Noah Harris Letts,Thomas Allen Banning,1972 Pioneers Paul McClelland Angle,1903 A Checklist of the Lakeside Press C. P. Stephens,1994 America as Second Creation David E. Nye,2004-09-17 An exploration of the dialogue that emerged after 1776 between different visions of what it meant to use new technologies to transform the land After 1776 the former American colonies began to reimagine themselves as a unified self created community Technologies had an important role in the resulting national narratives and a few technologies assumed particular prominence Among these were the axe the mill the canal the railroad and the irrigation dam In this book David Nye explores the stories that clustered around these technologies In doing so he rediscovers an American story of origins with America conceived as a second creation built in harmony with God s first creation While mainstream Americans constructed technological foundation stories to explain their place in the New World however marginalized groups told other stories of destruction and loss Native Americans protested the loss of their forests fishermen resisted the construction of dams and early environmentalists feared the exhaustion of resources A water mill could be viewed as the kernel of a new community or as a new way to exploit labor If passengers comprehended railways as part of a larger narrative about American expansion and progress many farmers attacked railroad land grants To explore these contradictions Nye devotes alternating chapters to narratives of second creation and to narratives of those who rejected it Nye draws on popular literature speeches advertisements paintings and many other media to create a history of American foundation stories He shows how these stories were revised periodically as social and economic conditions changed without ever erasing the earlier stories entirely The image of the isolated frontier family carving a homestead out of the wilderness with an axe persists to this day alongside later images and narratives In the book s conclusion Nye considers the relation between these earlier stories and such later American developments as the conservation movement narratives of environmental recovery and the idealization of wilderness Land Fever James M. Marshall,2021-12-14 James Marshall s illuminating study of dispossession on the frontier begins with the autobiography of a pioneer who met repeated failure Writing in his old age Omar Morse 1824 1901 looked back on the successive loss of three homesteads in mid nineteenth century Wisconsin and Minnesota The frontier as Morse encountered it was a place of runaway land speculation of high railroad freight rates of mortgage foreclosures and of political and economic chaos Stoic and resilient in adversity Morse nevertheless expressed the anger of those for whom the Jeffersonian ideal of an independent yeomanry proved to be a cruel illusion Marshall moves from Morse s narrative to the historical record of the thousands of similarly dispossessed pioneers and to the legacy of their failure Politically their anger was expressed in a grassroots movement that led to formation of the Populist party in the 1880s and 1890s Culturally dispossession became a theme in their literature exemplified in Mark Twain s and Charles Dudley Warner s The Gilded Age and in novels by such Realists as

Edward Eggleston Joseph Kirkland and Hamlin Garland Land Fever thus presents the underside of disappointment that has long been the great ignored reality of the splendid success myth of the American frontier
