Philippines The Land Of Broken Promises:

The Philippines James B. Goodno, James R. Goodno, 1991 San Francisco's International Hotel Estella Habal, 2007-06-28 San Francisco's International Hotel is part history and part memoir. It presents the struggle to save the International Hotel in the San Francisco neighborhood known as Manilatown which culminated in 1977 with the eviction of elderly tenant activists. In telling this compelling story, Estella Habal features her own memories of the anti-eviction movement focusing on the roles of Filipino Americans and their participation in both the anti-eviction protests and the nascent Asian American movement. Plundering Paradise Robin Broad, John Cavanagh, 2023-11-15 This gripping portrait of environmental politics chronicles the devastating destruction of the Philippine countryside and reveals how ordinary men and women are fighting back. Traveling through a land of lush rainforests, the authors have recorded the experiences of the people whose livelihoods are disappearing along with their country's natural resources. The result is an inspiring, informative account of how peasants, fishers, and other laborers have united to halt the plunder and to improve their lives. These people do not debate global warming; they know that their very lives depend on the land and oceans, so they block logging trucks, protest open-pit mining, and replant trees. In a country where nearly two-thirds of the children are impoverished, the reclaiming of natural resources is offering young people hope for a future. Plundering Paradise is essential reading for anyone interested in development, the global environment, and political life in the Third World. This gripping portrait of environmental politics chronicles the devastating destruction of the Philippine countryside and reveals how ordinary men and women are fighting back. Traveling through a land of lush rainforests, the authors have recorded the exp

Opposing Power Elvin Jiayun Ong, 2022-05-17 Opposing Power argues that perceptions of regime vulnerability and mutual dependency by opposition elites shape the building of opposition alliances. When electoral autocracies are consistently dominant, opposition parties eschew fully fledged alliances. At best, they allocate only one candidate to contest against the incumbent in each subnational electoral district to avoid splitting the opposition vote. However, when multiple regime-debilitating events strike within a short period of time, thus pushing an incumbent to the precipice of power, opposition elites expect victory, accepting costly compromises to build alliances and seize power. Opposing Power shows how oppositions build these alliances through case study comparisons in East and Southeast Asia between the Philippines and South Korea in the late 1980s and between Malaysia and Singapore from 1965 to 2020

Distant Voices John Pilger, 2010-09-02 Throughout his distinguished career as a journalist and film maker, John Pilger has looked behind the official versions of events to report the real stories of our time. The centerpiece of this new expanded edition of his bestselling Distant Voices is Pilger's reporting from East Timor, which he entered secretly in 1993 and where a third of the population has died as a result of Indonesia's genocidal policies. This edition also contains more new material as well as all the original essays from the myth-making of the Gulf War to the surreal pleasures of Disneyland. Breaking through the consensual silence, Pilger pays tribute to those dissenting voices we are seldom

Human Rights Diplomacy Rein Mullerson, 2014-04-04 In this insightful analysis of human rights diplomacy Rein Mullerson examines the way foreign policy instruments are used to promote human rights abroad as well as how human rights issues are used for the sake of other foreign policy aims The book explores the relationship between human rights and international stability the role of non governmental organisations the business community and mass media in formulating human rights agendas for governments and inter governmental organisations Also addressed are issues such as the universality of human rights in a multi cultural world and the impact of religious and nationalistic extremism Rein Mullerson concludes by looking at the role of the UN and other international bodies engaged in the promotion of human rights and how military force can be an option in settling violations The author argues that it tends to be regimes that are hostile to human rights which in turn cause instability in the international community Throughout the work it is demonstrated that a concern for human rights is legitimate because of the impact they have on international relations and because of the common bonds that link all people

Workers of the World Steven Colatrella,2001 After examining immigrant political activity in the context of the rise of the racist Northern League the book ends with a discussion of the possibilities that immigrant experiences are setting the stage for a new planetary working class movement BOOK JACKET Liberation from

Liberalization Roksana Bahramitash,2013-07-18 Liberation from Liberalization challenges the neo liberal claim that free market policies bring prosperity and economic development Bahramitash focuses particularly on Southeast Asia where expansion of free markets has led to high GNP per capita growth over the past few decades Focusing on this region the book examines the economic policies adopted in Taiwan Indonesia and the Philippines Drawing upon state centred theories the author argues that limiting the role of the state has been responsible for growing poverty especially among women Seventy percent of those earning less than a dollar a day are women and poverty among rural women is growing much faster than it is among men In order to reverse economic liberalization the state has to be brought back into the economy as a major player and become responsible for providing welfare for its citizens This volume argues in favour of a system that incorporates women s groups into the decision making process of the state while ensuring that the state remain both transparent and subject to the political advocacy of its citizens Bahramitash argues that ultimately the only way to stop liberalization which is trapping millions in poverty is to limit the role of markets through an elected and responsible state with embedded members of civil society such as women s groups

Securing Southeast Asia Mark Beeson,Alex Bellamy,2012-10-12 This book uniquely applies the security reform agenda to Southeast Asia It investigates recent developments in civil military relations in the region looking in particular at the impact and utility of the agenda on the region and assessing whether it is likely to help make the region more stable and less prone to military interventions It provides an historical overview of the region s civil military relations and goes on to explore the dynamics of civil military relations within the context of the security sector reform framework focusing on the experiences of four of the region s militaries Malaysia Thailand the Philippines and Indonesia It argues that although regional militaries have not necessarily followed a Western model significant developments have occurred that are broadly in keeping with the security sector reform agenda and which suggests that the prospects for stable civil military relations are brighter than some sceptics believe

Malaysia John Hilley,2001-10 Malaysia is an increasingly important player Prime Minister Dr Mahathir Mohamad is now Asia s longest serving leader This work on Malaysian politics offers an analysis of the Mahathir project examining how Mahathir has over 20 years translated the basis of the ruling bloc's legitimacy from one of coercive domination and ethnic card playing into a more consensual form of hegemonic support. It argues that Mahathir has made considerable progress in building consent. Since the 1997 economic crisis and purging of Mahathir's former deputy Anwar Ibrahim, new problems have appeared within the ruling Barisan Nasional coalition and its leading party, the United Malays National Organization (UMNO). As Mahathir seeks to rebuild ideological support, other parties have mounted a counter-hegemonic alternative to the prevailing project. This book provides an understanding of these contending forces and the new engagement of ideas taking place within Malaysia's changing political landscape.

Taking Power John Foran, 2005-11-17 Taking Power analyzes the causes behind some three dozen revolutions in the Third World between 1910 and the present. It advances a theory that seeks to integrate the political, economic, and cultural factors that brought these revolutions about and links structural theorizing with original ideas on culture and agency. It attempts to explain why so few revolutions have succeeded while so many have failed. The book is divided into chapters that treat particular sets of revolutions, including the great social revolutions of Mexico (1910), China (1949), Cuba (1959), Iran (1979), and Nicaragua (1979); the anticolonial revolutions in Algeria, Vietnam, Angola, Mozambique, and Zimbabwe from the 1940s to the 1970s; and the failed revolutionary attempts in El Salvador, Peru, and elsewhere. It closes with speculation about the future of revolutions in an age of globalization, with special attention to Chiapas, the post-September 11 world, and the global justice movement.

Courting Migrants Katrina Burgess, 2020 Long distance engagement by migrants in the politics of their homelands is not a new phenomenon, but as this book argues, politicians are increasingly looking beyond their national boundaries for electoral and political support. While migrants rarely cast decisive votes in homeland elections, they are not marginal to homeland politics. Based on in-depth research on state-migrant relations in four high migration countries, Courting Migrants looks at how extraterritorial outreach by homeland states and parties alters the boundaries of political membership and intersects with migrant agency to transform politics at home.

The Taliban Peter Marsden, 1998-09-15 An account of the modern history of Afghanistan and the complex mosaic of mujahidin movements and factions which opposed the Soviet military intervention. This book presents the unique and complicated character of an Islamic revivalist movement like the Taliban, asking how the international community can and should deal with the conflict between Western thinking and the Taliban's interpretation of Islamic values. Terms of Refuge Court Robinson, 1998 For half a century ever since the Japanese invasion of 1942, much of Southeast Asia has been racked by war. In the last 20 years alone, some three million people fled their homes in Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia. This book is their story. It is also the story of the international community's response. Spearheading this was the United Nations agency responsible, UNHCR. It pioneered innovations like the Orderly Departure Programme, anti-piracy and rescue at sea efforts, and later on, ambitious reintegration projects for returnees. Today, the camps in Southeast Asia are closed. Half a million people have returned home. Over two million have started new lives in the United States, Canada,

Australia and France This compelling book is the history of this modern exodus It also takes stock and poses important questions How did the flight of refugees and international response evolve How do we measure the achievements and the failures of that international effort What has been the legacy in Asia itself And what lessons can be drawn for use in other refugee situations around the world Women-Headed Households S. Chant,1997-01-31 Households headed by women are a growing presence worldwide This is the first book to focus on their diversity and dynamics in developing countries Set within the context of global trends and debates on female household headship and using case study material based on interviews with low income women in Mexico Costa Rica and the Philippines the analysis explores the reasons for the formation and increase in women headed households in different parts of the world and their capacity for survival in societies where male headed households are both the norm and ideal Theorizing Revolutions John Foran,2003-09-02 In Theorizing Revolutions some of the most exciting thinkers in the study of revolutions today look critically at the many theoretical frameworks through which revolutions can be understood and apply them to specific revolutionary cases The theoretical approaches considered in this way include state centred perspectives structural theory world system analysis elite models demographic theories and feminism and the revolutions covered range in time from the French Revolution to Eastern Europe in 1989 and in place from Russia to Vietnam and Nicaragua
