Rural Development World Frontiers:

Rural Development: World Frontiers Laurence Ilsley Hewes, 1974 Several chapters of this book are heavily dependent on papers prepared for a Conference on Expanding World Needs for Food and Fiber and the Protection of the Ecosystem at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions CSDI Santa Barbara Calif August 9-13 1971 Aquaculture

Development In Less Developed Countries Leah Smith, 2019-03-01 Aquaculture may not be the panacea for the world's food problems but it has the potential to make important contributions to diet and incomes in some areas This book intended to improve planning for further development of aquaculture examines the factors that can determine the success or failure of aquaculture projects in developing countries Beyond the Green Revolution Kenneth Dahlberg, 2012-12-06 This book which is the result of an intellectual odyssey began as an attempt to explore and map the environmental and cross cultural dimensions of the continuing spread of the green revolution that package of high yielding varieties of grain fertilizers irrigation and pesticides that constitutes the core of modern industrial agriculture In the process of traversing the terrain of several intellectual traditions and cutting through various disciplinary forests and thickets a number of striking observations were made all leading to two sobering conclusions First most intellectual maps dealing with agriculture fail to recognize it as the basic interface between human societies and their environment Because of this they are little better than the flat earth maps of earlier centuries in helping to understand global realities Second when agriculture is analyzed from a global perspective that takes evolution seriously one sees that the ecological risks as well as the energy and social costs of modern industrial agriculture make it largely inappropriate for developing countries Beyond that one can see a great need within industrialized countries to develop less costly less risky and more sustainable agricultural alternatives Early in the journey it became clear that conventional disciplinary approaches were inadequate to comprehend the scope and diversity of global agriculture and that a new multilevel approach was needed It also became clear that any new approach would have to try to correct certain Western biases and blind spots Rural Public Services Richard E Lonsdale, Gyorgy Enyedi, 2019-08-16 Interest in the special problems of rural areas and concern with rural development in general have increased substantially throughout much of the world in the years since about 1960 Attesting to this has been the dramatic increase in attention to rural problems in the scholarly and popular literature and by government agencies At first the dominant focus was on development projects and the creation of new jobs It was not long however until other related issues came to the fore in particular the availability and quality of public services essential to achieve economic growth and improvement and having a direct bearing on the well being of rural peoples Most nations of the world have developed plans and launched projects to improve rural public services and narrow urban rural differentials in their provision As one would expect there have been great differences between nations in the severity of problems foci of attention program strategies and their general effectiveness and degree of commitment and effort Given this diversity it seems appropriate to examine and compare rural service problems and efforts to ameliorate them in a sample of contrasting societies Implicit is the conviction that 1 all nations can learn at least something from the experiences of others and 2 by taking an international comparative view of the subject certain generalizations can be established Catalog of Copyright Entries.
