Black Planet David Shields,2025-09 First published in 1994 Black Planet is at first glance a reporting of David Shields s journey following his hometown Seattle Supersonics through the 1994 95 NBA season He went to the team s home games watched their away games on TV listened to interviews and call in shows talked or tried to talk to players coaches and agents attended charity events corresponded with members of the Sonics newsgroup on the early internet He kept a daily journal which then transformed into an intensely personal diary about that season and the team and notions about race and sport in America He started to see a barely concealed views about black men in the NBA and how in a predominately black sport white fans including especially himself think about and talk about black athletes and black bodies And Shields was writing more like a twenty first century sportswriter and critiquing local sports media in an era when it was rarely if ever questioned Critically acclaimed and highly controversial Black Planet was finalist for the National Book Critics Circle Award and PEN USA Award and it was named on the Top Ten Nonfiction Books of 1999 by Esquire Newsday and LA Weekly The Black Migrant Athlete Munene Mwaniki,2017-09-01 The popularity and globalization of sport have led to an ever increasing migration of black athletes from the global South to the United States and Western Europe While the hegemonic ideology surrounding sport is that it brings diverse people together and ameliorates social divisions sociologists of sport have shown this to be a gross simplification Instead sport and its narratives often reinforce and re create stereotypes and social boundaries especially regarding race and the prowess and the position of the black athlete Because sport is a contested terrain for maintaining and challenging racial norms and boundaries the black athlete has always impacted popular white perceptions of blackness in a global manner The Black Migrant Athlete analyzes the construction of race in Western societies through a study of the black African migrant athlete Munene Franjo Mwaniki presents ten black African migrant athletes as a conceptual starting point to interrogate the nuances of white supremacy and of the migrant and immigrant experience with a global perspective By using celebrity athletes such as Hakeem Olajuwon Dikembe Mutombo and Catherine Ndereba as entry points into a global discourse Mwaniki explores how these athletes are wrapped in social and cultural meanings by predominately white owned and dominated media organizations Drawing from discourse analysis and cultural studies Mwaniki examines the various power relations via media texts regarding race gender sexuality class and nationality
