Salman Rushdie the Believer Maha Meraay,2010-12-14 This books critical approach offers an interpretation that seeks to illuminate Salman Rushdies own struggle with religious identity The focus on Rushdies The Satanic Verses as a display of personal struggle transcends the post publications controversy surrounding the novel It also suggests a possible reconciliation between Islam and Rushdie himself This work portrays Rushdie as a struggling individual confronting an investigation of his given religion Islam This study demonstrates how Rushdie rewrites the Islamic history and distorts some of its stories in the name of searching for a deeper truth It further deciphers Rushdies Verses guiding readers through this colossal project and emphasizing the effect of the authors experimentation Finally it reveals the complex relationship between Rushdie and his work on the one hand and Rushdie and Islam on the other Written in MLA Style

Global Migrancy and Diasporic Memory in the work of Salman Rushdie Stephen J. Bell, 2020-10-14 Global Migrancy and Diasporic Memory in the Work of Salman Rushdie examines Salman Rushdie's major works for the ways that they consistently affirm the power of memory to construct a concrete rooted identity for characters and nation states despite the prerogative of migrants to translate themselves into new creations through a dismissal of the weight of the past Stephen J Bell conducts an in depth comprehensive postcolonial and postmodern analysis of Rushdie s ideas as expressed through the author s work If exile is a dream of glorious return as one of his characters reflects in The Satanic Verses few diasporic writers living today rival Rushdie for the singular inspiration he draws from memories of home and the past So vital is the idea of home and belonging to Rushdie that notwithstanding the frequent charges of his critics that he represents no more than a disconnected cosmopolitan Bell would categorize Rushdie s position as one of centripetal migrancy with centrum center and petere to seek forming the idea of a constant quest for the center Rushdie thus qualifies as the quintessential centripetal migrant whose slippery critical location is balanced Janus faced between the future and the past Stories of Cosmopolitan Belonging Hannah Jones,Emma Jackson,2014-06-20 What does it mean to belong in a place or more than one place This exciting new volume brings together work from cutting edge interdisciplinary scholars researching home migration and belonging using their original research to argue for greater attention to how feeling and emotion is deeply embedded in social structures and power relations Stories of Cosmopolitan Belonging argues for a practical cosmopolitanism that recognises relations of power and struggle and that struggles over place are often played out through emotional attachment Taking the reader on a journey through research encounters spiralling out from the global city of London through English suburbs and European cities to homes and lives in Jamaica Puerto Rico and Mexico the contributors show ways in which international and intercontinental migrations and connections criss cross and constitute local places in each of their case studies With a reflection on the practice of writing cities from two leading urbanists and a focus throughout the volume on empirical work driving theoretical elaboration this book will be essential reading for those interested in the politics of social science method transnational urbanism affective practices and new perspectives on power relations in neoliberal times The international range of linked case studies presented here will be a valuable resource for students and scholars in sociology anthropology urban studies cultural studies and contemporary history and for urban policy makers interested in innovative perspectives on social relations and urban form The Routledge Encyclopedia of Indian Writing in Storying Relationships explores the sexual lives of young British Muslims in their own words and through their own stories. It finds engaging and surprising stories in a variety of settings when young people are chatting with their friends, conversing more formally within families and communities, scribbling in their diaries and writing blogs, poems and books to share or publish. These stories are interesting to read and to hear but they also have wider significance because they challenge stereotypes about Muslims who are portrayed as unhappy in love and sexually different, even dangerous. The young people who emerge in this book, contradicting racist and Islamophobic stereotypes, are assertive and creative, finding and making their own ways in matters of the body and the heart. Their stories about single life, meeting and dating, pressure and expectations, sex, love, marriage and dreams are at once specific to the young British Muslims who tell them and resonant reflections of human experience.
