Australian Book Review ,2005      The A to Z of Australian Radio and Television Albert Moran,Chris

Keating,2009-08-04 Australians have become increasingly visible outside of the country as speakers and actors in radio and television their media moguls have frequently bought up foreign companies and people around the world have been able to enjoy such Australian productions as The Flying Doctors Neighbours and Kath and Kim The origins early development and later adaptations of radio and television show how Australia has gone from being a minor and rather parochial player to being a significant part of the international scene The A to Z of Australian Radio and Television provides essential facts and information concerning the Australian radio and television industry This is accomplished through the use of a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on directors producers writers actors television and radio series and television and radio stations      Mick Suzanne Falkiner,2016 Randolph Stow was one of the great Australian writers of his generation His novel To the Islands written in his early twenties after living on a remote Aboriginal mission won the Miles Franklin Award for 1958 In later life after publishing seven remarkable novels and several collections of poetry Stow s literary output slowed This biography examines the productive period as well as his long periods of publishing silence In Mick A Life of Randolph Stow Suzanne Falkiner unravels the reasons behind Randolph Stow s quiet retreat from Australia and the wider literary world Meticulously researched insightful and at times deeply moving Falkiner s biography pieces together an intriguing story from Stow s personal letters diaries and interviews with the people who knew him best And many of her tales from Stow s beginnings in idyllic rural Australia to his critical turning point in Papua New Guinea and his final years in Essex England provide us with keys to unlock the meaning of Stow s rich and introspective works The overriding virtue of this book is Falkiner s steady trust in the intelligence of her readers She spells very little out presenting us instead with this carefully curated wealth of textual evidence Kerry Goldsworthy Australian Book Review Finally we have some sense of the wounds that shaped and animated Stow s poetry and fiction Geordie Williamson The Australian Suzanne Falkiner s prodigious biography of Randolph Stow is a book long awaited by many not just the literati of his native Australia but those countless readers who feasted on his novels and wondered what kind of person could write with such imaginative power Not only do we come to appreciate what led this renowned Australian writer to create his celebrated fictional works but we are also given rare glimpses into the inner world of this most private individual whose personal demons included a dependence on alcohol two suicide attempts and struggles with homosexuality Falkiner cut her teeth on six previous biographies which stood her in good stead to tackle this challenge Against significant odds she has done a masterful job in painting a portrait of one of Australia s most revered writers somewhat akin to what compatriot David Marr did for Nobel Prize winning author Patrick White It will no doubt send readers scurrying back to Stow s novels which as Marr once said is the best news a biographer can hear World Literature Today January February 2017 Subject Biography Literary Criticism     Vassilieff and His Art Felicity St. John Moore, Danila Vassilieff, 1982 When Danila Vassilieff died poverty stricken in 1958 at the age of 60 he had earned the love gratitude and reverence of the major Australian painters of the 1940s and 1950s Despite this nothing substantial has been written about his influence his life his art Hence he has come to be described as the missing link in the story of Australian twentieth century painting He was a passionate freedom loving Cossack who burst upon the Australian art scene in the mid 1930s fired with a belief in creation and fortified by the enthusiastic reception of his work in London BOOK JACKET     "Australian Art and Artists in London, 1950-1965" Simon Pierse, 2017-07-05 Subtle and wide ranging in its account this study explores the impact of Australian art in Britain in the two decades following the end of World War II and preceding the Swinging Sixties In a transitional period of decolonization in Britain Australian painting was briefly seized upon as a dynamic and reinvigorating force in contemporary art and a group of Australian artists settled in London where they held centre stage with group and solo exhibitions in the capital's most prestigious galleries The book traces the key influences of Sir Kenneth Clark Bernard Smith and Bryan Robertson in their various and varying roles as patrons ideologues and entrepreneurs for Australian art as well as the self definition and interaction of the artists themselves Simon Pierse interweaves multiple issues of the period into a cohesive historical narrative including the mechanics of the British art world the limited and frustrating cultural scene of 1950s Australia and the conservative influence of Australian government bodies Publishing for the first time archival material letters and photographs previously unavailable to scholars either in Britain or Australia this book demonstrates how the work of expatriate Australian artists living in London constructed a distinct vision of Australian identity for a foreign market

Meanjin, 2005 Meanjin is a quarterly literary journal publishing the best new writing from established voices and emerging talents For over 70 years Meanjin has articulated questions of national importance questions of art culture policy and identity as well as introducing some of the greatest literary names Australia has ever produced     Australian Aboriginal Religion. Ronald M. Berndt, 2023-07-10 Scholarly monographs on the iconography of Australian aboriginal religions

Australian Aboriginal Religion Ronald Murray Berndt, 1974-01-01 This work is a serious anthropological study of Australian Aboriginal religion It is designed to be read by adults and is primarily for use in universities and or similar institutions It is not therefore for use in schools Where Australian Aborigines are concerned and in areas where traditional Aboriginal religion is still significant this book should be used only after consultation with local male religious leaders This restriction is important It is imposed because the concept of what is secret or may not be revealed to the uninitiated in Aboriginal religious belief and action varies considerably throughout the Australian continent And because the varying views of Aborigines in this respect must on all occasions be observed January 30th 1973 Ronald M Berndt     Modern Australian Art Richard Haese, 1982     Historical Dictionary of Australian Radio and Television Albert Moran, Chris Keating, 2007 Australians have become increasingly visible outside of the country as speakers and actors in radio and television their media moguls have frequently bought up foreign companies and people around the world have been able to enjoy such Australian productions as The Flying Doctors, Neighbours and Kath and Kim. The origins, early development and later adaptations of radio and television show how Australia has gone from being a minor and rather parochial player to being a significant part of the international scene. The Historical Dictionary of Australian Radio and Television provides essential facts and information concerning the Australian radio and television industry. This is accomplished through the use of a chronology, a list of acronyms and abbreviations, an introductory essay, a bibliography and hundreds of cross-referenced dictionary entries on directors, producers, writers, actors, television and radio series and television and radio stations.     Degenerates and

Perverts Eileen Chanin, Judith Pugh, Steven Miller, 2005. An account of an exhibition that brought the Australian public face to face for the first time with the experimental art that had been developing in Europe during the early decades of the 20th century. The 1939 Herald Exhibition was the first blockbuster exhibition to come to Australia.     Subject Catalogue of the Royal Commonwealth Society, London: Australia, New Zealand, Pacific Royal Commonwealth Society. Library, 1971

Peripheral Fear Gerry Turcotte, 2009. This is a pioneering work published here for the first time in its complete form. At a time when Gothic studies still concentrated on traditional European and American Gothic, the author laid the foundations for the exploration of how Gothic conventions were transported and transformed in places remote from Europe. Through a detailed reading of 19th and 20th century examples of Canadian and Australian Gothic fiction, this work demonstrates the transformative potential of a once much maligned mode in what were arguably neglected national literatures.     Meanjin

Quarterly, 1972.     Leonard French Sasha Grishin, 1995. Like the European artist Fernand Leger, Leonard French's work has often been executed on a monumental scale and is imbued with a philosophy of bringing art into life. His major commissions in glass, such as the ceiling of the National Gallery of Victoria and the Blackwood Hall window at Monash University, as well as the huge murals and panel paintings including the Seven Days in Canberra, have become icons in Australian art. People have often been attracted to the beautiful luminosity of his surfaces and to the powerful yet lyrical emblematic symbols in his images, but few have been prepared to attempt to penetrate the surface and to arrive at some sort of understanding of his whole philosophy of art. This book opens the way to a number of possible readings of his art and for the first time presents an extensive corpus of his work in many mediums, tracing its development over the past half century.     French XX Bibliography William J. Thompson, 2007-09. Provides the listing of books, articles and book reviews concerned with French literature since 1885. This is a reference source in the study of modern French literature and culture. It contains nearly 8,800 entries.

Albert Tucker Christopher Uhl, 1969.     Overland, 1981.     Russell Drysdale Russell Drysdale, Art Gallery of New South Wales, 1960.     Women in the Arts Women and Arts Project (Sydney, N.S.W.). Research Advisory Group, 1983.
