Teaching Writing in the Age of Catastrophic Climate Change Justin Everett, Russell Mayo, 2024-11-25 Catastrophic storms searing heat waves crumbling waterfronts warming oceans air fouling forest fires and mass extinction have become facts of life Under these conditions it is difficult to imagine that the global industrial civilization will continue in its present form This requires us to reconsider the subject of ecocomposition from a new perspective What does it mean to teach college writing in the face of this sobering reality The introduction reviews the history of ecocomposition and reframes it in light of the apocalyptic turn in climate discourse over the last quarter century as well as the role that ecocomposition theory can play in framing these discussions Teaching Writing in the Age of Catastrophic Climate Change is organized into four sections The first section considers the environmental narrative from the viewpoint of climate justice while the second reframes pedagogies of place in light of the climate catastrophe The third section examines the intersections of writing studies and the natural sciences while the fourth section entertains the personal and emotional dimensions of teaching ecocomposition within the framework of catastrophic climate change If we have been successful these chapters provide a starting place for having sobering discussions in our classrooms and considering what ecocomposition means in this unsettling age conversations regarding rural literacies The authors share strategies that will help compositionists participate in pedagogies that are rooted in a richer understanding of rural literacies and work toward sustainability for all communities in a globalized age

TESOL and Sustainability Jason Goulah, John Katunich, 2020-05-14 In the burgeoning field of ecolinguistics little attention has been given to the ways in which English language teaching is and has become implicated in global ecological crises This book begins a dialogue about the opportunities and responsibilities presented to the TESOL field to re orient professional practice in ways that drive cultural change and engender alternate language practices and metaphors Covering a diverse range of topics including anthropogenic climate change habitat loss food insecurity and mass migration chapters argue that such crises require not only technological innovation but also cultural changes in how human beings relate to each other and their environment Arguing that it is incumbent upon the field of English language teaching to reckon with such cultural changes in how and what we teach TESOL and Sustainability addresses the ways in which discourses such as eco pedagogy the critique of neo liberalism non Western philosophy and post humanist thought can and must inform how and what is taught in ESL and EFL classrooms

Rereading Appalachia Sara Webb-Sunderhaus, Kim Donehower, 2015-12-18 Appalachia faces overwhelming challenges that plague many rural areas across the country including poorly funded schools stagnant economic development corrupt political systems poverty and drug abuse Its citizens in turn have often been the target of unkind characterizations depicting them as illiterate or backward Despite entrenched social and economic disadvantages the region is also known for its strong sense of culture language and community In this innovative volume a multidisciplinary team of both established and rising scholars challenge Appalachian stereotypes through an examination of language and rhetoric Together the contributors offer a new perspective on Appalachia and its literacy hoping to counteract essentialist or class based arguments about the region s people and reexamine past research in the context of researcher bias Featuring a mix of traditional scholarship and personal narratives Rereading Appalachia assesses a number of pressing topics including the struggles of first generation college students and the pressure to leave the area in search of higher quality jobs prejudice toward the LGBT community and the emergence of Appalachian and Affrilachian art in urban communities The volume also offers rich historical perspectives on issues such as the intended and unintended consequences of education activist Cora Wilson Stewart's campaign to promote literacy at the Kentucky Moonlight Schools A call to arms for those studying the heritage and culture of Appalachia this timely collection provides fresh perspectives on the region its people and their literacy beliefs and practices     Liberal Learning and the Art of Self-Governance Emily Chamlee-Wright,2015-11-19

Concerns over affordability and accountability have tended to direct focus away from the central aims of liberal learning such as preparing minds for free inquiry and inculcating the habits of mind practical skills and values necessary for effective participation in civil society The contributors to this volume seek to understand better what it is that can be done on a day to day basis within institutions of liberal learning that shape the habits and practices of civil society The central argument of this volume is that institutions of liberal learning are critical to a developing and flourishing civil society It is within these civil society incubators that the habits of open discourse are practiced and honed that a collaborative often contentious commitment to truth seeking serves as the rules that govern our work together that the rules of personal and widespread social cooperation are established practiced and refined Many have made this argument as it relates to community based learning and we explore that theme here as well But acquiring and practicing the habits of civil society recur within and throughout the college context in the classrooms in college governance structures in professional associations in collaborative research in the residence halls and on the playing field To put it another way when they are at their best institutions of liberal learning are contexts in which students learn how to live in a free society and learn the art of self governance     Reclaiming the Rural Kim Donehower,Charlotte Hogg,Eileen E Schell,2012 Reclaiming the Rural moves beyond typical arguments for the preservation abandonment or modernization of rural communities analyzing how communities in the United States Canada and Mexico sustain themselves economically environmentally intellectually and politically through literate action     Literacy and Education Kate Pahl,Jennifer Rowsell,2012-04-24 Literacy and Education continues to be an accessible guide to current theory on literacy with practical applications in the classroom This new edition has a new focus on the ecologies of literacy and on participatory and visual ways of researching literacy The new edition examines new literacy studies material culture and literacy digital literacies the ecological place based approaches to literacy education timescales and identities and ways in which research has moved on to inform literacy education Classroom teachers teacher trainers and students of literacy will find this a user friendly guide to new theory in literacy education clearly demonstrating how to implement this theory in the classroom in a way that is inclusive and listens to the students of today     Democratic Education in Practice Matthew Knoester,2015-04-25 The Mission Hill School founded by MacArthur Award winner Deborah Meier and colleagues in 1997 is a small public school that has rethought almost everything about the process of teaching and learning Beyond richly describing and evaluating this high achieving school the author argues that democratic education is increasingly difficult in this era of testing and standardization and that a school such as Mission Hill must be continually thoughtful innovative and courageous in counteracting systemic inequality This in depth examination is essential reading for anyone interested in how to better understand seemingly intractable problems related to urban public education in the United States Book Features An exemplary model of democratic education that shows the inner workings of a largely teacher governed school A rare example of an urban school implementing Dewey influenced progressive pedagogy In depth descriptions of an anti racist and culturally relevant pedagogy and curriculum A close examination of successful practices including shared decision making intensive problem solving and looking at student work Matthew Knoester is a National Board Certified Teacher and former teacher at the Mission Hill School in Boston He received his Ph D in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Wisconsin Madison and is currently Assistant Professor of Education at the University of Evansville Matthew Knoester has done us an enormous favor by showing us in detail what could be one example of how schools can be the building blocks for democracy recreating community for all to taste feel hear and see From the Foreword by Deborah W Meier This is exactly the kind of book that is so necessary at this time Schools can be respectful responsive and caring places Matthew Knoester gives us a detailed picture of such a school If more people would read books such as this the national debate on education would be all the better for it Michael W Apple John Bascom Professor of Curriculum and Instruction and Educational Policy Studies University of Wisconsin Madison Knoester s account of the Mission Hill School captures the habits of mind needed if public schools are to be truly democratic in spirit and in practice centered on the children and as Deborah Meier so powerfully advocates protected from those policies and social forces that accept and perpetuate disengagement and inequality in our children s education Linda McSpadden McNeil Professor of Education Rice University author of Contradictions of School Reform To those who have never seen the Mission Hill School in Boston it may sound like a magical place The good news is that it is real and Knoester shows us through his compelling narrative how and why they have been able to achieve so much For educators students and parents this book will be a source of inspiration At a time when our policymakers and many so called reformers are actively undermining support for public education this important book will serve as a reminder that we can do a much better job at educating all children Pedro Noguera Executive Director Metropolitan Center for Urban Education New York University

Narratives of Educating for Sustainability in Unsustainable Environments Jane Haladay, Scott Hicks, 2017-12-01 Through pedagogical narratives literary analyses reflective essays and collaborative dialogues Narratives of Educating for Sustainability in Unsustainable Environments explores the professional and intellectual tensions of curricula pedagogies and personal practices that honor the relationships of interspecies ecologies reinhabit and reconceive wounded landscapes and wounding institutions and allow us to reattune ourselves to new yet ancient frameworks for sustainability For the writers here fostering sustainability in higher education means focusing on place creating positive relationships with humans and other beings and creating administrative structures that will maintain new approaches for the long term showing how teaching environmentally is at once intensely site specific yet powerfully global deeply personal yet visibly public Narratives of Educating for Sustainability in Unsustainable Environments confronts the contexts that make environmental pedagogies difficult the challenges to the well being of the teacher scholar and the corrosive academic structures that compartmentalize knowledge and people The collection simultaneously offers models for working through and within these challenges to advance understandings and ways of being on local global and personal levels that will turn the planetary tide toward effective and shared sustainability

Critical Expressivism Tara Roeder, Roseanne Gatto, 2015-04-15 Critical Expressivism is an ambitious attempt to re appropriate intellectual territory that has more often been charted by its detractors than by its proponents Indeed as Peter Elbow observes in his contribution to this volume As far as I can tell the term expressivist was coined and used only by people who wanted a word for people they disapproved of and wanted to discredit The editors and contributors to this collection invite readers to join them in a new conversation one informed by a belief that the term expressivism continues to have a vitally important function in our field
