Women Writers and Experimental Narratives Kate Aughterson,Deborah Philips,2021-01-23 This book explores the history of women's engagement with writing experimentally Women writers have long used different narratives and modes of writing as a way of critiquing worlds and stories that they find themselves at odds with but at the same time as a way to participate in such spaces Experimentation of style mode voice genre and language has enabled women writers to be simultaneously creative and critical engaged in and yet apart from stories and cultures that have so often seen them as other This collection shows that women writers in English over the past 400 years have challenged those ideas not only through explicit polemic and alternative representations but through disrupting the very modes of representation and story itself

The Hagiographical Experiment: Developing Discourses of Sainthood, 2020-03-17 The Hagiographical Experiment Developing Discourses of Sainthood throws fresh light on narratives about Christian holy men and women from Late Antiquity to Byzantium Rather than focusing on the relationship between story and reality it asks what literary choices authors made in depicting their heroes and heroines how they positioned the narrator how they responded to existing texts how they utilised or transcended genre conventions for their own purposes and how they sought to relate to their audiences The literary focus of the chapters assembled here showcases the diversity of hagiographical texts written in Greek Latin Coptic and Syriac as well as pointing out the ongoing conversations that connect them By asking these questions of this diverse group of texts it illuminates the literary development of hagiography in the late antique Byzantine and medieval periods
