Biblical Christopher Galt, 2014-09-15 A strange phenomenon is sweeping the globe. People are having visions, seeing angels, experiencing events that defy reality. Bizarre accounts pour in from distant places. A French teenager claims to have witnessed Joan of Arc being burned at the stake. A man in New York dies of malnutrition in a luxurious Central Park apartment. A fundamentalist Christian sect kidnaps and murders a geneticist. Then there is the graffiti WE ARE BECOMING that has popped up in every major city around the world in every language. And everywhere people are starting to talk about John Astor, the mysterious author of the book that seems to be at the center of it all. After a rash of suicides around the world by individuals experiencing the time-traveling hallucinations, psychiatrist John Macbeth and a team of FBI agents and scientists assemble to find out what's going on before it's too late. Is this a spiritual phenomenon or something more sinister?

Contemporizing the Classics Gregory Sarno, 2005-02 Contemporizing the Classics Poe, Shakespeare, Doyle is a how-to on the art and craft of transforming a classic into a feature film screenplay with a modern storyline. The introduction probes an issue that weaves throughout: the role of artistic license in balancing fidelity to the original versus dramatic needs of the script. Contemporization of a classic being the most flagrant form of dramatic license, the introduction presents three guidelines for a considered exercise thereof. Each part debuts a feature film script that resets a classic work in the present. Part One offers a contemporary visualization of Macbeth in the process of turning an Elizabethan tragedy into a dramatic comedy. Part Two applies the guidelines to several renowned works by Edgar Allan Poe, Arthur Conan Doyle's The Hound of the Baskervilles having frequently screened as a period piece. Part Three gives the hound a twenty-first century twist.
