The Empty Church Mark Bohachuk, 2018-04-23 The Empty Church is a street level discussion that explores the modern day Christian Church attendance and why it seems to be dwindling Mark Bohachuk walks the reader through logical and clear ways of thinking about Christianity and the decline in church attendance Is it a coincidence that as people leave the Christian faith for materialism that our world is slowly being submerged in chaos and an out of control politically correct movement Is the waning of the world's moral barometer related to the weakening of our faith The Empty Church begins an informal discussion on why we may be seeing these declines The author takes us on an explorative journey to the forces that continue to relentlessly pressure and push people out of the Christian Church A society of materialism and fast food like gratifications lure the gentle sheep of the church out into a world of ravenous wolves The Empty Church is a great place to start a dialogue with your friends and fellow believers about the condition and health of our modern society and how it may tie in with the decline in our church attendance Has our faith in God been lost in the stampede of atheistic pleasures of our fast and furious society Can we reclaim the faith and refill the churches with followers of the truth and the life and once again become the change agents that our society so desperately needs The Empty Church looks at possible reasons there exists a decline in our faith and looks at the ways we can once again become the salt and the light to the nations Forensic

Loving Arms Karen Schneider, 2021-09-15 Loving Arms examines the war related writings of five British women whose works explore the connections among gender war and story telling While not the first study to relate the subjects of gender and war it is the first within a growing body of criticism to focus specifically on British culture during and after World War II Evoking the famous St Crispin's Day speech from Henry V and then her own father's account of being moved to tears on V J Day because he had been too young to fight Karen Schneider posits that the war story has a far reaching potency She admits perhaps for all of us that such stories had powerfully shaped my consciousness in ways I could not completely resist How a story is narrated and by whom are matters of no small importance As widely defined and accepted war stories are men's stories If we are to hear an other story of war then we must listen to the stories women tell Many of the war stories written by women insist that war is not the condition of men but rather the condition of humanity beginning with relations between the sexes For the five women whose work is examined in Loving Arms Stevie Smith Katharine Burdekin Virginia Woolf Elizabeth Bowen and Doris Lessing this latter point was particularly relevant Their positions as women within a patriarchal militarist culture that was externally threatened by an overtly fascist one led to an acute ambivalence says Schneider Though all five women perceived the war from substantially different perspectives each in her own way exposed and critiqued the seductive power of war and war stories with their densely interwoven tropes of masculinity and nationalism Yet these writers conflicting impulses of loyalty to England and resistance to the war betray their ambivalence Loving Arms will interest students of twentieth century British literature and culture gender studies and narratology Even today we maintain an unabated love affair with the war story But unless we listen to what the women had to say fifty years ago we are doomed to hear only the same old story
