The book begins with a chapter on communal education for Jewish boys which was compulsory and free of charge for the first ten years in all traditional Jewish communities The discussion continues with the striking absence of any communal Jewish education for girls until the late nineteenth and early twentieth century and the implications of this fact for twentieth century immigration to Israel 1949 1959 The following chapters discuss the social cultural and legal contexts of this reality of female illiteracy in the Jewish community a community that placed a supreme value on male education The discussion focuses on the patriarchal order and

The Modern Middle East Camron Michael Amin, Benjamin C. Fortna, Elizabeth B. Frierson, 2006-04-06 Collects English translations of various sources from 1700 to 2005 that offer information on the history development and policies of the Exiled in the Homeland Donna Robinson Divine, 2010-01-01 Offering a new perspective on Zionism Exiled Middle East in the Homeland draws on memoirs newspaper accounts and archival material to examine closely the lives of the men and women who immigrated to Palestine in the early twentieth century Rather than reducing these historic settlements to a single unified theme Donna Robinson Divine's research reveals an extraordinary spectrum of motivations and experiences among these populations Though British rule and the yearning for a Jewish national home contributed to a foundation of solidarity Exiled in the Homeland presents the many ways in which the message of emigration settled into the consciousness of the settlers Considering the benefits and costs of their Zionist commitments Divine explores a variety of motivations and outcomes ranging from those newly arrived immigrants who harnessed their ambition for the goal of radical transformation to those who simply dreamed of living a better life Also capturing the day to day experiences in families that faced scarce resources as well as the British policies that shaped a variety of personal decisions on the part of the newcomers Exiled in Suffrage, Gender and Citizenship the Homeland provides new keys to understanding this pivotal chapter in Jewish history - International Perspectives on Parliamentary Reforms Pirjo Markkola, Seija-Leena Nevala-Nurmi, Irma Sulkunen, 2008-12-18 In 2006 Finland celebrated the centenary of universal and equal suffrage The reform in 1906 was radical women gained the right to vote and to stand as candidates in parliamentary elections The new rights were immediately used and 19 women were elected to the Parliament Finland was the third country after New Zealand and Australia in which women were admitted to full political citizenship Norwegian women were also granted political rights before WWI This publication studies suffrage citizenship and parliamentary reforms in various socio political contexts It brings together new research from a wide range of scholars and disciplines In addition to pioneers attention is given to Austria Britain Canada Hungary Iran Ireland Israel Poland Romania Russia and Slovenia among others By highlighting national differences the collection strives to disperse the universalising trend of research The chapters suggest that the age of suffrage narratives based on a view of universal emancipation is over more significant are deconstructive approaches and analyses embedded in local factors From an international perspective the realisation of female suffrage was a long and multi faceted process taking different forms The issue of women's civil rights is certainly not a matter of the past Internationally suffrage gender and citizenship are highly topical issues as indicated in this collection Being Israeli Gershon Shafir, Yoav Peled, 2002-02-14 A timely study by two well known scholars offers a theoretically informed account of the political sociology of Israel The analysis is set within its historical context as the authors trace Israel's development from Zionist settlement in the 1880s through the establishment of the state in 1948 to the present day Against this background the authors speculate on the relationship between identity and citizenship in Israeli society and consider the differential rights duties and privileges that are accorded different social strata In this way they demonstrate that despite ongoing tensions the pressure of globalization and economic liberalization has gradually transformed Israel from a frontier society to one more oriented towards peace and private profit This unexpected conclusion offers some encouragement for the future of this troubled region However Israel s position towards the peace process is still subject to a tug of war between two conceptions of citizenship liberal citizenship on the one hand and a combination of the remnants of republican citizenship associated with the colonial settlement with an ever more religiously defined ethno nationalist citizenship on the other Babel in Zion Liora Halperin, 2015-01-01 The promotion and vernacularization of Hebrew traditionally a language of Jewish liturgy and study was a central accomplishment of the Zionist movement in Palestine Viewing twentieth century history through the lens of language author Liora Halperin questions the accepted scholarly narrative of a Zionist move away from multilingualism during the years following World War I demonstrating how Jews in Palestine remained connected linguistically by both preference and necessity to a world outside the boundaries of the pro Hebrew community even as it promoted Hebrew and achieved that language s dominance The story of language encounters in Jewish Palestine is a fascinating tale of shifting power relationships both locally and globally Halperin's absorbing study explores how a young national community was compelled to modify the dictates of Hebrew exclusivity as it negotiated its relationships with its Jewish population Palestinian Arabs the British and others outside the margins of the national project and ultimately came to terms with the limitations of its hegemony in an interconnected world Gender, Sexuality and Museums Amy K.
