

The background of the cover is a technical drawing in black lines on a white background. It depicts a sector of a circle, which is a common shape for a pipe template. The sector is divided into several vertical segments by lines radiating from the center. A horizontal line runs across the middle of the sector. On the right side, there is a circular feature with a crosshair inside, possibly representing a hole or a specific measurement point. The overall style is that of a technical or engineering drawing.
