Means of Exchange Dagfinn Skre, 2008-12-31 This second volume based on the excavations of the Viking town Kaupang 2000-2003 presents find types used in economic transactions coins hacksilver ingots weights and balances Changes in type and volume of economic transactions at Kaupang and in Scandinavia are discussed and the economic mentality of Viking crafts and tradesmen is explored Earlier the study of Viking silver currency was based mainly on hoards containing coins and hacksilver In this volume the combined study of the find types mentioned as well as the sophisticated chronology of settlements finds from sites like Kaupang gives a completely new insight into economy and exchange In the early 9th century silver and goods seem to have come to Kaupang mainly from the Carolingian world Silver weighed with locally produced lead weights was used as currency on a limited scale The old e unit was easily convertible to Carolingian units After the mid 9th century this early system was altered The increased availability of silver caused by the import of Islamic coins as well as the introduction in most of Scandinavia in the 860s 870s of standardized weights of probable Islamic origin paved the way from then on for an increasing use of silver as payment These studies demonstrate that sites like Kaupang led the way in economic development in Scandinavia The urban environment promoted an economic mentality which contributed significantly to the fundamental transformation of Scandinavian culture and society which culminated in the region's integration in Christian Europe in the High Middle Ages

Early Buddhist Architecture in Context Akira Shimada, 2012-11-09 Since the dramatic discovery and tragic destruction of the monument in the 19th century the Amarvat stupa in the south east Deccan has attracted many scholars but has also left many unanswered questions Akira Shimada's Early Buddhist Architecture in Context provides an updated and comprehensive chronology of the stupa and its architectural development based on the latest sculptural epigraphic and numismatic evidence combined with the survey of the early excavation records It also examines the wider social milieu of the south east Deccan by exploring archaeological epigraphic and related textual evidence These analyses reveal that the flowering of the stupa was not a simple accomplishment of the powerful Satavahana dynasty but was the result of the long term development of urbanization of this region between ca 200 BCE 250 CE

The Molyvoti, Thrace, Archaeological Project 1 Nathan T. Arrington, Thomas F. Tartaron, Marina Tasaklaki, Domna Terzopoulou, 2024-08-15 This publication is the first of four volumes that will present the final results of the 2013 2015 seasons of MTAP a Greek American synergasia project This first volume presents the history and finds from the archaeological site often referred to as Ancient Stryme which ancient sources identified as an emporion trading post and polis settled by Thasians The volume provides a new chronology for the site including its 4th century BCE reoccupation after destruction possibly associated with Philip of Macedon and traces diachronic change through the Early Byzantine period A significant discovery is a complete Classical house at the site one of the few from Aegean Thrace which features informative architecture and domestic assemblages Intensive urban survey clarifies the city's 4th century walls and harbors and expands our understanding of the scale and function of coastal settlements In the surrounding chora the area's first geomorphological study evaluates landscape use and the changing coastline Contributions from over 20 authors discuss the excavation survey geomorphology and finds from MTAP shedding new light on Greek Thracian interaction settlement trade and the environment from prehistory through the Early Byzantine period in an understudied region of the Aegean

Roman and Medieval Exeter and their Hinterlands Stephen Rippon, Neil Holbrook, 2021-03-23 This first volume presenting research carried out through the Exeter A Place in Time project provides a synthesis of the development of Exeter within its local regional national and international hinterlands Exeter began life in c AD 55 as one of the most important legionary bases within early Roman Britain and for two brief periods in the early and late 60s AD Exeter was a critical centre of Roman power within the new province When the legion moved to Wales the fortress was converted into the civitas capital for the Dumnonii Its development as a town was however relatively slow reflecting the gradual pace at which the region as a whole adapted to being part of the Roman world The only evidence we have for occupation within Exeter between the 5th and 8th centuries is for a church in what was later to become the Cathedral Close In the late 9th century however Exeter became a defended burh and this was followed by the revival of urban life Exeter's wealth was in part derived from its central role in the south west's tin industry and by the late 10th century Exeter was the fifth most productive mint in England Exeter's importance continued to grow as it became an episcopal and royal centre and excavations within Exeter have revealed important material culture assemblages that reflect its role as an international port
