Since most nursing education programs and practicing nurses are located in urban settings, programs are needed to prepare nurses who choose rural practice. In their book, Dr. Molinari and Dr. Bushy provide excellent examples of practice models from North America, New Zealand, and Australia with curricula that address transition issues. The text makes a significant contribution to the discussion about how to best prepare nurses for rural practice and will be of interest to administrators, educators, and clinicians. From the Foreword by Charlene A. Winters, PhD, APRN, ACNS-BC, Associate Professor, Montana State University College of Nursing. This is the only volume to address the pressing need for practical information about transitioning from an urban-based nursing education or practice to a rural health care environment. It provides successful strategies that nurses in rural settings can use to develop, implement, and evaluate innovative programs that will meet the needs of individual rural communities. The book details current rural nursing transition to practice trends and issues, national standards, and evidence-based model programs worldwide. Rural practice culture is described along with professional education issues, competency, patient care, and safety. Chapters are presented in easy-to-access formats that offer ready solutions for problems commonly encountered in rural practice, such as nurse recruitment and retention. In addition to health care delivery issues for specific rural populations, the book presents program descriptions from local to state levels, including locally developed education programs, urban hospital systems outreach to rural facilities, universities collaborating with rural businesses, city-based workshops, statewide competencies tracked by employers, and a distance education program customized by rural agencies. Case studies demonstrate how rural facilities, even the smallest and most isolated, are advancing health care through nurse support. The text will be of value to rural nursing staff, developers, critical access hospitals, and community clinic administrators, rural professional organizations, small urban health facilities, continuing education providers, nursing workforce centers, and graduate programs. Key Features: The first transition from academia to practice guide for rural nursing. Charts evidence-based successes and offers model programs in different rural settings. Provides rural-specific information to facilitate statewide health mandates. Features residency program development processes with tips and tools that work.      Glaserian Grounded Theory in Nursing Research Barbara Artinian, Tove Giske, Pamela Cone, Pamela H. Cone, 2009-07-20 This book provides an overview of Glaserian grounded theory and its application to nursing research. It is easy to understand and should serve as a good reference for anyone using grounded theory method. Score 93, 4 stars. Doody's This book illustrates the development of the Grounded Theory (GT) method as applied to nursing research. Initially developed by Glaser and Strauss in 1967 and further described by Glaser in Theoretical Sensitivity (1978), this groundbreaking research method proposes that the first step is to collect data and subsequently generate the theory that emerges from that data In essence this method allows theory to capture experience The authors present an engaging overview of the GT method followed by examples of early modes of GT studies The book focuses on how novice researchers working at the descriptive level can apply GT to their nursing research with sensitivity to emerging theoretical codes Key Features Guidelines for using Glaserian grounded theory in nursing research Readable research designs suitable for novice researchers Techniques of conceptual mapping to assist in the analytical process Use of emergent theoretical codes to enhance and integrate descriptive theory Testing of completed research in intervention programs in clinical practice Supplementary online materials with definitions of the different modes of GT a presentation of the Intersystem Model and more
