Becoming New Yorkers Philip Kasinitz, John H. Mollenkopf, Mary C. Waters, 2004-08-20 More than half of New Yorkers under the age of eighteen are the children of immigrants This second generation shares with previous waves of immigrant youth the experience of attempting to reconcile their cultural heritage with American society In Becoming New Yorkers noted social scientists Philip

Kasinitz John Mollenkopf and Mary Waters bring together in depth ethnographies of some of New York's largest immigrant populations to assess the experience of the new second generation and to explore the ways in which they are changing the fabric of American culture. Becoming New Yorkers looks at the experience of specific immigrant groups with regard to education, jobs and community life. Exploring immigrant education, Nancy Lopez shows how teachers' low expectations of Dominican males often translate into lower graduation rates for boys than for girls. In the labor market, Dae Young Kim finds that Koreans young and old alike believe the second generation should use the opportunities provided by their parents' small business success to pursue less arduous, more rewarding work than their parents'. Analyzing civic life, Amy Forester profiles how the high-ranking members of a predominantly black labor union who came of age fighting for civil rights in the 1960s adjust to an increasingly large Caribbean membership that sees the leaders not as pioneers but as the old guard establishment. In a revealing look at how the second generation views itself, Sherry Ann Butterfield and Aviva Zeltzer Zubida point out that black West Indian and Russian Jewish immigrants often must choose whether to identify themselves alongside those with similar skin color or to differentiate themselves from both native blacks and whites based on their unique heritage. Like many other groups studied here, these two groups experience race as a fluid situational category that matters in some contexts but is irrelevant in others. As immigrants move out of gateway cities and into the rest of the country, America will increasingly look like the multicultural society vividly described in Becoming New Yorkers. This insightful work paints a vibrant picture of the experience of second-generation Americans as they adjust to American society and help to shape its future.

Shared Knowledge Class of 2020, Amy Betteridge, Gina Buckle, Megan Dunn, Juliette Flach, Phoebe Gunton, Shakira Kumar, Hannah Lawson, Caitlin Lewis, Niamh Madden, Holly Martin, Daisy Moon, Georgia Preece, Adam J. Robson, Shriya Ruparelia, Phoebe Singer, Shona Smith, Aimee Spence, Lauren Spokes, Srishti Verma, Amy Wilkinson, Zenab Anwar, 2021-08-16. A lot of people know a lot of stuff and most of us don't get to share the best bits with other people. So this book gets together twenty-one recent graduates to share something they think you should know. Among other things, you can learn why you should care about Japan's ageing population, how a baby is made after the fun bit, how the English and Scottish dealt with witches, why we should think about disasters a bit differently, how performance analysis works in sport. Our editors graduated from university in 2008 during the last once-in-a-lifetime financial armageddon. The idea behind this book was to allow recent graduates who are hitting the real world a full twelve years after it went wrong last time an opportunity to do something interesting with their time. Our experience tells us the next few years' worth of graduates will spend a long time being called lazy and stupid for the crime of being born about twenty-one years before it all went pear-shaped. So for our authors at least, they will have something to

point at that they have achieved to disprove that But mostly we just wanted to get together twenty one chapters worth of stuff we didn't know before
