Industrializing South Africa Timothy J. Keegan, 1986 The first comprehensive treatment of the making of the contemporary South African countryside investigating the emergence of white capitalist farming and the destruction of black rural enterprise in early industrial South Africa It analyses the impact of rising markets and the influx of capital on rural production and social relationships particularly the process whereby a black working class was forged It also examines the rural social origins of modern Afrikanerdom exploring the experiences of impoverishment and land loss amongst whites as well as the processes of accumulation and capitalization whereby a highly capitalized farming economy unique in the continent emerged and was sustained The significance and nature of state interventions in these processes are especially addressed An Economic History of South Africa C. H. Feinstein, 2005-06-23 This book is the first economic history of South Africa in over sixty years Professor Charles H Feinstein offers an authoritative survey of five hundred years of South African economic history from the years preceding European settlements in 1652 through to the post Apartheid era He charts the early phase of slow growth and then the transformation of the economy as a result of the discovery of diamonds and gold in the 1870s followed by the rapid rise of industry in the wartime years The final chapters cover the introduction of apartheid after 1948 and its consequences for economic performance Special attention is given to the processes by which the black population were deprived of their land and to the methods by which they were induced to supply labour for white farms mines and factories This book will be essential reading for students in economics African history imperial history and politics

Twentieth-Century South Africa William Beinart, 2001-10-04 An innovative examination of the forces both destructive and dynamic which have shaped twentieth century South Africa This book provides a stimulating introduction to the history of South Africa in the twentieth century It draws on the rich and lively tradition of radical history writing on that country and to a greater extent than previous accounts weaves economic and cultural history into the political narrative Apartheid and industrialization especially mining are central theme as is the rise of nationalism in the Afrikaner and African communities But the author also emphasizes the neglected significance of rural experiences and local identities in shaping political consciousness The roles played by such key figure as Smuts Verwoerd de Klerk Platje and Mandela are explored while recent historiographical trends are reflected in analyses of rural protest white cultural politics the vitality of black urban life and environmental decay The book assesses the analysis of black reactions to apartheid the rise of the ANC The concluding chapter brings this seminal history up to date tackling the issues and events from 1994 1999 in particular the success of Mandela and the ANC in seeing through the end of apartheid rule It also looks at the chances of a stable future for the new found democracy in South Africa Slavery, Emancipation and Colonial Rule in South Africa Wayne Dooling, 2008 Slavery Emancipation and Colonial Rule in South Africa examines the rural Cape Colony from the earliest days of Dutch colonial rule in the mid seventeenth century to the outbreak of the South African War in 1899 For slaves and slave owners alike incorporation into the British Empire at the beginning of the nineteenth century brought fruits that were bittersweet The gentry had initially done well by accepting British rule but were ultimately faced with the legislated ending of servile labor To slaves and Khoisan servants British rule brought freedom but a freedom that remained limited The gentry accomplished this feat only with great difficulty Increasingly their dominance of the countryside was threatened by English speaking merchants and money lenders a challenge that stimulated early Afrikaner nationalism The alliances that ensured nineteenth century colonial stability all but fell apart as the descendants of slaves and Khoisan turned on their erstwhile masters during the South African War of 1899 1902 A History of South Africa Leonard Montearth

Thompson,2001-01-01 Presents a comprehensive history of the country from its earliest human settlements to events prior to European colonisation to the Dutch occupation and the years of apartheid to its success in becoming an independent nation

Green Lands for White Men Meredith

McKittrick, 2024-10-08 How an audacious environmental engineering plan fanned white settlers' visions for South Africa stoked mistrust in scientific experts and gave rise to the Apartheid state. In 1918 South Africa's climate seemed to be drying up. White farmers claimed that rainfall was dwindling while nineteenth-century missionaries and explorers had found riverbeds, seashells, and other evidence of a verdant past deep in the Kalahari Desert. Government experts insisted, however, that the rains weren't disappearing; the land, long susceptible to periodic drought, had been further degraded by settler farmers' agricultural practices, an explanation that white South Africans rejected. So when the geologist Ernest Schwarz blamed the land itself, the farmers listened. Schwarz held that erosion and topography had created arid conditions; that rainfall was declining and that agriculture was not to blame. As a solution, he proposed diverting two rivers to the Kalahari's basins, creating a lush country where white South Africans could thrive. This plan, which became known as the Kalahari Thirstland Redemption Scheme, was rejected by most scientists. But it found support among white South Africans who worried that struggling farmers undermined an image of racial superiority. Green Lands for White Men explores how white agriculturalists in southern Africa grappled with a parched and changing terrain as they sought to consolidate control over a Black population. Meredith McKittrick's timely history of the Redemption Scheme reveals the environment to have been central to South African understandings of race. While Schwarz's plan was never implemented, it enjoyed sufficient support to prompt government research into its feasibility and years of debate. McKittrick shows how white farmers rallied around a plan that represented their interests over those of the South African state and delves into the reasons behind this schism between expert opinion and public perception. This backlash against the predominant scientific view, McKittrick argues, displayed the depth of popular mistrust in an expanding scientific elite. A detailed look at the intersection of a settler society, climate change, white nationalism, and expert credibility, Green Lands for White Men examines the reverberations of a scheme that ultimately failed but influenced ideas about race and the environment in South Africa for decades to come.

Green Skills Research in South Africa Eureka Rosenberg, Presha Ramsarup, Heila Lotz-Sisitka, 2019-12-05 This book proposes transformative realist methodology for skills research and planning through an analysis of case studies of the changing world of work, new learning pathways, and educational system challenges. Studies of the green economy and sustainability transitions are a growing field internationally; however, there are few books that link this interest to the development of skills. This book draws on and showcases the experience and insights of researcher-practitioners who are at the cutting edge in this emerging field internationally and in South Africa. The context for this book is South Africa, but application is worldwide. In many ways indicative of the global picture, South Africa is in the grip of economic and environmental imperatives, searching for safe and just transitions. The authors present a new embedded transitioning systems model for studying skills for a sustainable just future. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of sustainable development, ecological economics and skills planning Oxwagon Sentinel Christoph Marx,2008 This new approach to the social history of Afrikaner nationalism looks into the diverse causes for the rise of a political movement which was to shape South African history profoundly during the 20th Century In the 1930s Afrikaner nationalism transformed itself from a populist into a cultural nationalism becoming politically radicalised at the same time The nationalist symbol of the oxwagon was used not only by the National Party but also by the extra and antiparliamentarian mass movement Ossewabrandwag which was founded in 1939 Drawing on a broad range of archival resources the social history of this extremist organisation is analysed showing local and regional differences The Ossewabrandwag as a nationalist movement counted a considerable part of the Afrikaans white population among its members Therefore the Ossewabrandwag can be understood appropriately only in the context of radical Afrikaner nationalism Given that the potential for political radicalisation in the white South African population was considerable ideological influences from overseas played merely an additional role The book looks into the reasons for the mass participation in the Ossewabrandwag In addition it analyses the organisation's fight with the National Party and its illegal and treasonable activities In this context the book discusses which ideological influences on the apartheid policy can be identified as coming from organised right wing extremism A Prophet of the People Lauren V. Jarvis,2024-03-01 In 1910 Isaiah Shembe was struggling He had left his family and quit his job as a sanitation worker to become a Baptist evangelist but he ended his first mission without much to show Little did he know that he would soon establish the Nazareth Church as he began to attract attention from people left behind by industrial capitalism in South Africa By his death in 1935 Shembe was an internationally known prophet and healer described by his peers as better off than all the Black people In A Prophet of the People Isaiah Shembe and the Making of a South African Church historian Lauren V Jarvis provides a fascinating and intimate portrait of one of South Africa's most famous religious figures and in turn the making of modern South Africa Following Shembe from his birth in the 1860s across many environments and contexts Jarvis illuminates the tight links between the spread of Christianity strategies of evasion and the capacious forms of community that continue to shape South Africa today The Farmerfield Mission Fiona Vernal,2012-08-29 The Farmerfield Mission explores the history of a residential Christian community in South Africa established for Africans in 1838 by Methodist missionaries destroyed in 1962 by the apartheid government when it was zoned as an exclusive area for white occupation and returned to the descendants of the community under South Africa's land reform program in 1999

Diamonds, Gold, and War Martin Meredith,2008-09-23 Southern Africa was once regarded as a worthless jumble of British colonies Boer republics and African chiefdoms a troublesome region of little interest to the outside world But then prospectors chanced upon the world's richest deposits of diamonds and gold setting off a titanic struggle between the British and the Boers for control of the land The result was the costliest bloodiest and most humiliating war that Britain had waged in nearly a century and the devastation of the Boer republics The New Yorker calls this magisterial account of those years an astute history Meredith expertly shows how the exigencies of the diamond and then gold rush laid the foundation for apartheid From Cape to Congo Mwesiga Laurent Baregu, Chris Landsberg, 2003 From the ongoing war in Angola to sporadic instability in Zimbabwe and Lesotho to the conflict in Congo to issues of land reform and the ravages of AIDS southern Africa faces varied and complex threats to its peace and security The authors of From Cape to Congo assess the region's major security challenges as well as the roles of local regional and external actors in managing them Their theoretically informed but practical approach encompasses the political economic and military arenas
