Reading The Past Current Approaches To Interpretation In Archaeology:

Reading the Past Ian Hodder, Scott Hutson, 2003-12-04 Table of contents Reading the Past Ian Hodder, 1986 Ian Hodder's controversial new book focuses on meaning in archaeology arguing that the interpretation of meaning needs to be closely integrated with adaptive economic and social factors when we are seeking to explain the behaviour of past societies Symbolism and ideology are discussed in relation to history and social practice and general accounts are provided of systems theory in archaeology of structuralist and Marxist archaeology and of the relationships between archaeology and history The author then defines what he has termed contextual and post processual archaeology and examines their implications for the practice of the discipline In particular he argues that while material culture is not a literary text an analogy with texts offers powerful insights into the nature of archaeological data and into the procedures involved in reading the past

Understanding the Archaeological Record Gavin Lucas, 2012-02-06 This book explores the diverse understandings of the archaeological record in both historical and contemporary perspective while also serving as a guide to reassessing current views Gavin Lucas argues that archaeological theory has become both too fragmented and disconnected from the particular nature of archaeological evidence The book examines three ways of understanding the archaeological record as historical sources through formation theory and as material culture then reveals ways to connect these three domains through a reconsideration of archaeological entities and archaeological practice Ultimately Lucas calls for a rethinking of the nature of the archaeological record and the kind of history and narratives written from it Uncovering Ancient Stones Henry Neil Richardson, 1994 During his long teaching career at Syracuse University and Boston University H Neil Richardson touched the lives of many students and colleagues The nineteen essays included in this volume were written in his memory following his death in 1988 The Evolution of Neolithic and Bronze Age Landscapes Alex Carnes, 2014-07-18 At the heart of this book is a comparative study of the stone rows of Dartmoor and northern Scotland a rare putatively Bronze Age megalithic typology that has mystified archaeologists for over a century

Agency and Identity in the Ancient Near East Sharon R. Steadman, Jennifer C. Ross, 2016-04-01 Agency theory examines the relationship between individuals or groups when one party is doing work on behalf of another Agency and Identity in the Ancient Near East offers a theoretical study of agency and identity in Near Eastern archaeology an area which until now has been largely ignored by archaeologists The book explores how agency theory can be employed in reconstructing the meaning of spaces and material culture how agency and identity intersect and how the availability of a textual corpus may impact on the agency approach Ranging from the Neolithic to the Islamic period Agency and Identity in the Ancient Near East covers sites located in Turkey Iraq Syria Jordan Palestine and Israel The volume includes contributions from philology art history computer simulation studies materials science and the archaeology of settlement and architecture Archaeological Theory Robert Chapman, 2022-11-22 Archaeological Theory The Basics is an accessible introduction to an indispensable part of what archaeologists do The book guides the reader to an understanding of what theory is how it works and the range of theories used in archaeology The growth of theory and the adoption of theories drawn from both the natural and social sciences have broadened our ability to produce trustworthy knowledge about the past This book helps readers to see the value of archaeological theory and beyond what is sometimes thought to be just the use of indigestible jargon Key theories and concepts are introduced to the reader Among the main questions discussed are the following What is theory and why do we need it What major areas of theory are and have been used and debated in archaeology What do they tell us about themes including human society evolution culture identity and agency How might archaeological theory change in the future This book is written mainly for readers new to archaeology and will help them to understand archaeological theory It assumes no prior knowledge of archaeological theory and presents it in a selective and clear way with case studies showing how theory is used in practice

The Goddess and the Bull Michael Balter, 2016-06-16 Veteran science writer Michael Balter skillfully weaves together many threads in this fascinating book about one of archaeology's most legendary sites atalhyk First excavated forty years ago the site is justly revered by prehistorians art historians and New Age goddess worshippers alike for its spectacular finds dating almost 10 000 years ago Archaeological maverick Ian Hodder leader of the recent re excavation at this Turkish mound designated Balter as the project's biographer The result is a skillful telling of many stories about both past and present of the inhabitants of Neolithic atalhyk and the development of human creativity and ingenuity as revealed in the recent excavation of James Mellaart the original excavator whose troubles off the mound eventually overshadowed his incisive work at the site of Hodder and his intense brilliant crew who marveled and squabbled over the meaning of finds in dusty trenches while attempting to reinterpret Mellaart's work and of the recent history of the theory and methods of archaeology itself Part story of the human past part soap opera of modern scholarly life part textbook on the practice of modern archaeology this book should appeal to general readers and archaeological students alike

Perspectives on Socio-environmental Transformations in Ancient Europe Johannes Müller, Wiebke Kirleis, Nicole Taylor, 2024-02-27 This open access book brings together key issues from transformative processes and events across Europe and in some cases beyond from 15 000 to 1 BCE This volume covers the research output produced by the Collaborative Research Centre CRC 1266 Scales of Transformation the first interdisciplinary centre to diachronically investigate transformations in past societies with a summary of their individual aspects from the Late Palaeolithic to the Roman Period Following the introduction the book is divided into three main sections In Identification of anatomies of socio environmental transformation the concept of scales of transformations is first explained and the various parameters of transformational change are identified This is followed by Expressions of socio environmental transformations from climate preconditions to decision making in which transformation processes are illustrated with individual examples The third major part of the book deals with Perspectives on decision making processes in socio environmental transformations In conclusion the results are framed in a broad temporal framework and patterns of socio environmental change are presented across common time frames from the Eastern Mediterranean to Scandinavia This book is of interest to researchers in archaeology and palaeoecology

State formation and the structure of politics in Mamluk Syro-Egypt, 648-741 A.H./1250-1340 C.E. Winslow Williams Clifford, 2013-02-19 Winslow Williams Clifford is one of the few historians so far who have addressed the history and culture of the so called Mamluk Sultanate 1250 1517 on the basis of theoretical models This volume is a posthumous publication of his doctoral thesis submitted in 1995 at the University of Chicago Through his skillful application of social theory Clifford succeeded in providing highly convincing evidence that the Mamluk Sultanate did not as was maintained for a long time constitute a static form of oriental despotism but was rather a highly differentiated society It was primarily based on compliance with a complex system of order that had established itself during the rule of the first sultans

Understanding the Neolithic Julian Thomas, 2002-02-07 This book employs contemporary theoretical perspectives to investigate the Neolithic period in southern Britain It is a fully reworked edition of the author's Rethinking the Neolithic 1991

Evaluating Multiple Narratives Junko Habu,Clare Fawcett,John M. Matsunaga,2008-07-18 Using archaeological case studies from around the world this volume evaluates the implications of providing alternative interpretations of the past These cases also examine if multivocality is relevant to local residents and non Anglo American archaeologists and if the close examination of alternative interpretations can contribute to a deeper understanding of subjectivity and objectivity of archaeological interpretation

Paradata and Transparency in Virtual Heritage Anna Bentkowska-Kafel,Hugh Denard,2016-05-13 Computer Generated Images CGIs are widely used and accepted in the world of entertainment but the use of the very same visualization techniques in academic research in the Arts and Humanities remains controversial The techniques and conceptual perspectives on heritage visualization are a subject of an ongoing interdisciplinary debate By demonstrating scholarly excellence and best technical practice in this area this volume is concerned with the challenge of providing intellectual transparency and accountability in visualization based historical research Addressing a range of cognitive and technological challenges the authors make a strong case for a wider recognition of three dimensional visualization as a constructive intellectual process and valid methodology for historical research and its communication Intellectual transparency of visualization based research the pervading theme of this volume is addressed from different perspectives reflecting the theory and practice of respective disciplines The contributors

archaeologists cultural historians computer scientists and ICT practitioners emphasize the importance of reliable tools in particular documenting the process of interpretation of historical material and hypotheses that arise in the course of research The discussion of this issue refers to all aspects of the intellectual content of visualization and is centred around the concept of paradata Paradata document interpretative processes so that a degree of reliability of visualization outcomes can be understood The disadvantages of not providing this kind of intellectual transparency in the communication of historical content may result in visual products that only convey a small percentage of the knowledge that they embody thus making research findings not susceptible to peer review and rendering them closed to further discussion It is argued therefore that paradata should be recorded alongside more tangible outcomes of research preferably as an integral part of virtual models and sustained beyond the life span of the technology that underpins visualization

Making Places In The Prehistoric World Joanna Bruck, Melissa Goodman, 2023-04-28 First published in 1999 This groundbreaking volume addresses issues central to the study of prehistoric settlement including group memory the transmission of ideology and the impact of mobility and seasonality on the construction of social identity Building on these themes the contributors point to new ways of understanding the relationship between settlement and landscape by replacing Capitalist models of spatial relations with more intimate histories of place

Handbook of Material Culture Christopher Y. Tilley, 2006-01-26 Provides a critical survey of the theories concepts intellectual debates substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things This handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes a fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human
