Legal Constraints on EU Member States in Drafting Accession Agreements Narin Idriz,2022-06-22 Do Member States of the EU have a free hand in drafting Accession Treaties or are there legal constraints on their primary law making powers in this regard That is the main question this book addresses It argues that such constraints do exist and seeks to identify them thereby providing a number of insights into the nature of the EU s legal order The point of departure as well as the main focus of the study is the proposed permanent safeguard clause PSC on the free movement of persons in the Negotiating Framework for Turkey Legal provisions rules principles and norms that might constrain Member States in this regard are identified with reference to the PSC The book examines constraints on Member States stemming from three sources of EU law Association Law based on the existing legal framework built on the EEC Turkey Association Agreement Part I EU Enlargement Law comprised of past practice and existing EU rules on enlargement Part II and the foundations of EU Constitutional Law Part III which constrain Member States whenever they act within the scope of Union law both as primary and secondary lawmakers Part III reveals what the Court of Justice of the EU considers to be the essence or the very foundations of the Union's legal order which it protects against encroachment This is similar to what some constitutional courts do to protect the inner unity or basic structure of their constitutions The findings of this book can be applied to the accession of any candidate state It also sheds light on important implications for future treaty amendments and for identifying possible limits to differentiated integration

Russia and the European Union Cynthia A. Roberts, 2007 Russia and the West have avoided renewed confrontation despite many post Cold War crises but illiberal trends in Russia rule out any prospect of developing a mutual agenda for closer integration Russian engagement with the leading Euro Atlantic institutions on a special but still subordinate nonmember basis remains a clever yet suboptimal substitute Such relationships as this monograph about Russia and the European Union explains tend to produce shallow collaboration symbolic summitry and costly standoffs Closer cooperation is blocked by an ongoing dispute over terms which is rooted in asymmetries in power ambivalent preferences uncertainty about the distributional costs and benefits of deeper engagement and Russia's continued unwillingness or inability to lock in the liberal domestic structures necessary to make credible commitments Moscow's renewed self confidence and geopolitical ambitions bolstered by sustained economic growth and high energy prices complicate the bargaining and further strain these special relationships which persist for lack of a realistic superior alternative

The EU - a Global Player? René Cuperus, 2006 Europeanization of Environmental Policy in the New Europe Mats Braun, 2016-04-22 Prior to the European Union EU 2004 2007 enlargement there were several predictions that this event would hamper progressive decision making within the EU on environmental policy It was believed that the new member states had adopted EU rules as a consequence of the EU's conditionality and consequently they would rather slow down the reform speed in the field after accession In this book Mats Braun offers an up to date account of how post communist member states have handled policy initiatives in the field of environmental policy after accession Using detailed case studies of how Bulgaria the Czech Republic Poland and Romania dealt with two different EU policy initiatives REACH and the Climate Energy Package he explores whether social norms and the process of socialization can help us understand why the track record of new member states in the area of environmental policy is more varied than was originally envisaged prior to enlargement

Against Islamophobia Arno Tausch, 2007 In this book the author presents optimistic socio liberal conclusions about Islam in the world system Countering some alarmist voices in the West neither migration nor Muslim culture are to be blamed for the contemporary crisis but the very nature of unequal capitalist accumulation and dependency that is at the core of the world capitalist system For one the analysis is based on current thinking on Kondratiev waves of world political development inherent in recent work by IIASA and the NATO Institute for Advanced Studies Analyses are also presented on the framework of the debate on cross national determinants of human well being in the world system While the author is cautiously optimistic about a socio liberal non interventionist policy alternative he has come to the conclusion that present patterns of global governance modeled around the neo liberal Washington Consensus and American hyperpower are doomed for failure A new socio liberal global consensus on global migration global order and global governance could emerge instead

The Political Economy of the Eurozone in Central and Eastern Europe Krisztina Arató, Boglarka Koller, Anita Pelle, 2021-06-30 The idea for this volume came from the enigma that some

Central and Eastern European CEE European Union EU member states have been keen to join the Eurozone while others have shown persistent reluctance Moreover the attitudes towards joining have seemingly not correlated with either the level of economic development or the time spent as part of the EU nor with any other rational reason such as the level of integration into the EU real economy or the level of trust in the EU on the part of the public Therefore at first sight the answer to the question why in why out remains rather unclear The attractiveness of the currency union has nevertheless not disappeared for the CEE countries Despite the Eurozone crisis of 2010 13 it was during that time that the Baltic states introduced the euro Then after a few years of inactivity Croatia and Bulgaria successfully applied for membership of the exchange rate mechanism in July 2020 amid the economic crisis caused by the coronavirus COVID 19 pandemic At the same time the three Visegrad countries still using their national currencies Poland Czechia and Hungary no longer have a target date to join the monetary union This volume aims to discuss these issues from horizontal aspects and through country studies with contributions from expert authors from or closely related to the CEE region
