Running Towards Us New Writing From South Africa:

Feminist New Testament Studies K. Wicker, M. Dube, A. Spencer-Miller, 2016-09-27 This volume is an engaging and provocative introduction to Feminist Biblical Studies The authors draw upon their own social cultural and religious backgrounds and experiences in reading the New Testament as feminists in the context of globalization They provide intentional interpretations of biblical texts that cast gender race class and power relationships as issues inherent in both the content and context of scripture and its interpretation The essays call into question feminist social engagement that does not extend beyond academic halls churches and Christians suggesting directions for future research and teaching in Feminist Biblical Studies Cinema in a Democratic South Africa Lucia Saks, 2010-07-19 Lucia Saks uses South African cinema as a lens through which to view cultural changes resulting from the end of apartheid in 1994 She examines how media transformed the meaning of race and nation during this period and argues that as apartheid was disbanded and new racial constructs allowed South Africa quickly sought a new mode of representation as a way to distance itself from the violence and racism of the half century prior as well as to demonstrate stability amid social disruption This rapid search for a new way to identify and portray itself is what Saks refers to as the race for representation She contextualizes this race in terms of South African history the media apartheid sexuality the economy community early South African cinema and finally speculates about the future of counter cinema in present day South Africa Critics and Writers Speak Igor Maver, 2006-01-01 This book of new critical essays and interviews with writers interrogates the current usage of the term and the category of the post colonial as a theoretical concept discourse and state of mind By looking at contemporary writing in English throughout the world it critically revises the current practice of post colonial studies and calls attention to its significant weaknesses The Mistress's Dog David Medalie, 2010-05-01 The Mistress s Dog is an engaging collection of twelve short stories by David Medalie including two award winners Recognition and The Mistress s Dog and a Foreword and afterword by Michael Titlestad Deft subtle and nuanced Medalie s stories show an accomplished and mature writer at his best Their focus is the lived experience of people ostensibly uneventful lives into which the unexpected erupts These stories find significance in the reversals ironies and coincidences of existence They bring the characters and the reader to the brink of recognition The Mistress s Dog was short listed in 2011 for the University of Johannesburg Literary Award and was awarded the Thomas Pringle Award by the English Academy of Southern Africa in 2008 It was also short listed in 2011 for the Caine Prize for African Writing and was selected as one of the best twenty short stories of the post apartheid period and was published in 2014 along with the other nineteen stories in a collection entitled Twenty in 20 To Change Reels Isabel Balseiro, Ntongela Masilela, 2003 With the end of apartheid South African cinema is at a turning point in its history This collection offers an exploration of a film industry that has excluded its country s black majority in both representation and production and which now must overcome collusion between racist ideology and film form Until recently filmmakers could work only within a culture that reluctantly took black South Africans into account Therefore to explore what South African cinema has been and could become the authors do not limit their discussion to film production but approach cinema as a manifestation of cultural history How has the purpose of cinema been viewed at different times in South Africa by different governments and social groups What is the relation between film and a sense of nationhood in South Africa Such questions lead to a consideration not only of films made by South Africans in South Africa but also of an unfolding film culture within a series of stages that have yet to give rise to a national cinema

Beginnings of a Dream Zachariah Rapola, 2007 Birth is the beginning of a dream a meditative pose over knights and queens on the tightrope a juggle of divining bones striving to interpret man's prodigal wanderings through the Minotaur's labyrinth

Running Towards Us Isabel Balseiro, 2000 In Running Towards Us 31 contemporary authors offer literary responses to the end of apartheid demonstrating what the creative imagination in South Africa has to offer at the turn of the 21st century

Writing as Resistance Paul Gready, 2003-01-01 Writing as Resistance charts the inner workings of apartheid through the encounters imprisonment exile and homecoming that crucially defined its violent reign and ultimate overthrow Author Paul Gready demonstrates the transformative nature of autobiographical narrative as resistance in the context of political struggle This multidisciplinary study addresses a range of important contemporary topics migration postcolonialism globalization nationalism human rights and political democratization among others While informed by the work of South African writers including Breytenbach Coetzee First Krog Modisane and Serote and adding to the literature on the apartheid era this book speaks to all cultures of violence With this important work Gready sheds new light on the relationship between violence and creativity

Mapping My Way Home Stephanie Urdang, 2017-11-22 Stephanie Urdang was born in Cape Town South Africa into a white Jewish family staunchly opposed to the apartheid regime In 1967 at the age of twenty three no longer able to tolerate the grotesque iniquities and oppression of apartheid she chose exile and emigrated to the United States There she embraced feminism met anti apartheid and solidarity movement activists and encountered a particularly American brand of racial injustice Urdang also met African revolutionaries such as Amilcar Cabral who would influence her return to Africa and her subsequent journalism In 1974 she trekked through the liberation zones of Guinea Bissau during its war of independence in the 1980 s she returned repeatedly to Mozambique and saw how South Africa was fomenting a civil war aimed to destroy the newly independent country From the vantage point of her activism in the United States and from her travels in Africa Urdang tracked and wrote about the slow inexorable demise of apartheid that led to South Africa s first democratic elections when she could finally return home Urdang s memoir maps out her quest for the meaning of home and for the lived reality of revolution with empathy courage and a keen eye for historical and geographic detail This is a personal narrative beautifully told of a journey traveled by an indefatigable exile who while yearning for home continued to question where as a citizen of both South Africa and the United States she belongs My South Africa she writes on her return in 1991 after the release of Nelson Mandela How could I have imagined for one instant that I could return to its beauty and not its pain Truth and Reconciliation Susan V.

Gallagher,Susan VanZanten,2002 Gallagher first examines the way in which confession originated as a religious practice and then evolved into a distinctive literary mode in recent South African fiction The Social, Cultural and Spiritual Dimensions of Modern Indian Poetry in English Vijay Kumar Roy,2017-05-11 This volume brings together research papers on the poetry of modern Indian poets particularly those whose poetry is less explored It is well known that post Independence India has produced many brilliant writers whose writings have their own importance in the field of Indian English literature These writers have brought new themes and new styles of writing that have enriched Indian English literature to a greater extent The book explores the social cultural and spiritual dimensions of these emerging poets and will prove useful to students teachers and all those interested in Indian English poetry for studies and research purposes For the Geography of a Soul Timothy J.
