules and practice demonstrating how sociocultural systems endure and even prosper due to the flexibility creativity and resilience of the people within them Jeremy M Campbell author of Conjuring Property Speculation and Environmental Futures in the Brazilian Amazon A landmark volume and a major contribution to the study of kinship and marriage in Amazonian societies an area of the world that has been pivotal to our understanding of the biocultural dimensions of cousin marriage and polygamy Nancy E Levine author of The Dynamics of Polyandry Kinship Domesticity and Population on the Tibetan Border This volume reveals that individuals in Amazonian cultures often disregard or reinterpret the marriage rules of their societies rules that anthropologists previously thought reflected practice It is the first book to consider not just what the rules are but how people in these societies negotiate manipulate and break them in choosing whom to marry Using ethnographic case studies that draw on previously unpublished material from well known indigenous cultures The Anthropology of Marriage in Lowland South America defies the tendency to focus only on the social structure of kinship and marriage that is so common in kinship studies Instead the contributors to this volume examine the people that conform to or deviate from that structure and their reasons for doing so They look not only at deviations in kinship behavior motivated by gender economics politics history ecology and sentimentality but also at how globalization and modernization are changing the ancestral norms and values themselves This is a richly diverse portrayal of agency and individual choice alongside normative kinship and marriage systems in a region that has long been central to anthropological studies of indigenous life Paul Valentine is professor emeritus of anthropology at the University of East London Stephen Beckerman is adjunct professor at the University of Utah Together Valentine and Beckerman have coedited Revenge in the Cultures of Lowland South America and Cultures of Multiple Fathers The Theory and Practice of Partible Paternity in Lowland South America Catherine Alès is director of research at the National Center for Scientific Research Paris and is the author of Yanomami l ire et le d sir The Lost Children of Wilder Nina Bernstein, 2011-03-23 In 1973 Marcia Lowry a young civil liberties attorney filed a controversial class action suit that would come to be known as Wilder which challenged New York City s operation of its foster care system Lowry s contention was that the system failed the children it was meant to help because it placed them according to creed and convenience not according to need The plaintiff was thirteen year old Shirley Wilder an abused runaway whose childhood had been shaped by the system s inequities Within a year Shirley would give birth to a son and relinquish him to the same failing system Seventeen years later with Wilder still controversial and still in court Nina Bernstein tried to find out what had happened to Shirley and her baby She was told by child welfare officials that Shirley had disappeared and that her son was one of thousands of anonymous children whose circumstances are concealed by the veil of confidentiality that hides foster care from public scrutiny But Bernstein persevered The Lost Children of Wilder gives us in galvanizing and compulsively readable detail the full history of a case that reveals the racial religious and political fault lines in our child welfare system and lays bare the fundamental contradiction at the heart of our well intended efforts to sever the destiny of needy children from the fate of their parents Bernstein takes us behind the scenes of far reaching legal and legislative battles at the same time as she traces in heartbreaking counterpoint the consequences as they are played out in the life of Shirley s son Lamont His terrifying journey through the system has produced a man with deep emotional wounds a stifled yearning for family and a son growing up in the system s shadow In recounting the failure of the promise of benevolence The Lost Children of Wilder makes clear how welfare reform can also damage its intended beneficiaries A landmark achievement of investigative reporting and a tour de force of social observation this book will haunt every reader who cares about the needs of children members and friends looking for missing loved ones need to know what programs and databases to access though to get the search under way Snow reveals to readers the process the police use when trying to locate missing people of interest information that readers can then use to locate their own missing loved ones Using real stories and first hand accounts the author offers hope and guidance to those who may have given up the search for a child a spouse a parent or a friend     A
