Routledge International Encyclopedia of Queer Culture David A. Gerstner, 2006-03-01 The Routledge International Encyclopedia of Queer Culture covers gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and queer GLBTQ life and culture post 1945 with a strong international approach to the subject. The scope of the work is extremely comprehensive, with entries falling into the broad categories of Dance, Education, Film, Health, Homophobia, the Internet, Psychology as Religion. Paul C. Vitz, 1994 This is a virtually rewritten second edition of New York University Professor Paul Vitz's profoundly important analysis of modern psychology. Vitz maintains that psychology in our day has become a religion, a secular cult of self, and has become part of the problem of modern life rather than part of its resolution. The Advocate, 2003-06-10 The Advocate is a lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, LGBT monthly newsmagazine. Established in 1967, it is the oldest continuing LGBT publication in the United States. Homotopia? Jonathan Kemp, 2015 There is not one corner of the earth where the alleged crime of sodomy has not had shrines and votaries. Marquis de Sade, Philosophy in the Bedroom. Maybe the target nowadays is not to discover what we are, but to refuse what we are. We have to promote new forms of subjectivity through the refusal of this kind of individuality. Michel Foucault, The Subject and Power. Do opposites attract? Is desire lack? These assumptions have become so much a part of the ways in which we conceive desire that they are rarely questioned. Yet what do they say about how homosexuality, a desire for the same, is viewed in our culture? This book takes as its starting point the absence of a suitable theory of homosexual desire, a theory not predicated on such heterological assumptions. It is an investigation into how such assumptions acquired meaning within homosexual discourse and as such is offered as an interruption within the hegemony of desire. As such, homosexual desire constitutes the biggest challenge to Western binaric thinking in that it dissolves the sacred distinctions between Same/Other, Desire/Identification, subject/object, male/female. Homotopia, composed in 1997 but not published until now, investigates the development of a homosexual discourse at the end of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth century and reveals how that discourse worked within heterosexualized models of desire. Andre Gide's Corydon, Edward Carpenter's The Intermediate Sex, and John Addington Symonds's A Problem in Modern Ethics are all pseudo-scientific texts written by non-medical men of letters and were in their time highly influential on the emerging homosexual discourse. The fourth text, the twenty-odd pages of Marcel Proust's novel A la recherche de temps perdu, usually referred to as

La Race maudite is the most problematic in that it appeared under the guise of fiction But Proust originally planned this essay within a novel to be published separately In it he offers a pseudo scientific theory of male male love These four texts were published between the years 1891 and 1924 an historical moment when the concept of a distinct homosexual identity took shape within a medicalized discourse centered on essential identity traits and characteristics and they all work within the rubric of science contributing to a discourse which saw the human race divided into two distinct categories heterosexuals and homosexuals How did this division come about and what were its effects How was this discourse sustained and how were the meanings it produced received For men whose erotic interest was exclusively in other men what did it mean to see oneself and one s desires as the outcome of biology rather than moral lapse

The Queening of America David Van Leer,1995 Since at least the end of the nineteenth century gay culture its humour its icons its desires has been alive and sometimes even visible in the midst of straight American society David Van Leer puts forward here a series of readings that aim to identify what he calls the queening of America a process by which rhetorics and situations specific to homosexual culture are presented to a general readership as if culturally neutral The Queening of America examines how the invisibility of gay male writing especially in the popular culture of the 1950s and 1960s facilitated the crossing of gay motifs in straight culture Van Leer then critiques some current models of making homosexuality visible the packaging of Joe Orton the theories of Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick the rise of gay studies before concluding more optimistically with the possible alliances between gay culture and other minority discourses
