Complexities Susan McKinnon, Sydel Silverman, 2005-06. This book mobilizes experts from several fields of anthropology—cultural, archaeological, linguistic, and biological—to offer a compelling challenge to the resurgence of reductive theories of human biological and social life. It presents evidence to contest such theories and to provide a multifaceted account of the complexity and variability of the human condition. Back cover. Tourism and Maternal Health Allison R.

Cantor, 2019-10-29. In Tourism and Maternal Health, Allison R. Cantor examines prenatal health in Monteverde, Costa Rica, in the context of a tourism-driven nutrition transition. In today's fast-paced, globally connected society, even rural regions like the central highlands of Costa Rica can be affected by the rise in chronic noncommunicable diseases. Cantor highlights the connection between these diseases and changes in local food systems. She stresses the key role that culture plays in finding ways to mediate the negative impacts of a changing food environment and stresses the important role that practice-oriented research plays in unpacking the complex relationship between global policy and community health. Responses to
