Reflective Practice in English Language Teaching Steve Mann,Steve Walsh,2017-06-27 Offering a unique data led evidence based approach to reflective practice in English language teaching this book brings together theory research and practice in an accessible way to demonstrate what reflective practice looks like and how it is undertaken in a range of contexts Readers learn how to do and to research reflective practice in their own settings Through the use of data dialogue and appropriate tools the authors show how reflective practice can be used as an ongoing teaching tool that supports professional self development Researching Critical Reflection Jan Fook,Val Collington,Fiona Ross,Gillian Ruch,Linden West,2015-10-05 Critical reflection helps professionals to learn directly from their practice experience so that they can improve their own work in an ongoing and flexible way something essential in today's complex and changing organisations. It allows change to be managed in a way which enables individuals to preserve a sense of what is fundamentally important to them as professionals. It is particularly important as it can also help make sense of some fundamental issues and so also has implications for how we live our lives. However, more systematic research on critical reflection is needed to help us understand what works best for professionals in different settings. This timely work explores how critical reflection is researched, evaluated and used as a research method itself with the aim of improving how it is taught and practised in a rigorous and transferable way. Developing a more comprehensive and multi-disciplinary view of the current state of critical reflection and the research directions which need to be taken, the book is divided into four parts. It provides an overview of different perspectives on critical reflection and stimulates dialogue between them. Establishes some common platforms from which to develop further research directions. Identifies the major issues in evaluating critical reflection teaching and main methods for doing so. Contributes to social science methodological innovations by exploring how methods based on critical reflection can be used for researching professional practice. Contains contributions from academics who are internationally known and highly experienced in different aspects of critical reflection. Researching Critical Reflection is an important reference for all students, practitioners and researchers including in the areas of education, management, health and social work who engage with critical reflection to develop their practice.

Practitioner-Based Enquiry Brenda Lawrence, Louis Murray, 2013-04-15 This book has been written specifically for postgraduate students carrying out small scale research projects in and around their work environments and for those undertaking research projects as part of their higher education courses. The book will also be useful to teachers, tutors, lecturers and trainers who want to use the concept of practitioner based enquiry to enquire into their own institutional practices and produce reports which can be submitted for academic credits leading to the award of certificates and degrees from universities and other professional bodies.

Participatory Action Research Robin McTaggart, 1997-10-31 In this book the authors tell their stories of action research in their own ways and indeed give expression to their own cultural positioning as they draw upon their extensive experience in the field and the academy. They write in terms of their own experience but with a collective as well as individual purpose. Contributors describe the history of participatory action research and identify its interpretations in the diverse cultural contexts of Colombia, India, Austria, Australia, Venezuela, USA, England, Spain, Thailand and New Caledonia. Drawing on the fields of nursing, education, community development, land reform, popular education, agriculture and mass media, the authors describe the development of democratic research practice in quite different institutional and cultural contexts. Teachers, social workers, managers, nurses, adult educators and agricultural extension and community development workers will all find this collection of writings from key participatory action research practitioners useful and informative.
