Shared Capitalism at Work Douglas L. Kruse, Richard B. Freeman, Joseph R. Blasi, 2010-06-15 The historical relationship between capital and labor has evolved in the past few decades One particularly noteworthy development is the rise of shared capitalism a system in which workers have become partial owners of their firms and thus in effect both employees and stockholders Profit sharing arrangements and gain sharing bonuses which tie compensation directly to a firm's performance also reflect this new attitude toward labor Shared Capitalism at Work analyzes the effects of this trend on workers and firms The contributors focus on four main areas the fraction of firms that participate in shared capitalism programs in the United States and abroad the factors that enable these firms to overcome classic free rider and risk problems the effect of shared capitalism on firm performance and the impact of shared capitalism on worker well being This volume provides essential studies for understanding the increasingly important role of shared capitalism in the modern workplace

Moral Action and Christian Ethics Jean Porter, 1999-03-11 How do we determine whether an action is right or wrong Until recently philosophers assumed that this question could be answered by means of a theory of morality which set forth clearly established rules for moral behaviour More recently however a number of philosophers have challenged a theory of morality in this sense Porter is sympathetic to their criticisms but questions whether they go far enough in offering a positive alternative to a modern view of the moral act She argues that the work of Aquinas offers an alternative account of moral rationality in terms of which moral reasoning is understood as dialectical rather than deductive and questions are resolved in a wider context of ethical thought Aquinas's account of the moral virtues and prudence is seen to offer unexpected insights into the relationship between moral rules and the practice of the virtues thus contributing to our own moral reflection

Lenard,2015-11-04 Banning minarets by referendum in Switzerland publicly burning Korans in the United States prohibiting kirpans in public spaces in Canada these are all examples of the rising backlash against diversity that is spreading across multicultural societies Trust has always been precarious and never more so than as a result of increased immigration The number of religions races ethnicities and cultures living together in democratic communities and governed by shared political institutions is rising The failure to construct public policy to cope with this diversity to ensure that trust can withstand the pressure that diversity can pose is a failure of democracy The threat to trust originates in the perception that the values and norms that should underpin a public culture are no longer truly shared Therefore societies must focus on building trust through a revitalized public culture In Trust Democracy and Multicultural Challenges Patti Tamara Lenard plots a course for this revitalization She argues that trust is at the center of effective democratic politics that increasing ethnocultural diversity as a result of immigration may generate distrust and therefore that democratic communities must work to generate the conditions under which trust between newcomers and native citizens can be built so that the quality of democracy is sustained Place Based Approaches to Sustainability Volume I Mara Del Baldo, Maria-Gabriella Baldarelli, Elisabetta Righini, 2024-02-22 Without respecting and nurturing place we cannot achieve a state of ecological sustainability Place based organizations are not run on a purely materialistic basis The non materialistic features of a place its aesthetics cultural heritage community feelings transcendence should be integrated into sustainability management This far reaching two volume work breaks with the economic logic of efficiency and profit maximization and suggests that organizations should inform their sustainability by encompassing feelings of identity with and attachment to place According to this vision the editors have compiled scholarly contributions aimed to support the ecological transformation of humankind by exploring both theoretical and practical models that integrate the sense of the place ethics and spirituality in new ways of organizing of economic and social life This first volume sets the theoretical direction of the volumes asking broad aesthetic questions around the ethical and spiritual foundations of sustainability It will be of interest to scholars practitioners and students of sustainability business ethics and spirituality

The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Oceania Ethan E. Cochrane, Terry L. Hunt, 2018 Oceania was the last region on earth to be permanently inhabited with the final settlers reaching Aotearoa New Zealand approximately AD 1300 This is about the same time that related Polynesian populations began erecting Easter Island's gigantic statues farming the valley slopes of Tahiti and similar islands and moving finely made basalt tools over several thousand kilometers of open ocean between Hawai i the Marquesas the Cook Islands and archipelagos in between The remarkable prehistory of Polynesia is one chapter of Oceania s human story Almost 50 000 years prior people entered Oceania for the first time arriving in New Guinea and its northern offshore islands shortly thereafter a biogeographic region labelled Near Oceania and including parts of Melanesia Near Oceania saw the independent development of agriculture and has a complex history resulting in the greatest linguistic diversity in the world Beginning 1000 BC after millennia of gradually accelerating cultural change in Near Oceania some groups sailed east from this space of inter visible islands and entered Remote Oceania rapidly colonizing the widely separated separated archipelagos from Vanuatu to S moa with purposeful return voyages and carrying an intricately decorated pottery called Lapita From this common cultural foundation these populations developed separate but occasionally connected cultural traditions over the next 3000 years Western Micronesia the archipelagos of Palau Guam and the Marianas was also colonized around 1500 BC by canoes arriving from the west beginning equally long sequences of increasingly complex social formations exchange relationships and monumental constructions All of these topics and others are presented in The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Oceania written by Oceania s leading archaeologists and allied researchers Chapters describe the cultural sequences of the region s major island groups provide the most recent explanations for diversity and change in Oceanic prehistory and lay the foundation for the next generation of research

Bruce,2006 This volume is the first to examine the social cultural and political implications of the shift from the traditional forms and functions of print based libraries to the delivery of online information in educational contexts Libr@ries are conceptualized as physical places virtual spaces communities of literate practice and discourses of information work Despite the centrality of libraries in literacy and learning the study of libraries has remained isolated within the disciplinary boundaries of information and library science since its inception in the early twentieth century The aim of this book is to problematize and thereby mainstream this field of intellectual endeavor and inquiry Collectively the contributors interrogate the presuppositions of current library practice seek to understand how library as place and library as space blend together in ways that may be both contradictory and complementary and envision new modes of information access and new multimodal literacies enabled by online environments Libr ries Changing Information Space and Practice is intended for advanced undergraduate and graduate students researchers and educators in the fields of literacy and multiliteracies education communication technologies in education library sciences information and communication studies media and cultural studies and the sociology of computer mediated space
