Explorations in Automatic Thesaurus Discovery Gregory Grefenstette, 1994-07-31 Explorations in Automatic Thesaurus Discovery presents an automated method for creating a first draft thesaurus from raw text. It describes natural processing steps of tokenization, surface syntactic analysis, and syntactic attribute extraction. From these attributes, word and term similarity is calculated, and a thesaurus is created showing important common terms and their relation to each other: common verb-noun pairings, common expressions, and word family members. The techniques are tested on twenty different corpora ranging from baseball newsgroups, assassination archives, medical X-ray reports, abstracts on AIDS, to encyclopedia articles on animals, even on the text of the book itself. The corpora range from 40,000 to 6 million characters of text, and results are presented for each in the Appendix. The methods described in the book have undergone extensive evaluation. Their time and space complexity are shown to be modest. The results are shown to converge to a stable state as the corpus grows. The similarities calculated are compared to those produced by psychological testing. A method of evaluation using Artificial Synonyms is tested. Gold Standards evaluation shows that techniques significantly outperform non-linguistic based techniques for the most important words in corpora. Explorations in Automatic Thesaurus Discovery includes applications to the fields of information retrieval, using established testbeds, existing thesaural enrichment, semantic analysis. Also included are applications showing how to create, implement, and test a first draft thesaurus.

Work and Play With Numbers (Classic Reprint) George Wentworth, 2016-06-22 Excerpt from Work and Play With Numbers. It has been recognized ever since the days of Pestalozzi that children when they first enter school have a taste for number work and also a considerable knowledge of numerical forms. They use numbers in their games, they talk about them, they like to count, and they enjoy a little work and play with numbers within their mental grasp. On the other hand, children of this age are not ready for such a study of arithmetic as the formal textbook offers. A textbook of that kind would take away their love for number and would place upon them a burden heavier than they could carry Not to begin the study of the subject when the child enters school however is to say that the child's natural tastes should not be fostered What we need is to introduce in an informal and attractive fashion such number work as is within his grasp at this time Experience shows that children can easily learn the combinations in addition and part of those in multiplication before taking up a formal study of the subject in other words they can cover the work included in this little book Since the entire multiplication table is some times required it is given at the end of the book to be developed in the usual manner if necessary About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Reports to the General Assembly of Illinois at Its ... Regular Session Illinois,1889 THE NATIONAL CAKE: TO BAKE OR TO SHARE? Akwalefo Bernadette Djeudo,2013 In this book the reader is told that the unjust gap between the rich and the poor leading to social injustice in Cameroon and the world results from elite globalization and the reliance on the concept of sharing the National cake The idea of baking the cake collectively and sharing it in an equitable manner so that everyone has a fair share is not known by the political and administrative culture Consequently Cameroonians spend more time talking about their share of the national cake instead of how to make the cake The underlying principle of governance in Cameroon is best captured in the clause national cake Call it public resources Should the cake owned by everybody be baked or shared Many politicians and administrators get lost amidst the intricacies of power and the grandeur that comes with it and feel that the national cake is only to be shared They forget that they had made promises prior to their appointments and regard the civil service as an end rather than a means to an end Money to them is the defining value and the primary mediator of relationships among persons and institutions Ideals of equity are out the window and at the national and local levels governments and citizens alike have become economic beggars and a consumer nation has been created Beggars don't create jobs they take from those who have Nothing paralyzes a nation like citizens who lack a sense of mission for their country In my opinion Cameroonians should spend less time on politicking and more on constructive endeavors They should be challenged activated motivated and transformed into nation builders or bakers of the national cake that will be equitably shared They should be builders of a sustainable emerging and democratic Cameroon united in diversity An emerging and sustainable nation refers to a nation that is embarked on a holistic development that can continue indefinitely into the future by properly addressing human political social cultural economic ecological and spiritual dimensions of development This author envisions a better quality of life for all Cameroonians through the development of a just moral creative spiritual economically vibrant caring diverse yet cohesive society characterized by appropriate productivity participatory and democratic processes and living in harmony within the limits of the carrying capacity of nature and the integrity of creation In Part one of this book therefore this author describes the problems affecting the process of baking and sharing the national cake in Cameroon as reflected in neopatrimonialistic and clientelistic ties In Part two the author carries out an assessment of the material capital and human resources of the country including technical personnel and investigate the possibilities of augmenting these resources if found to be deficient in relation to the nation s requirements This part also indicate the factors which are tending to retard economic and sustainable development and determine the conditions which in view of the current social and political situation should be established for the successful execution of President Biya s major ambitions and accomplishment programme The discussion framework in this part follows the seven dimensions of development spiritual human social cultura political economic and ecological In Part three of the book a complementary Plan to the Cameroon Vision 2035 that will lead to the most effective and balanced utilisation of the country s resources in making the national cake is formulated and the nature of the machinery which will be necessary for securing the successful implementation and financing of the plan is determined
