Runnin For My Life Diary Of A Delinquent:

Runnin' for My Life Stefany Sowell, 2005-03-15 A refined young lady stands proudly in front of the mirror in her bedroom remembering the teachers and parents who told her she'd never amount to anything. She herself even doubted at one time that she would ever overcome her addictions. It's the 80s. Stefany reaches puberty and begins to compare her lifestyle to other people she comes in contact with. She is faced with the cruelties of childhood and begins looking for an outlet. Media influence, gang activity is on the rise, and the pregnancy rate is the highest in their district. Stefany's teachers notice a change in her behavior when she walks into her eighth grade class with makeup on her face, tight jeans, and a nasty attitude. Society is rapidly changing for the worst. Young ladies were acting out more aggressively than the young men, and parents couldn't prepare for what was to come. Stefany's downfall is a chain reaction. Reverend Sowell is sickly, and Mrs. Sowell cannot control her. After her father's death, her sister Elaine, living in North Carolina, suggests to their Mother that she put their apartment building up for sale and move Stefany there. The change is good, however, she picks up some of her old bad habits despite her family's efforts to steer her in the right direction. She eventually gets a job, graduates from high school, and is accepted into a historically black university where she faces more challenges. Stefany eventually develops self-love and continues striving for success. She finally matures and goes back to her church roots. Through her transformation, she discovers what really matters in life. Note: Names have been changed to protect the innocent and the guilty. Amy's Diary #1 Veronique Grisseaux, India Desjardins, 2019-02-19 At fourteen, Amy Van Brandt doesn't feel particularly close to anyone. Since her father died, her mother has become some sort of a zombie. Except all of a sudden, she's back to life and even wearing edgy underwear. Could there be a connection with Dennis Belcher, the school principal? OMG! As for her best friend Kat, love has rendered her brain uncharacteristically mushy. No way that's happening to her either. But it seems no one is truly safe from love at first sight. And in the middle of all this chaos, there's only one thing Amy really wants to find: her place in the universe. A World Elsewhere Steven Berkoff, 2019-11-27 A World Elsewhere is Steven Berkoff's bold attempt to describe his multifarious theatrical works. Berkoff outlines the methods that he uses: first of all as an actor, secondly as a playwright, and thirdly as theatre director, as well as those subtle connections in between when one discipline melds effortlessly into another. He examines the early impulses that generated his works and what drove him to give them form, as well as the challenges he faced when adapting the work of other authors. Berkoff discusses some of his most difficult, successful, and unique creations, journeying through his long and varied career to examine how they were shaped by him and how he was shaped by them. The sheer scale of this book offers a rare experience of an accomplished artist combined with the honesty and insight of an autobiography, making this text a singular tool for teaching inspiration and personal exploration. Suitable for anyone with an interest in Steven Berkoff and his illustrious career. A World Elsewhere is the part analysis and part confession of an artist whose work has been performed all over the world. A Dictionary of Writers and their Works Christopher Riches, Michael Cox, 2015-01-29
