Shakespeare, Milton and Eighteenth-Century Literary Editing Marcus Walsh, 2004-07-05 Study of the theories and methods informing editions of Milton and Shakespeare in the eighteenth century Eighteenth-Century Women Poets and Their Poetry Paula R. Backscheider, 2005-12-31 Co Winner James Russell Lowell Prize Modern Language Association This major study offers a broad view of the writing and careers of eighteenth century women poets casting new light on the ways in which poetry was read and enjoyed on changing poetic tastes in British culture and on the development of many major poetic genres and traditions Rather than presenting a chronological survey Paula R Backscheider explores the forms in which women wrote and the uses to which they put those forms Considering more than forty women in relation to canonical male writers of the same era she concludes that women wrote in all of the genres that men did but often adapted revised and even created new poetic kinds from traditional forms Backscheider demonstrates that knowledge of these women's poetry is necessary for an accurate and nuanced literary history Within chapters on important canonical and popular verse forms she gives particular attention to such topics as women's use of religious poetry to express candid ideas about patriarchy and rape the continuing evolution and important role of the supposedly antiquarian genre of the friendship poetry same sex desire in elegy by women as well as by men and the status of Charlotte Smith as a key figure of the long eighteenth century not only as a Romantic era poet The Oxford Handbook of British Poetry, 1660-1800 John T. Poetic Sisters Deborah Kennedy, 2013 In Poetic Sisters Deborah Kennedy explores the personal and literary connections among five early eighteenth century women poets Anne Finch Countess of Winchilsea Elizabeth Singer Rowe Frances Seymour Countess of Hertford Sarah Dixon and Mary Jones Richly illustrated and elegantly written this book brings the eighteenth century to life presenting a diverse range of material from serious religious poems to amusing verses on domestic life The work of Anne Finch author of A Nocturnal Reverie provides the cornerstone for this well informed study But it was Elizabeth Rowe who achieved international fame for her popular religious writings Both women influenced the Countess of Hertford who wrote about the beauty of nature centuries before modern Earth Day celebrations Sarah Dixon a middle class writer from Kent had a strong moral outlook and stood up for those whose voices needed to be heard including her own Finally Mary Jones who lived in Oxford was praised for both her genius and her sense of humor Poetic Sisters presents a fascinating female literary network revealing the bonds of a shared vocation that unites these writers It also traces their literary afterlife from the eighteenth century to the present day with references to contemporary culture demonstrating how their work resonates with new generations of readers Lady Mary Wortley Montagu Isobel Grundy, 1999 This book is the first to look at Lady Mary Wortley Montagu s achievement as a vital figure in the women s literary tradition Robert Halsband s book on her life the sixth this century and published in 1956 was the first to apply scholarly techniques to establishing the facts The inaccurate accounts given before Halsband testify to Lady Mary s compelling interest as a woman who wrote travelled campaigned publicly for medical advance gossiped and was involved in high profile literary quarrels Knowledge of her life has made considerable gains since Halsband as understanding of the issues involved in trying to move between the roles of proper lady and woman writer has increased enormously This life fruitfully exploits the tension between literary history and feminist reading Isobel Grundy highlights Montagu s adolescent longing for literary fame her growing understanding of the implications of this for gender and class imperatives the frustrations and concessions involved in her collaborations with male writers the punitive responses of society the gaps at every stage of her life between her ascertainable circumstances and her construction of herself in letters and other writings The book situates those writings in relation to her own theorizing and her very wide reading in women's texts as well as men's Finally it looks at a range of contemporary and near contemporary responses

Natural Rights and the Birth of Romanticism in the 1790s R. White, 2005-11-22 Following the American War of Independence and the French Revolution ideas of the Natural Rights of Man later distinguished into particular issues like rights of association rights of women slaves children and animals were publicly debated in England Literary figures like Wollstonecraft Godwin Thelwall Blake and Wordsworth reflected these struggles in their poetry and fiction With the seminal influences of John Locke and Rousseau these and many other writers laid for high Romantic Literature foundations that were not so much aesthetic as moral and political This new study by R S White provides a reinterpretation of the Enlightenment as it is currently understood

Breeding Jenny Davidson, 2023-05-09 The Enlightenment commitment to reason naturally gave rise to a belief in the perfectibility of man Influenced by John Locke and Jean Jacques Rousseau many eighteenth century writers argued that the proper education and upbringing breeding could make any man a member of the cultural elite Yet even in this egalitarian environment the concept of breeding remained tied to theories of blood lineage caste distinction and biological difference Turning to the works of Locke Rousseau Swift Defoe and other giants of the British Enlightenment Jenny Davidson revives the debates that raged over the husbandry of human nature and highlights their critical impact on the development of eugenics the emergence of fears about biological determinism and the history of the language itself Combining rich historical research with a keen sense of story she links explanations for the physical resemblance between parents and children to larger arguments about culture and society and shows how the threads of this compelling conversation reveal the character of a century A remarkable intellectual history Breeding not only recasts the fundamental concerns of the Enlightenment but also uncovers the seeds of thought that bloomed into contemporary notions of human perfectibility

Cultivating Peace Melissa Schoenberger, 2019-05-17 During the decades following the English civil wars British poets seeking to make sense of lingering political instabilities turned to Virgil's Georgics This ancient poem betrays deep ambivalences about war political power and empire and such poets as Andrew Marvell John Dryden and Anne Finch found in these attitudes valuable ways of responding to the uncertainties of their own time Composed during a period of brutal conflict in Rome Virgil's agricultural poem distrusts easy stability urging its readers to understand that lasting peace must be sowed tended reaped and replanted year after year Like the ancient poet who famously depicted a farmer's scythe suddenly recast as a sword the poets discussed in Cultivating Peace imagine states of peace and war to be fundamentally and materially linked In distinct ways they dismantle the dream of the golden age renewed proposing instead that peace must be sustained by constant labor Published by Bucknell University Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press The Wreckage of Intentions David Alff, 2017-09-12 The seventeenth and eighteenth centuries in Britain saw the proposal of so many endeavors called projects a catchphrase for the daring sometimes dangerous practice of shaping the future that Daniel Defoe dubbed his era a Projecting Age These ideas spanned a wide variety of scientific technological and intellectual interventions intended for the betterment of England But for all the fanfare surrounding them few such schemes actually materialized leaving scores of defunct visions from Defoe's own attempt to farm cats for perfume to Mary Astell's proposal to charter a college for women to countless ventures for improving land streamlining government and inventing new consumer goods Taken together these failed plans form a compelling alternative history of a Britain that might have been The Wreckage of Intentions offers a comprehensive and critical account of projects exploring the historical memory surrounding these concrete yet incomplete efforts to advance British society during a period defined by revolutions in finance and agriculture the rise of experimental science and the establishment of constitutional monarchy Using methods of literary analysis David Alff shows how projects began as written proposals circulated as print objects spurred physical undertakings and provoked responses in the realms of poetry fiction and drama Mapping this process discloses the ways in which eighteenth century authors applied their faculties of imagination to achieve finite goals and in so doing devised new ways of seeing the world through its future potential Approaching old projects through the language landscapes data and personas they left behind Alff contends this vision was and remains vital to the functions of statecraft commerce science religion and literature Women, Work, and Wages in England, 1600-1850 Penelope Lane, Neil Raven, K. D. M. Snell, 2004 The work of women is recognised as having been fundamental to the industrialization of Britain These studies explore how that work was remunerated in studies that range across time region and occupation Topics include the changing nature of women's work customary norms and women and the East India Company Eighteenth-Century English Labouring-Class Poets, vol 1 John Goodridge, Simon Kövesi, David Fairer, Tim Burke, William Christmas, 2020-04-28 Poets of labouring class origin were published in Britain in the 18th and 19th centuries Some were popular and important in their day but few are available today This is a collection of some of those poems from the 18th century Exemplary England Sarabeth Grant, 2023-03-08 What meaning does the past hold for the present History writing often prioritizes the ethos and actions of the great men of the past those connected to formal expressions of power as models worthy of imitation The problem with such exemplars is that they craft a limited view of national identity drawn from political economic religious and social institutional superstructures Inherently exclusionary narratives of exemplary men inadequately represent the complexities of a metropolitan and diverse society In Exemplary England Sarabeth Grant explores three canonical texts of 1740s England that critique the class geography and gender assumptions of the exemplar model Through original readings of Alexander Pope Thomas Gray and Samuel Richardson she locates practices of constituting history and registering national identity in eighteenth century England beyond that tradition Her book argues that these literary texts offer recompense for the national injustices endured by the disenfranchised charting the development of inward historical consciousness as necessary to civic stability

Churchyard Poetics James Metcalf, 2025-01-12 The familiar literary critical category of graveyard poetry has made the eighteenth century churchyard a commonplace in the period's cultural imaginary a location in which melancholy religious poets get lost in imaginative reveries or didactic visions of the afterlife By contrast Churchyard Poetics: Landscape, Labour and the Legacy of Genre shows how the churchyard takes on a new shape and a fresh importance for a counter tradition of women and labouring class poets for whom this landscape is a resting place with no closure In work by Mary Leapor Ann Yearsley Charlotte Smith and John Clare but also for Robert Blair Thomas Gray and William Wordsworth the churchyard emerges as a contested space of social life through a shared focus on the body as the instrument of labour Churchyard Poetics focuses on how these poets use genres like georgic pastoral topographical poetry and elegy to locate the churchyard in a broader terrain of laborious life disarranged in the press towards industrial capitalism Managing the material of their violently reordered world through genre and other aesthetic strategies these poets articulate the pressures on working bodies and the associated structures of feeling attendant on the experience of history at its sharpest edge The poems examined in Churchyard Poetics thus strain against without resolving the ideal the churchyard is made to express that collective life is reassuringly organised around places of burial and remembrance Declining continuity or consolation the poets at the centre of this book refigure the churchyard as a traumatised landscape and unearth from its wounded ground an affective archive of social injury of bodies compelled into service by new regimes of labour and dispatched to the churchyard when their usefulness runs out
