The Transformation of Rural Africa T. S. Jayne, Jordan Chamberlin, Rui Benfica, 2020-04-28 Contemporary discussions of Africa s recent growth have largely interpreted such growth in terms of structural transformation based mainly on national and sectoral level data However the micro level processes driving this transformation are still unclear and remain the subject of debate This collection provides a micro economic foundation for understanding the particular growth processes at work within the region s rural areas and in so doing provides important insights for policy action The book provides valuable household and farm level evidence about the drivers of rural labour productivity improvements in access to markets investment in food value chains and indeed the role of rural economic growth in Africa s ongoing rural transformation processes Some of the features of Africa s ongoing rural transformation are similar to those of agricultural transformation as experienced in Asia and elsewhere However other features of Africa s rural transformation are unique and pose important challenges for development policy and planning Together the studies compiled in this volume provide an updated evidence based and policy relevant understanding of where African countries are in their developmental trajectories and the region s prospects for achieving inclusive forms of development over the next several decades This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Development Studies

Development from Within D. R. F. Taylor, Fiona Mackenzie, 2024-09-30 The decade of 1980s was one of crisis for Africa Neither African governments nor development agencies made a significant impact on the quality of life of rural people The enormous range of contexts in Africa social economic political cultural and environmental limits the value of the search for universal solutions to endemic problems First published in 1992 Development from Within examines an alternative framework arguing for flexibility and specificity The authors use case studies to explore the complex social relationships of power from the household to the state They argue for the knowledge and skill of African people and illustrate the diverse means by which men and women in rural Africa struggle to survive This book will be a beneficial read for students and researchers of African studies development studies economics and sociology

Food Security for Rural Africa Terry Leahy, 2018-09-03 At least fifty years of projects aimed at the rural poor in Africa have had very little impact Up to half of the children of these countries are still suffering from stunting and malnutrition Soil degradation and poor crop yields are ubiquitous Projects are almost always aimed at helping local people to solve their problems by growing for the market In some countries projects link poor villagers into cooperatives to produce a commercial output In other countries projects target more competent entrepreneurial villagers Almost all these projects fail after several years Even those that are successful make few inroads into the problems While the slogan feeding the farmers first comes from the Philippines it is particularly applicable to much of Africa where household food security can come from household production This book explains how projects can be designed that increase food security through subsistence production Focusing on particular people and projects it gives a sociological analysis of why this is so difficult to manage This book challenges the models promoted by academics in the field of development studies and argues against the strategies adopted by most donor organizations and government bodies It explains why commercial projects have been so ubiquitous even though they rarely work It gives practical tips on how to set up villages and farms to achieve sustainable solutions that also provide plenty of nutritious food The book is written to be accessible and engaging For anyone planning to work in the rural areas of Africa this book is required reading

Youth and jobs in rural Africa: Beyond stylized facts: Synopsis Mueller, Valerie,Thurlow, James,2019-11-28 The rural population in Africa south of the Sahara is growing and its rural economy is still underdeveloped The pressure to create jobs in rural areas is therefore particularly acute There is cause for optimism however Evidence suggests that agriculture is transforming in many African countries albeit slowly and that youth are often participating in this process Further research is needed to accelerate this progress

Africa Maria Grosz-Ngaté,John H. Hanson,Patrick O'Meara,2014-04-18 Much has changed in Africa and in African studies but one constant has been the enduring excellence of the anthology Africa International Journal of African Historical Studies Since the publication of the first edition in 1977 Africa has established itself as a leading resource for teaching business and scholarship This fourth edition has been completely revised and focuses on the dynamism and diversity of today's Africa The latest volume emphasizes contemporary culture civil and social issues art religion and the political scene and provides an overview of significant themes that bear on Africa's place in the world Historically grounded Africa provides a comprehensive view of the ways that African women and men have constructed their lives and engaged in collective activities at the local national and global levels From all indications the fourth edition of Africa should not only endure the test of time but also be found exceptionally useful by a wide spectrum of scholars including college professors and their students in general Africa Today

Africa Tony Binns,Etienne Nel,Alan

Dixon, Kenneth Lynch, 2023-12-08 Africa Diversity and Development introduces and demystifies Africa's diversity and dynamism and considers how its peoples and environments have interacted through time and space. The book examines the background and diversity of Africa's social, cultural, economic, political, and environmental systems as well as key development issues which have affected Africa in the past and are likely to be significant in shaping the future of the continent. These include the impact of HIV/AIDS, sources of conflict and post-conflict reconstruction, the state and governance, the nature of African economies in a global context and future development trajectories. This second edition features new chapters on history and governance, health, separate chapters on rural and urban development and updated content on all aspects of the continent, particularly aspects of culture and ethnicity. It is richly illustrated throughout with diagrams and plates and contains a wealth of detailed up-to-date case studies and current data. This textbook is a refreshing interdisciplinary text which enhances understanding of the background to Africa's current position and clarifies possible future scenarios. It will be a valuable resource for students taking modules on Africa, African Development and Geography of Africa and will also prove useful to students in the wider fields of Geography, Development Studies, Global Studies, Environment and Society and African Politics.

Development from Within David Ruxton Fraser Taylor, Fiona Mackenzie, 1992. Development from Within focuses on the relationship between local action and macro event, arguing for flexibility as an ideology as well as a strategy. Presenting an alternative to structural adjustment, indigenous African scholars use case studies to explore the complex social relationships of power. Against the current tide of pessimism, the authors argue for the knowledge and skill of African peoples and illustrate the diverse means by which men and women in rural Africa struggle to survive.

Decolonizing Colonial Development Models in Africa Fidelis Allen, Luke A. Amadi, 2022-01-17. Decolonizing Colonial Development Models in Africa A New Postcolonial Critique confronts colonial development models to decolonize methodologies, epistemologies and the history and practice of development in postcolonial African societies and advocates for Afrocentric alternatives. By taking a critical approach and drawing on postcolonial, postmodern, post-developmental and post-structural theories, the contributors identify and analyze the effects of global inequality, racism, white supremacy, crisis, climate change, increasing environmental insecurity, underdevelopment, chronic diseases and the vulnerability of the postcolonial societies of the global South. Together, the collection calls for and theorizes a new direction of development that incorporates indigenous Afrocentric alternatives.

The Demography of Africa Bloomsbury Publishing, 1996-11-25. Written lucidly and simply to serve as an introduction to the study of the African continent from a human population perspective, this book demonstrates important factors in the ebb and flow of group size and structure using the example of the fastest growing region in the world. From a total original population of less than a quarter million in prehistoric times to the present count of 642 million people in 1990, Africa is now demonstrating an annual growth rate of 3.0%, the highest on the planet. While the rest of the world's population is expected to increase by 60%, Africa's is expected to increase by 100%, doubling by the year 2025 to a projected total of 1.6 billion people.

The major factor creating the high growth rate is the drop in death rates while the fertility rates remain high Stress on the population has been related to urbanization which has increased since African countries attained independence in the 1960s Employment opportunities in cities are inadequate and slum conditions have appeared around most major cities Since agriculture remains the major industry and occupation rural development policies are seen to hold the most promise for stemming urban migration and reducing famine and poverty

Regional analysis of the nationally determined contributions in sub-Saharan Africa Crumpler, K., Gagliardi, G., Otieno, Z., Dino Radin, M., Berrahmouni, N., Federici, S., Dasgupta, S., Buto, O., Toepper, J., Bloise, M., Salvatore, M., Meybeck, A., Wolf, J., Bernoux, M., 2022-06-30 This report provides a unique sector specific synthesis of the nationally determined contributions NDCs submitted by countries in sub Saharan Africa It summarizes the substantial contributions already put forward by countries opportunities for further action and the gaps barriers and needs that will need to be addressed if the agriculture and land use sectors in sub Saharan Africa are to raise mitigation and adaptation ambitions The findings of this report will help FAO Members to reflect on their progress in advancing toward NDC implementation of their agriculture and land use priorities as well as illustrate potential areas for enhancing mitigation and adaptation ambition in future NDCs The analysis also helps to clarify the links between the NDCs from the region and the 2030 Agenda and the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction SFDRR Finally the report serves as a guide to FAO and other organizations in the region to design targeted evidenced based support programmes that support Member Countries to fill current implementation gaps and scale up climate action in the agriculture and land use sectors

Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure, 2011-01-01 Africa s Water and Sanitation Infrastructure Access Affordability and Alternatives integrates a wealth of primary and secondary information to present a quantitative snapshot of the state of the WSS sectors in Africa. It explains the sectoral institutional structures and utility performance and articulates the volume and quality of financing available over time. The authors also evaluate the challenges to the WSS sectors and explore the factors that govern the expansion of coverage over time. Finally, the authors estimate spending needs for WSS, arriving at a funding gap for meeting the MDGs. The proposed directions for the future draw on lessons learned from best practices and present the menu of choices available to African countries, bearing in mind that the challenges differ to a significant extent among countries and solutions must be tailored to national or regional conditions. Book Jacket Africa's Agricultural Renaissance Ayodele Odusola, 2021-06-26. This book addresses the paradox between preponderance of hunger in a continent that is well endowed with fertile agricultural land, plenty of fresh water and a vibrant labor force. As some statistics show, close to 60% of arable land in the world is located in Africa, which also has several rivers flowing in all seasons and plenty of underground water. The bulk of its labor force thrives on agriculture, yet the continent's largest import item is food. 23 of 36 the most malnourished countries also belong in Africa. This has caused significant needless human suffering. This book goes beyond providing the traditional framework of supplying policy recommendations to delivering an applied innovative framework upon which policymakers, the private sector and international institutions can take clear and deliberate action to stimulate Africa's agricultural sector, thus responding to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Africa's Future Duncan Clarke, 2012-02-09. Many seek to fix Africa: economists, experts, politicians, gurus, cognoscenti and glitterati. But the continent conceals multiple secrets, including the Holy Grail explanations of its saga over the previous centuries. Africa's Future tells the tale of Africa's economic evolution, revealing unique prisms for understanding the continent's panoramic story: one of triumph over the lasting influences of nature and multiple political tragedies. Modern Africa developed diverse economic pathways to betterment, yet survivalist economies litter the landscape. Its paradox of subsistence with many faces coexists amidst the tiny middle class growing rich and many more poor expected in the future. Clarke provides fresh and challenging insights into Africa's economies and future, offering seasoned views on a continent of unlocked potential which has witnessed many false dawns. Not poor but poorly managed, Africa holds greater promise; its destiny revealed by its history.

Reforming Land and Resource Use in South Africa Paul Hebinck, Charlie Shackleton, 2010-11-23. This book explores the debates surrounding land and agrarian reform in South Africa and explores how these reforms and, particularly those that make access easier, have created new options for and broadened the use of land and natural resources. Politics in Africa Professor Nana Poku, Doctor Anna Mdee, 2013-07-04. Democracy, prosperity and self-rule: this was the vision of African independence. Across the continent, however, the optimism that characterized the immediate post-independence period has largely faded. Meanwhile, ordinary Africans lurch between undemocratic, unaccountable and unresponsive governments and a decaying traditional African past. How did things go so wrong? Why has the continent lagged behind others in economic development despite its potential natural resources Why are so many African states prone to conflict And why has democracy been slow to take root in a majority of the countries Covering everything from African economies to the role of the state rural livelihoods to issues of gender Politics in Africa offers a fresh perspective in answering these questions making the continent's problems more understandable less wretched and even intensely hopeful Up to date concise and provocative this is indispensable reading for anyone interested in African politics

Gender Disparities in Africa's Labor Market Jorge Saba Arbache,Alexandre Kolev,Ewa Filipiak,2010-08-05 Women's earnings are a fraction of male's earnings in several African countries It is tempting to conclude that this wage gap is a sign of discrimination against women in the labor market Yet this book uses new datasets to show that the gap is not simply the result of discrimination in the labor markets but rather the result of multiple factors including access to education and credit cultural values and household duties and above all labor market conditions It shows that gender disparities grow when economies are not functioning well and labor markets are tiny More than the effect of discrimination it seems that job rationing causes those with better human capital and those with more power in the household usually the men to take the few jobs that are available It is hardly surprising then that in a region where only a fraction of the labor force finds jobs in the formal sector gender disparities in earnings are so high The book further documents that firm level and sector characteristics are additional powerful factors in explaining the gender disparities in the labor market As the causes are not simple neither are the solutions multifaceted strategies are needed By providing environments that support economic growth and more importantly job creation as well as by promoting equal access for women to education and rethinking the attitudes that limit what women may achieve governments in the region will substantially improve the well being of all their peoples Gender Disparities in Africa's Labor Market helps to fill the knowledge gap and identify the links between gender disparities and poverty reduction The work was implemented in collaboration with a range of poverty and labor market studies to maximize its usefulness for policy dialogue in specific countries This book will be of interest to policy makers students academics gender experts and all those interested in gender issues and development

Agriculture, Diversification, and Gender in Rural Africa Agnes Andersson Djurfeldt,Fred Mawunyo Dzanku,Aida C. Isinika,2018 This book contributes to the understanding of smallholder agriculture in sub Saharan Africa through addressing the dynamics of intensification and diversification within and outside agriculture in contexts where women have much poorer access to agrarian resources than men
