Place And The Politics Of Identity:

Place and the Politics of Identity Michael Keith, Steve Pile, 2004-11-23 In the last two decades new political subjects have been created through the actions of the new social movements often by asserting the unfixed and overdetermined character of identity Further in attempting to avoid essentialism people have frequently looked to their territorial roots to establish their constituency A cultural politics of resistance as exemplified by Black politics feminism and gay liberation has developed struggles to turn sites of oppression and discrimination into spaces of resistance This book collects together perspectives which challenge received notions of geography which are in danger of becoming anachronisms without a language to articulate the new space of resistance the new politics of identity Place and Politics in Modern Italy John A. Agnew, 2002-10 How do the places where people live help structure and restructure their sociopolitical identities and interests John A Agnew presents a theoretical model that addresses the relation of place to politics and applies it to a series of case studies set in modern Italy Place and Politics: Local Identity, Civic Culture, and German Nationalism in North Germany during the Revolutionary Era Katherine Aaslestad, 2005-12-01 This study examines North Germany during the transformative era of the French Revolution Napoleonic occupation and Wars of Liberation it reveals international exploitation military occupation economic destruction of the city state Hamburg as well as the republic's liberation and post Napoleonic autonomy Examining shifts within local culture and the role of public opinion on civic morality this book underscores the relationship between the civic ethics public language and collective memory in the construction of political identity and concludes that the transformation in values at the local level ultimately provides the crucial direction in the process of modern nation building Throughout the 1800s the public commemoration and memory of occupation and liberation rather than the actual Napoleonic experience shaped the development of German nationalism Politics, Identity, and Mobility in Travel Writing Miguel A. Cabañas, Jeanne Dubino, Veronica Salles-Reese, Gary Totten, 2015-06-26 This collection examines the intersections between the personal and the political in travel writing and the dialectic between mobility and stasis through an analysis of specific cases across geographical and historical boundaries The authors explore the various ways in which travel texts represent actual political conditions and thus engage in discussions about national transnational and global citizenship how they propose real world political interventions in the places where the traveler goes what tone they take toward political or socio political violence and how they intersect with political debates Travel writing can be viewed as political in a purely instrumental sense but as this volume also demonstrates travel writing's reception and ideological interventions also transform personal and cultural realities This book thus examines the ways in which politics material effects inform and intersect with personal experience in travel texts and engage with travel's dialectic of mobility and stasis In spite of globalization and efforts to eradicate the colonial vision in travel writing and in travel writing criticism this vision persists in various and complex ways While the travelogue can be a space of discursive and direct oppression these essays suggest that the travelogue is also a narrative space in which the traveler employs the genre to assert authority over his or her experiences of mobility This book will be an important contribution for interdisciplinary scholars with interests in travel writing studies global and transnational studies women s studies multicultural studies the social sciences and history

War & the Politics of Identity in Ethiopia Kjetil Tronvoll,2009 Examines war and the impact of warfare on identity formation in Ethiopia Images of war narratives of suffering and notions of ethnicity are intrinsically linked to Western perceptions of Africa Filtered through a mostly international media the information of African wars is confined to narrow categories of explanation emerging from and adapted to a Western history and political culture

This book aims at reversing this process to look at war and suffering from the point of view of those who fight it and suffer through it. Doing so it reveals that the simplistic models explaining contemporary wars in Africa which are reproduced in a Western discourse are basically false. This book examines the understanding of war and the impact of warfare on the formation and conceptualisation of identities in Ethiopia. Building on historical trajectories of enemy images the recent Eritrean Ethiopian war 1998-2000 is used as an empirical backdrop to explore war's formative impact by analysing politics of identity and shifting perceptions of enemies and allies. KJETIL TRONVOLL is Professor in Human Rights Peace and Conflict Studies at the Norwegian Centre for Human Rights University of Oslo. His other publications include Brothers at War Making Sense of the Eritrean Ethiopian War co author James Currey Ohio University Press 2000 and The Ethiopian Red Terror Trials Transitional Justice Challenged co editor James Currey 2009.
