Readings And Cases In Educational Psychology:

Readings & Cases in Educational Psychology, 1993 Readings and Cases in Educational Psychology Anita E. Woolfolk, 1993 Prepared to accompany the author's Educational Psychology 5th ed Collects readings from a variety of publications and presents five original cases showing educational psychology in action as students attempt to learn math reading or history Among the topics addressed multiculturalism whole language Reading Intervention Case Studies for School Psychologists Melissa Coolong-Chaffin, Renee O. Hawkins, Michael I. Axelrod, 2023-09-12 Reading Intervention Case Studies for School Psychologists provides vivid real world examples of school based interventions targeting students phonological awareness phonics fluency and comprehension in reading This book offers a rich variety of applied reading interventions in school settings spanning strategies such as incidental teaching word boxes peer tutoring taped words story mapping and beyond Each case includes thorough descriptions of the specific area of concern detailed intervention protocols data collection and analysis methods and tips for ensuring social acceptability and treatment integrity School psychologists along with related professionals in special education general education and speech language pathology will come away with new insights into this comprehensive set of well researched and frequently applied reading interventions Readings in Educational Psychology Edgar Stones, 2012 The papers in this volume relate to the nature and conditions of classroom learning with particular emphasis on the cognitive aspects They are concerned with the question of concept formation and stress the importance of the teacher's function in ensuring that the child really has assimilated the ideas and not merely the words for the concepts The role of language is fundamental to this theme and the interaction of language thinking and learning is dealt with in the first section of the book This section also provides a context within which subsequent discussions of classroom learning problems can be viewed Some problems concerning the elaboration of a general theory of teaching are then examined with particular reference to possible methods of bridging the gap between research and implementation

Handbook of Psychology: Educational psychology Irving B. Weiner, Donald K. Freedheim, 2003 Includes established theories and cutting edge developments Presents the work of an international group of experts Presents the nature origin implications and future course of major unresolved issues in the area Issues and Advances in Educational Psychology Ellis Paul Torrance (comp), William F White (joint comp.), 1969 Case Studies in Neuropsychology of Reading Elaine Funnell, 2013-12-16 Each chapter represents a personal account of a reading disorder through which details of the features of the disorder methods used for testing and theoretical accounts are illustrated Controversies are explained theories evaluated and anomalies pointed out From this emerges a picture of the central properties of each disorder and the contribution of each to our understanding of the reading system as a whole However the picture is not complete loose threads tantalise some findings are hard to explain and some newly controversial theories are put forward The intention is to provide information that will help to equip the reader with the knowledge and expertise necessary to take the study of these reading disorders forward      Journal of Educational Psychology ,1917      Journal of Experimental Pedagogy and Training College Record ,1923      Special Educational Needs and Inclusive Education: Assessment and teaching strategies David R. Mitchell,2004 Demonstrates how the fields of special education and inclusive education have evolved philosophically and technically over the past 30 years      Biologising the Social Sciences David Canter,David Turner,2015-02-20 You can hardly open a paper or read an academic journal without some attempt to explain an aspect of human behaviour or experience by reference to neuroscience biological or evolutionary processes This biologising has had rather a free ride until now being generally accepted by the public at large However there is a growing number of scholars who are challenging the assumption that we are little more than our bodies and animal origins This volume brings together a review of these emerging critiques expressed by an international range of senior academics from across the social sciences Their arguments are firmly based in the empirical scientific tradition They show the lack of logic or evidence for many biologising claims as well as the damaging effects these biological assumptions can have on issues such as dealing with dyslexia or treating alcoholism This important book originally published as a special issue of Contemporary Social Science contributes to a crucial debate on what it means to be human This collection of articles by David Canter and his colleagues rigorously argued and richly informative are of immense importance It is astonishing that as Canter puts it in his brilliant overview of biologising trends there are those in the humanities who need to be reminded that human beings can talk and interact with each other generating cultures and societies that have an existence that cannot be reduced to their mere mechanical parts Professor Raymond Tallis FRCP FMedSci DLitt LittD in the Preface      Bulletin United States. Office of Education,1930      The Psychology of Reading Mildred C. Robeck,Randall R. Wallace,2017-11-06 The need to know why as well as how children and youth respond as they do to reading instruction has guided the selection of this book s content The second edition of this title originally published in 1990 has retained and elaborated upon the three major themes previously presented that reading is a linguistic process that motivation the affective domain may be as important in learning to read as the cognitive domain and that the reality of learning theory is to be found in the mechanisms of the brain where information is mediated and memory traces are stored The text integrates views from cognitive psychology psycholinguistics and neuropsychology as they relate to reading and writing A learning motivation model is provided to present associative learning conceptualization and self directed reading in a hierarchical relationship with distinct cognitive and affective components The distinction between beginning and proficient reading is maintained throughout the text      Handbook of Psychology, Educational Psychology William M. Reynolds,Gloria J. Miller,2003-06-02 Includes established theories and cutting edge developments Presents the work of an international group of experts Presents the nature origin implications an future course of major unresolved issues in the area      Reading in a Second Language Xi Chen,Vedran Dronjic,Rena Helms-Park,2015-11-19 Reading in a Second Language offers a comprehensive survey of the phenomenon and process of reading in a second language with graduate and upper level undergraduate students in second language acquisition psycholinguistics and applied psychology as its primary audience The book explores reading processes from a number of complementary standpoints integrating perspectives from fields such as first and second language reading second language acquisition linguistics psycholinguistics and cognitive neuroscience The first half examines major factors in second language reading types of scripts the cognitive and neural substrates of reading metalinguistic awareness word recognition language transfer and lexical knowledge The second part of the book discusses the social and educational contexts in which reading development occurs including issues related to pedagogy the use of technology in the classroom reading disorders and policy making Reading in a Second Language provides students with a full logically organized overview of the primary factors that shape reading development and processes in a second language

Issues in Educating Students With Disabilities John Wills Lloyd,Edward J. Kameenui,David J. Chard,2014-05-01 The contributors to this volume represent the most prominent researchers and thinkers on issues in educating students with and without disabilities The book captures the most current thinking research and analysis on the full range of issues in educating students with learning disabilities from its definition to the most recent case law and interpretations of federal law on educating these students in the general education classroom The contributors words speak sufficiently mellifluously and exactly about their contributions to the education of all students in particular those with disabilities This book of essays was written to pay tribute to Barbara D Bateman who along with Sam Kirk coined the term learning disabilities Its content reflects the significance of her contributions to the field of special education

Handbook of Educational Psychology David C. Berliner,Robert C. Calfee,2013-02-01 Sponsored by Division 15 of APA the second edition of this groundbreaking book has been expanded to 41 chapters that provide unparalleled coverage of this far ranging field Internationally recognized scholars contribute up to date reviews and critical syntheses of the following areas foundations and the future of educational psychology learners development individual differences cognition motivation content area teaching socio cultural perspectives on teaching and learning teachers and teaching instructional design teacher assessment and modern perspectives on research methodologies data and data analysis New chapters cover topics such as adult development self regulation changes in knowledge and beliefs and writing Expanded treatment has been given to cognition motivation and new methodologies for gathering and analyzing data The Handbook of Educational Psychology Second Edition provides an indispensable reference volume for scholars teacher educators in service practitioners policy makers and the academic libraries serving these audiences It is also appropriate for graduate level courses devoted to the study of educational psychology
