Reading the Canon Philipp Löffler, 2017-03-02 Reading the Canon explores the relation between the production of literary value and the problem of periodization tracing how literary tastes particular reader communities and sites of literary learning shape the organization of literature in historical perspective Rather than suggesting a political critique of the canon this book shows that the production of literary relevance and its tacit hierarchies of value are necessary consequences of how reading and writing are organized as social practices within different fields of literary activity Reading the Canon offers a comprehensive theoretical account of the conundrums still defining contemporary debates about literary value the book also features a series of historically inflected author studies from classics such as Shakespeare and Thomas Pynchon to less likely figures such as John Neal and Owen Johnson that illustrate how the idea of literary relevance has been appropriated throughout history and across a variety of national and transnational literary institutions

Reading Capitalist Realism Leigh Claire La Berge, 2014-04-01 As the world has been reshaped since the 1970s by economic globalization neoliberalism and financialization writers and artists have addressed the problem of representing the economy with a new sense of political urgency Anxieties over who controls capitalism have thus been translated into demands upon literature art and mass media to develop strategies of representation that can account for capitalism s power Reading Capitalist Realism presents some of the latest and most sophisticated approaches to the question of the relation between capitalism and narrative form partly by questioning how the realism of austerity privatization and wealth protection relate to the realism of narrative and cultural production Even as critics have sought to locate a new aesthetic mode that might consider and move beyond theorizations of the postmodern this volume contends that narrative realism demands renewed scrutiny for its ability to represent capitalism s latest scenes of enclosure and indebtedness Ranging across fiction nonfiction television and film the essays collected here explore to what extent realism is equipped to comprehend and historicize our contemporary economic moment and what might be the influence or complicity of the literary in shaping the global politics of lowered expectations Including essays on writers such as Mohsin Hamid Lorrie Moore Jess Walter J M Coetzee James Kelman Ali Smith Russell Banks William Vollmann and William Gibson as well as examinations of Hollywood film productions and The Wire television series Reading Capitalist Realism calls attention to a resurgence of realisms across narrative genres and questions realism s ability to interrogate the crisis driven logic of political and economic common sense
